Millions Gather for Holy Rites

By Associated Press

The world's Christians, of many creeds and colors, united today in celebrating the centuries old but ever radiant drama of Christ's resurrection.

In lands everywhere, services of thanksgiving, processions and messages of joy hailed Christendom's greatest day.

Dawn's first light was the cue for voices of millions to rise in jubilant Easter hymns and for church bells to ring out with the joyful tidings.

Pilgrims from all over the world gathered in Jerusalem to hail the holy day.

An unusual sandstorm clouded the Holy City Saturday afternoon, recalling to the minds of the pilgrims that when Jesus was crucified "there was darkness over the earth ... and the sun was darkened."

THE SANDSTORM was one of the worst in the memory of Jerusalem residents. It swept in from the south shortly after the conclusion of a service of Holy Fire in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher.

The dust hung so heavily it veiled the domes and spires inside the walled old city, which usually form a stunning view.

In Vatican City, tourists and pilgrims mingled with Romans to hear the Easter Sunday message of Pope John XXIII.

The Pope arranged to celebrate an early Easter Sunday mass in his private chapel and to participate in another mass later in the day in St. Peter's Basilica.

SUNNY TODAY

Throngs Head for Resorts

Traffic officers hoped that the many sermons Southland residents heard at the various Easter services today would remain with them as thousands headed for the resort areas of Southern California.

A bright, sunny day with a high of about 73 was predicted for the Long Beach area.

AS MANY persons headed for the beach, the desert, and other pleasure sites for a final Easter holiday, the younger children were still thinking of the sport they had at the various Easter Egg hunts and other activities during the weekend.

In the Orange County beach areas, students were having their final fling before returning to their studies. Authorities in Laguna Beach, Palm Springs and Newport Beach reported more than 500 arrests since the vacation period began last Friday.

The President's son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, in his role as assistant White House staff secretary, brought with him from Washington Friday a number of secret documents relating to the De Gaulle visit, the summit and the Chief Executive's June trip to Russia and the Far East.

The summit meeting preparatory material was forwarded to the Chief Executive.

Patrolman Dies in Crash

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — A 36-year-old border patrol officer was killed and six other persons were injured early Saturday in a two-car accident at an immigration check point which had been set up on U.S. Highway 101 at San Mateo Flats, two miles south of here.

The officer was identified as Archie Jennings of Ocean-side.

NAMES OF THE injured were not available immediately. The California Highway patrol said a car driven by Francis Sazio of La Mirada had slowed for the check point and was struck from the rear by a car driven by Gabriel Montoya of Pico. Officers said Montoya's car was traveling at about 60 miles an hour when the collision occurred and the Sazio vehicle was knocked 698 feet from the check station. The injured were taken to Palomar Hospital at Ocean-side.

TEST CALLED SUCCESSFUL

Satellite Capsule in Orbit, Foils Plan for Recovery

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — The capsule from the Discoverer XI satellite is "probably still in orbit," the Air Force announced Saturday night.

A spokesman said the recovery force waiting for the instrumented capsule to fall into the sea near Hawaii "never had a chance" to snare it — because it didn't come down.

The Air Force said that it was the most successful test in the Discoverer series to date.

SAID A spokesman: "Some unknown malfunction occurred at a critical point just after separation of the capsule from the orbiting rocket which carried it aloft. "Telemetry data indicates the separated capsule is probably still in orbit." Plans had called for the second stage of the Discoverer to make 17 passes around the earth, then pop out the 300-pound capsule on radio orders, dropping it by parachute into Hawaiian waters. The Air Force said the latest Discoverer was "exceptional in its performance, and it at first appeared that for the first time the re-entry vehicle would possibly land in the impact area."

PLANES waiting to snare the falling capsule and a surface search force were ordered back to base when the capsule didn't descend as planned.

"Project officers were delighted with the information relayed to the earth from several experiments housed in the satellite," the Air Force said.

A spokesman said instruments in the satellite provided "excellent measurements which can be applied to the future design of satellites."

Radio signals were picked up by the recovery force as the capsule flashed high overhead, apparently following its parent rocket in the north-south polar orbit.

THE 11TH effort to recover an orbiting object from space began at 12:31 p.m. Friday when the big rocket was launched at this missile base. Recovery of a capsule from orbit is considered a key step in learning how to send animals—and later a man—into space and back.

L.A.C. Says: What Our Daddies Do

The NEA (National Education Assn.) comments on a unit of study for first graders known as "What Our Daddies Do." It says this is a starting point for making economics an integral part of curriculum, just as reading or mathematics or science are. It says that unless the economic education of children now in school is better than that of their parents, "the possible consequences are fearful to contemplate."

It makes us wonder what the young person would discover if he really knew what his daddy did. He would get one idea if his father was a member of a union and quite a different idea if his father employed union members. Not many would be objective in their discussions of these economic factors.

If this study of "What Our Daddies Do" is to be a part of school curriculum the daddies had better check up on themselves. It should cause them to ask "what kind of example am I setting for my child?" If the study unit were impressed upon the dads it might change the habits of many of them.

One important thing it might do would be to cause a more objective conversation around the dinner table where the family is present. It would cause the parents to read more about their government and how it works so they could discuss it among the family group.

This could create a better attitude toward voting and the responsibility of being a good citizen. Now, in some elections as high as 90 per cent of these parents cannot say "I voted today." This is because in some recent school elections 90 per cent of them failed to cast their ballots. Surely this is a poor foundation for a study unit of "What Our Daddies Do."

The examples could be endless. It could be the way Daddy observes traffic laws—refers to our government—the kind of television programs he watches and his attitude toward illegal gambling, excessive drinking and cheating on his income tax.

The NEA says "the ultimate aim is to build into children and youth those skills and interests which will enable them, as adults, to analyze and solve the economic problems which will confront them. The objective is to produce a high school graduate able to understand the structure and functioning of the American economy."

It is a laudable program deserving the interest and support of every parent. But if it is to be based on the attitude of the average daddy toward economics and citizenship, it will not be based on a good foundation. But it is a challenge to each of them to be the kind of parent worthy of such a study.—L.A.C.

Fidel Puts More Troops Into Hunt

HAVANA (UPI)—Troop reinforcements Saturday were reported rushing to the mountains of Oriente Province to help Fidel Castro flush out a well-armed anti-Castro guerrilla band which has outfoxed him for six straight days.

Premier Castro shrouded his activities in secrecy but the government was cracking down on opposition elements across the island. Castro agents were reported to be rounding up "dangerous" counter-revolutionaries.

Travelers just back from Oriente province said reports were circulating there that Castro had deployed a large number of his troops along the southern coast because he believed an invasion of anti-government forces was imminent there.

As the Chief Executive pored over papers dealing with foreign policy, he was reported to be somewhat allergic to speculation that his role at the summit might be relatively ineffectual because of his short time left in office.

There have been printed and broadcast analyses of his stature at the forthcoming summit indicating that little progress can be expected from the Paris meeting because Eisenhower, leaving office next January, will be unable to make any long-term policy commitments for the United States.

Eisenhower was represented authoritatively as believing firmly that the President of the United States occupies a powerful position as long as he is in office. He will approach the May summit no less determined than in the past to seek some sort of workable solution to the East-West tensions that have peaked and slumped through his White House tenure.

AFTER WORKING in his small office over the golf professional's shop at the club, the President and his son played golf in a foursome with two other club members.

After Easter Sunday here with his family, the President will fly to Washington Monday morning for the American League opening-day baseball game and return to Augusta immediately afterward.

The Chief Executive was expected to remain here until April 20 or 21, ending his golfing holiday in time to greet De Gaulle in Washington, April 22. He and De Gaulle will spend most of next Sunday at the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

NEW DISCOVERY FOR HARD OF HEARING

To all readers of the Ind., P.-T. the Diagnostic Offices will give the first treatment for only $3.

According to the Basic Diagnostic office it is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us we have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else. Once they try this new and proved method they are overjoyed. Just life magic, in many cases they are able to hear without their hearing aid after the first treatment.

The treatment is simple, it consists of three steps and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition, a special treatment is given, if the loss is due to catarrh, a different treatment is given, if it is a bone condition, the Tympanic Oscillations treatment is given.

According to Basic Diagnostic 70% of all hard of hearing people will be helped by this method. We believe it is as great a discovery as insulin was for diabetes.

We are so sure that we can help you that we will give you the first treatment for only $3.00. Please bring in this ad within 10 days from today.

PANICKY CHUTIST HOLDS ON

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Hundreds of persons stared in terror Saturday as they watched a parachute jumper panic in his first effort to leap from a plane 3,000 feet above the East Pittsburgh airport.

Nick Sinot, McKeesport, was preparing to make his first jump as a member of the McKeesport Sport Parachute Club when he lost his nerve shortly after leaving the plane.

Club President Jack Heatherington said Sinot made a wild grab and seized the wheel of the plane after he bailed out. The plane circled and Sinot kept clinging to his precarious perch.

THE PILOT, whose name was not learned, persuaded Sinot to climb back inside. After resting for a few minutes, Sinot tried again and this time he cleared the plane and made a perfect drop.

Sinot said he would make another jump and that he intended to remain in the club.

He was wearing a static line—a master line that automatically opens the parachute when the jumper leaves the plane. He also wore a spare parachute in the event the main chute failed to open.

Navy Buoy With Feelers Causes Bay Mine Scare Southern Clashes

Reports of a floating cylinder with antenna-like projections in Alamitos Bay Saturday threw a scare into officials who at first believed it to be a "hot" mine.

However, Navy officials at the Ammunition and Net Depot described the object as a nonexplosive float used in conjunction with mines.

Details of the float are classified, Gunner's Mate M. G. Goepfert said. He added that the float apparently drifted away from a practice area off the coast where "drill" mines are used. No live mines are employed.

Long Beach Lifeguard patrol boats spotted the object, hooked it with a fishing line and then towed it in the bay until Goepfert arrived at the scene.

The float first was seen near the entrance to the Marina. Other boats were kept away until lifeguards snagged the object.

Titan Site at Chico Picketed

CHICO (AP)—A group of 60 Northern Californians started a 24-hour protest vigil Saturday in front of an Air Force Titan intercontinental ballistic missile base under construction eight miles north of here.

They carried posters reading, "Morals or Missiles?" "To Find a Way of Life."

THE GROUP, coordinated by Acts For Peace, Inc., Berkeley, made no disturbance and was not interfered with. A Butte County sheriff's deputy drove up after the picketing began, looked the members over, and left without a word.

The base is one of four Titan launching sites being built for the Air Force's ICBM complex centered at Beale Air Force Base near Marysville. Other Titan sites are being built at Lincoln, One near Marysville, and one at Beale AFB.

Members of the group said they came from the San Francisco Bay area and from Oroville, Marysville and Chico.

The move will be made in a storm of tropical confusion, including charges of graft in the erection of Brasilia and hints of plots to block the government transfer.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—A trolley bus collided with a car, jumped a curb and crashed into a tavern on the city's north side Saturday, injuring about 20 persons.

Police ambulances rushed the bus passengers to the hospital. None was critically injured, police said. The driver of the car also was injured.

About 50 persons were riding the bus, en route downtown. Police said most of the passengers were women.

Downey Bandit Robs 2 of $4,387 at Bank

A well-dressed armed bandit struck twice within minutes Saturday in front of the Downey Stonewood Shopping Center Community Bank and took money bags totalling $4,387 from two victims who were on their way to put receipts in a night depository.

Downey police said the first victim, Mrs. Patricia H. Ferlin, 38, cashier at the Anita Shop—a dress firm in the shopping center, was approached by the bandit as she was about to make a deposit of $3,794.

She said the bandit approached her and said: "Give me that." Mrs. Ferlin refused to give up the bag, but the bandit tore it from her grasp.

THE SECOND victim was identified as William F. McQuillan, 38, of the Oval Room fashions, also in the shopping center. McQuillan told police that as the bandit approached him he said, "I want yours too," and brandished a revolver.

McQuillan said the robber took $592. The victims told police that in each robbery the bandit was met by an accomplice in a car.

Traffic Halted in Costa Mesa for Pipe Repair

All vehicle traffic on the east side of Costa Mesa will be stopped for from three days to a week on Bristol St. between Sunflower Ave. and Talbert Ave. while a broken water main is being repaired, officials said Saturday.

Metropolitan Water Co. spokesmen urged limited use of water during the same period. Water should be used only for drinking and household purposes.

Cause of the break, which disrupted water service, is unknown.

More than 2,000 complaints were handled by the Costa Mesa Police Department by residents of the east side who complained of muddy water coming from their faucets. A special police public-address car cruised the community Saturday urging limited use of water.

Blown off Deck by Jet, Rescued

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—An airman was blown off the flight deck of a carrier by the blast from a jet plane but was rescued 12 minutes later by a destroyer, the Navy reported Saturday.

Thomas R. Geisenheimer, 20, of Mobile, Ala., was injured slightly in his 70-foot fall into the sea from the carrier Forrestal. He was unconscious when picked up by the destroyer Forrest Royal.

The Navy said the mishap occurred Saturday at 4:44 a.m. as the ships were operating in the Mediterranean with the U.S. 6th Fleet.

A white youth punched and broke the cheek bone of a Negro demonstrator in Savannah, Ga., Saturday and a new scuffle occurred on picket lines in Raleigh, N. C., where a southwide meeting of Negro integration leaders is in progress.

"When I get out of here I'll be ready to go back and get hit again," John McMillan, 25, said from his Savannah hospital bed. McMillan said a white youth tapped him on the shoulder while he was sitting at a dime store lunch counter and punched him twice when he turned around.

McMillan, who underwent surgery Saturday night to have the broken cheek bone wired, offered no resistance. Several youths later were picked up, but McMillan was unable to positively identify any of the suspects as his white attacker.

AT THE HEIGHT of the Savannah demonstrations firemen drove trucks into the business district and connected up hoses to the hydrants. Fire houses have been used elsewhere to break up similar demonstrations.

The scuffle at Raleigh was the second in as many days. Andrew Maguire of Glenn Rock, N.J., a white youth who said he was attending the southwide Negro conference, told police he was slugged by a white man. He signed a warrant charging Bill Pleasants of Garner, N.C., with assault and battery.

Plan to Fire Huge Space Craft Bared

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Department officials have told Congress about a space project powerful enough to shoot the Pentagon out of this world.

Going under pseudonym of Project Put Put, the plan entails exploding a series of controlled nuclear bombs under a space vehicle and bumping it into the outer reaches of space.

THE ADVANCE Research Projects Agency already has put down $2,440,000 for the project. However, if a nuclear test ban is signed, presumably the project will come to a halt.

Information about the futuristic space engine came to light Saturday as the House Space Committee published some highly censored testimony from a closed hearing last February.

The officer in charge of Put Put, Navy Cmdr. Robert Luker, told the committee there was "no conceivable upper limit" on the weight such a system could place in space.

"That is," he said, "the upper limit gets to be such that you are talking about something the size of the Pentagon."

LUKER admitted that Put Put was "very blue sky indeed" but added that a "battleship-type size" space vehicle "may very well be of interest to the Defense Department in the distant future."

The committee was shown films of model vehicle being propelled with small explosions of TNT. Luker said ARPA had never used a small atomic explosion in its tests.

About future development, he said that working on the "prospects of a moratorium which does not differentiate between such kinds of devices and a bomb, this could never be tested or flown."

DESPITE THE international problems relating to future development of Put Put, Luker said the Defense Department now has a feasibility study aimed at a vehicle capable of placing 200 tons into space.

He indicated that "several hundred" separate nuclear explosions would be required to put a manned expedition on the moon.

Put Put, whose official name is Project Orion, has recently been transferred from ARPA to the Air Force and it is understood no funds are provided for continuing the study beyond August.

5 Convicts Recaptured; 1 Near Death

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—Five convicts who scaled the state penitentiary wall on a makeshift ladder in a hail of gunfire were back in custody Saturday night, the last two tracked by bloodhounds to a river bank hiding place.

Two were wounded and captured Friday night after the convicts overpowered three guards at knife-point and clambered up a rickety ladder under fire from guard towers. A third man was caught unharmed outside the wall.

The other two gave up without a fight at midday when officers guided by bloodhounds found them hiding along the Touchet River 20 miles north of Walla Walla.

Roy Victor Olson, 24, who was shot while running across a golf course near the prison, was in critical condition with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

The two caught Saturday are Joseph W. Nichols, 28, sentenced from Seattle for robbery, and Robert A. Herr, 21, a Spokane burglar.

'NO PLAN FOR 93,000 ACRES'

Irvine Co. Board Dilatory, Heiress Charges in Letter

By BILL DUNCAN

SANTA ANA — Pretty, much-married Joan Irvine Burt's split with the six other members of the Irvine Co. board of directors is over the company's failure to increase its profits, she revealed Saturday.

Mrs. Burt's latest encounter with the board of directors is an angry letter directed to A. J. McFadden, president of the board. In the letter, Mrs. Burt accused McFadden and three other board members of using their vote bloc "to reject or approve any matter brought to the board."

The wealthy heiress seeks to have the board create a master plan for urban development of portions of the whopping 93,000-acre Orange County ranch. The acreage is considered by land planners as the only such urban acreage of that size under single ownership in the United States today.

MRS. BURT claims this fact as "the last golden opportunity for the creation of new and lasting standards for community development." She claims McFadden has failed to support her move for the development of a master plan to guide the growth and policy decisions of the company.

The daughter of the late James Irvine III told The Independent Press-Telegram that, in the face of the exploding population and business growth in Orange County, with which the company is inextricably involved, no effort has been made to formulate the master plan for orderly urban development of its properties. She said she first proposed the master plan in 1957.

"In the absence of a master plan," she declared, "conversion of company lands for urban development is being accomplished in helter-skelter manner, without rhyme or reason."

IN ADDITION to failure to support her move, Mrs. Burt charged McFadden with being dilatory in ordering a management study of operations, policies and procedures.

"Unless the company is given vigorous leadership immediately, leadership that will provide firm and sagacious guidance, the opportunity to achieve our golden destiny will never be realized," she said.

Mrs. Burt, 26, is the wife of Richard D. Burt, Laguna Beach contractor. She was elected to the Irvine Co. board of directors in June, 1957, succeeding her mother, Mrs. Athalie R. Clark, wife of Federal Judge Thurmond Clark.

SHE RECENTLY filed a writ-of-mandate action in Los Angeles Superior Court, asking the court to order the Irvine Co. to allow her to be accompanied to board meetings with her private attorney.

The case is expected to be

A. J. McFADDEN

heard here next month.

It is her second suit against the company since she has been a board member. In 1957 she filed action in Los Angeles Superior Court for an order to examine witnesses to perpetuate testimony concerning two company executives, but later dropped the suit after one employee resigned and the second person was dismissed by the board.

Nixon's Farm Plan Awaits Convention

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon apparently is going to keep his new farm program under wraps until the Republican National Convention platform committee meets in July.

Nixon is reported to have told interested Republicans he feels bound to support the Eisenhower administration program in this session of Congress.

He is said to have added that he has no intention of permitting Democrats to start shooting at any policy differences he may have with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson until he comes within hailing distance of the presidential nomination he expects to get at the convention.

ONE OF THE obvious reasons why Nixon is reluctant to go into North Dakota to campaign for GOP Gov. John F. Davis in a special June 28 senatorial election is that he would be certain to face questions there on whether he backs Benson's lower-price-support ideas.

Nixon's Republican friends are convinced the vice president is veering away from the Benson formula. But they don't know much about what he may come up with. Publicly, he has said only that he is aiming at a program which would give farmers their full share of prosperity without sacrificing their independence to the government.

SEN. KARL E. MUNDT (R-S.D.) said, on a radio program taped for South Dakota stations, he thinks Nixon is making progress "in shaping up a new approach to the farm program."

Mundt said the vice president is seeking "an economic approach which will provide successful opportunity for American farmers in general."

"He is calling all of us in from the farm bloc and the farm areas for frequent meetings and he is also gathering together some very fine experts in the whole field of agriculture, making a complete analysis and a complete study to provide what Nixon says he wants," Mundt said.

Mundt said he doubts that any omnibus farm bill, such as that pending in the House Agriculture Committee, will be passed by Congress this year.

Pomona Boy Drowns at Puddingstone Dam

SAN DIMAS (CNS) — A 15-year-old Pomona boy drowned Saturday while diving for lost fishing gear at the Puddingstone Dam.

SEEKS YE OLDE BACKGROUND

Perry 'Shifts Scenery' at London Airport

LONDON (AP)—A fine old English institution named Perry Como arrived Saturday in search of antique English background—and found it too antique for his liking.

As he left his Comet jetliner he took one look at the collection of dilapidated huts which is London Airport's transatlantic terminal and said:

"It's quaint—but not photogenic."

THEN HE boarded a car, drove to the airport's ritzier continental buildings, went aboard another Comet and disembarked again for benefit of the cameras.

Como is treading a path well worn by American TV stars in search of something to fill the gap between the commercials. Seems you can't sell a show these days without Big Ben, Tower Bridge, Buckingham Palace and ye olde English setup of bowling hat and bro'ly. (This is a British expression meaning umbrella).

It is Como's first visit to Britain but his fame has preceded him. His weekly show is one of the favorites of British television. So much so that London kids sing a playground jingle which goes like this:

Catch old Perry Como
Wash him in some Omo
Hang him on the line to dry

When he's getting starchy
Call in Liberace
And make 'em into apple pie.

(Omo is a British detergent.)

PERRY SAID he hadn't heard the song but it didn't sound exactly like top 10 material.

Then, relaxed in a sports coat and fawn shirt with no tie, he took some film, gave his welcoming fans a chorus of "Where or When," and drove away to sleep off the effects of an allnight session of airborne gin rummy.

Russ Getting Small Autos, Brag About Lack of Queues

MOSCOW (AP)—There were 500 little four-cylinder cars belonging to workers parked outside the sprawling Moskvitch automobile plant Saturday.

"And we don't need to stand in line," said Alexander Yurovsky, chief of one of the work brigades at the factory.

The plant, which employs 15,000 persons, is using high-powered brigades of Communist labor to produce 5,000 units for export to the United States this year.

ASKED HOW a worker obtained a car, Yurovsky and some of his fellow workers explained:

"First, the factory must overfill its norm. That is fewer than 70,000 cars a year for us and we always do it. Then the director applies to the council of ministers of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic for permission to sell some of the surplus to the workers.

"Then the workers are allowed to buy cars according to their seniority, how active their role is in the life of factory (such as Communist Party activity and activity organizations set up by the party) and according to the excellence of their work and the high standard of their productivity."

Nikolai Afonin, deputy chairman of the factory union, said there is no reduction in the usual sales prices of 25,000 rubles for the cars when sold to workers. (The ruble is officially quoted at four to the dollar).

End Frat Race Ban

Freighter Sinks; 23 Saved by CG

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Shifting scrap iron cargo punched a hole in the bottom of a small Lebanese freighter and caused her to sink in the Atlantic early Saturday.

The 23 crew members of the Ethel C, all uninjured, were landed here Saturday night. They spent nearly 23 hours on a raft and lifeboat after the vessel went to the bottom.

Lee Craig, who covers the waterfront for the I, P-T, reports in his Harbor Views column on Page B-5 that some sailors believe modern technology has to some degree increased the perils of the sea.

They were picked up by the Coast Guard and brought here.

Thomas Gibson, 28, of West Hartlepool, England, the ship's radio operator, told newsmen "some of the cargo moved and made a hole in the bottom."

"I sent an urgency signal first and then the master immediately directed me to send an SOS because we were taking water so fast," Gibson said.

A member of the crew, Costas Moussouris of Cephalonia, Greece, said he heard the cargo move after 10 o'clock Friday night.

"A few minutes later," he said, "water came into the hold. We started the pumps and kept pumping until the ship went down. She went down fast. Before she went down, the whole crew stepped off the ship's ladder into one lifeboat and one raft. No one was hurt. No one got his feet wet."

Deaf Youth Admits Slaying Maid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Police said Saturday night they obtained a statement from a 16-year-old deaf boy that he slashed a hotel maid to death.

A juvenile judge ordered that the text of the alleged confession not be released. Juvenile Judge W. R. Culbreath ordered that instead, Harry Lee Mundy III, be given a hospital mental examination to see whether he is competent.

"I'm not going to make a three-ring circus of this thing," Culbreath told newsmen. "This was a savage attack. He doesn't seem to be a savage kid. If there's something wrong with him, we want to know it before we go any further."

Earlier Saturday Mundy denied slaying Mrs. Martha Nagy, 44, who died of 44 slash wounds after she was called to sweep up some broken glass in Mundy's sixth-floor Miami Colonial Hotel room Friday.

Mrs. Nagy managed to reach the lobby by an elevator. Mundy fled the hotel and was arrested in a Fort Lauderdale apartment, washing out bloody socks.

"I was frightened, I had blood on my hands and clothes and nobody could understand me if I tried to explain that I didn't stab her. So I ran," Mundy told police.

Oral Polio Vaccine 94 Per Cent Effective

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Preliminary reports indicate the Cox oral vaccine, given to 338,083 Dade County residents in a mass campaign, is approximately 94 per cent effective in building immunity to polio.

Dr. M. Eugene Flipse of the University of Miami Medical School, co-director of the program, called the cherry-flavored liquid "the most potent polio vaccine ever used in this country."

The preliminary report was based on tests of blood samples taken from 175 persons before and after the vaccine. Eventually, blood samples of 4,500 persons will be analyzed.

Flipse said the initial study indicated 98 per cent of those taking the Cox vaccine developed immunity to Type 1, the most common and most serious form of polio. About 90 per cent developed immunity to Type 2 and 93.5 per cent to Type 3.

Tourists Flee Stromboli Quake

ISLE OF STROMBOLI, Italy (UPI)—This tiny island, an active volcanic cone rising from the Mediterranean, was shaken Saturday by strong earth tremors that sent frightened Easter tourists fleeing to Sicily. A number of buildings, including two churches, were damaged.

The volcano itself was momentarily dormant, but ominous rumblings from its belly had preceded the tremors.

British Plan to Build Own A-Warheads

LONDON (UPI) — Britain intends to produce her own nuclear warheads, free from American strings, for U.S.-supplied Polaris missiles, authoritative sources said Saturday.

In this way Britain hopes to maintain an independent nuclear deterrent as the mainstay of her defense policy, the sources stated.

British Defense Minister Harold Watkinson, who will fly to Washington later next month, was expected to discuss future practical arrangements on Anglo-American and NATO missile policy while he is there.

Britain scrapped plans for an independent long-range ballistic missile, the Blue Streak, earlier this week. She now is basing future rocket policy on expectations she will get America's Polaris and Skybolt missiles.

Russ Deride 'Stupidity' of Easter Rites

LONDON (UPI) — Radio Moscow, the voice of Russia, Saturday ridiculed Easter in a broadcast beamed to the free world as one of the "wildest and most stupid prejudices" of humanity.

While Christians on the free side of the iron curtain, and many behind it, too, awaited Easter morning and the pealing of the bells that will herald again the resurrection, Radio Moscow campaigned for the Marxist theory that "religion is the opiate of the masses."

THE BROADCAST said Easter prevents individuals from "working for the good of the people."

A member of the Soviet Society for the dissemination of Political and Scientific Knowledge gave the Communist version of the meaning of Easter.

"Does the feast of Easter really strengthen the best feelings in the consciousness of (Christian) believers?" he asked. "Does it really educate them in a spirit of elevated morality?"

"A thousand times over — no," he answered his own question.

Easter was denounced as "a means of strengthening darkness and ignorance, for the maintenance of slavish morality."

CELEBRATING it can only "strengthen the wildest and most stupid prejudices" of the human mind, the radio said.

"The Easter sermons about being meek and humble cause great harm," the radio said. The very idea hinders "the construction of communism."

The words fell mostly on deaf ears as hundreds of thousands of Christians attended Holy Saturday services. In rural Austria and Germany wooden rattles were shaken to call the faithful to prayer. Bells cannot be rung until this morning.

West German officials reported thousands of East German families crossing into free territory to observe the holiday. At one checkpoint, 9,400 cars were lined up awaiting Communist inspection and approval. The line stretched for eight miles.

Estrogens Hit Cancer

("Medicine and You," a regular Sunday feature of this newspaper, is prepared in collaboration with the Department of Medical Education, Seaside Memorial Hospital.)

By BEN ZINSER AND GEORGE X. TRIMBLE, M.D.
A 12-year study has provided the first statistical proof that sex hormones can prolong the life of women with disseminated breast cancer.

Based on the records of 944 patients, the study discloses that estrogens (female hormones) are superior to androgens (male hormones) in treating breast cancer that has spread through the body.

The study, sponsored by the American Medical Assn., contradicts several beliefs previously held by doctors.

For one, it refutes the idea that estrogens should not be used until 10 years after the menopause. The AMA's study committee recommends that estrogens be given after the fourth year following menopause. (Note: Estrogens can't be given before the menopause, for at this stage they may aggravate breast cancer.)

Other findings:
—The younger a patient at the time of recognition and treatment of her primary disease, the longer a recurrence is postponed.

—The older a patient at the time hormone treatment is begun, the more likely a regression will occur.

—Estrogens and androgens must both be credited with a greater degree of potency against cancer than previously accorded them.

IT APPEARS that flu vaccine can provide longer immunity if it is mixed with mineral oil before it is administered. This report comes from Dr. Fred M. Davenport of the University of Michigan, with a nod of approval from Dr. Jonas E. Salk, developer of the Salk antipolio vaccine.

Dr. Davenport says that flu shots given in this fashion offer significant protection against the disease as long as three years after administration. This suggests that annual antifu inoculations may be unnecessary if the mineral-oil mixture turns out to be effective.

ELDERLY PERSONS should not hesitate to undergo surgery for gallbladder disease or repair of an external hernia, emphasize two Boston doctors in the New England Journal of Medicine. Reason: delay may prove fatal at some later date.

Death rate from elective surgery for these ailments is only 1.1 per 100, say Drs. Frederick P. Ross and David F. Hickok of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. On the other hand the mortality rate for such ailments when surgery is imperative is 12 per cent.

If some of these emergency operations were performed earlier when they were a matter of choice, the mortality rate would be reduced, the doctors say.

A GENERAL HOSPITAL DIET may be safely fed the day after surgery to a patient who has been operated on for peptic ulcer or stomach cancer. This assurance comes from Drs. Ralph F. MacDonald and Charles W. Byrd of McGuire Veterans Administration Hospital, Richmond, Va. They say that feeding solid food soon after stomach surgery results in less nausea for the patient. Also, fewer sedative drugs are required. Since such surgery usually leaves the patient with a smaller stomach, six small meals should be fed daily instead of the usual three, the doctors report in the journal Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics.

A PROGRAM TO HELP the youthful bedwetter is outlined in the AMA Journal by Dr. S. Richard Mueller, Boston urologist. A child, he says, doubles his bladder capacity between the ages of 2 and 4½ and this enlarged bladder capacity insures night control of urine. Children who fail to enlarge their bladder capacity become bedwetters.

Bedwetting children should be instructed to drink a lot of fluids during the day and refrain from voiding as long as possible. Drugs which modify bladder tone (examples: atropine, Pro-Banthine or Daricon) are given to help bring about a rapid distention of the bladder.

If the program is followed for three to six months, bladder capacity will be increased to the degree where night control of urine becomes possible, the doctor says.

CAPSULES: A widely used sedative—secobarbital—produces profound errors in judgment even when taken in average doses, Harvard researchers report. . . . The drug Plaquenil, originally used to treat malaria, can sometimes relieve the pain of angina pectoris, a heart ailment, says Dr. Benjamin P. Madow of Cleveland. . . . A live poliovirus vaccine produced in Russia has been tested in Colorado and found inferior to American vaccines.

COUNCIL CONTESTS WARMING UP

Long Beach Centenarian Leads Drive to Draft Adlai

By BOB HOUSER

A half-dozen frictions sparked ominously last week as City Council candidates rubbed together in pre-primary maneuvers and, although none produced fire, there was evidence that the coming week may develop the first heat of the presently tranquil campaign.

Post-Easter blasts were being mulled in at least two districts — the 3rd of Lewis Reese, and the 8th of Charles Dooley. While only inclination and brinkmanship at week's end, the "big charge" is expected to take form and substance momentarily.

Also intriguing and tentative were intimations of news popping in the 18th District congressional contest on the Democratic side between Pat Ahern and Wallace Moore and in the 44th Assembly District competition between incumbent Joe Kennick and Herb Klocksiem.

While these teasers promised reading for the future book, other Council candidates pitched programs and the "Draft Adlai" movement in Long Beach drafted centenarian Ab Curtis, 2121 Gale Ave., to give the Stevenson invitation to the area's senior citizens.

Curtis, who recently celebrated his 100th birthday, has been active in securing benefits for the aged and believes only Stevenson has the program and political stature to regain sound social progress and international prestige for this country.

Curtis will be assisted by Lawrence Edwin, 80, of Redondo Beach. They invite correspondence, directed to the Stevenson Southern California Headquarters, 6363 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 48, and said they will make as many personal appearances as possible.

RAYMOND (TED) CONLIN, Council candidate in the 5th (Garrison) District, invited both speaking engagements and campaign workers in his platform "to have every citizen take part in governmental activity."

Inquiries may be addressed to Conlin headquarters, 4208 Clark Ave.

PAUL RIOTH, 2nd (Desmond) District candidate, declared that Long Beach must "grow up," pointing out that horizontal growth is limited by our boundaries. "Any major future growth must be perpendicular and one of the best places to start is in the area bordering the new courthouse and Public Safety Bldg., between Pine Ave. and the Flood Control Channel, south of 7th St. It is here that we can really launch the program to make Long Beach a truly International City."

these other platform planks: Closer liaison between city and county officials and between Long Beach and municipalities of the adjacent trading area because our future growth can't be divorced from the rest of the county or by imaginary boundary lines; increased tourist and convention facilities; immediate attention to Auditorium exhibit hall completion; eliminate roadblocks to new industry; work for a Navy hospital, naval museum and a bridge to Terminal Island; continue to keep in mind the needs and problems of our senior citizens—an essential part of the core of our economy.

EMMET M. SULLIVAN, 6th (Ahern) District candidate, said the response to his candidacy has been overwhelming. "The residents of the 8th District appreciate my position that I intend to represent the district without favoritism."

Campaign Manager Charles Pearson said, "Many social affairs and meetings are scheduled so that Emmet Sullivan can personally meet with 6th District people to discuss his program for progress and improvement of the district."

D. PATRICK AHERN, Democratic candidate for Congress, 18th District, announced the opening next Thursday of his downtown "working" headquarters at 107 W. Broadway. It's the third Ahern headquarters location.

THE 18th DISTRICT Democratic Council will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at 3680 Atlantic Ave.

NORTH LONG BEACH Republican Women will open their Monday meeting at 10:30 a.m. in Houghton Park Clubhouse with a talk, "The Individual and Politics" by Mrs. Thelma Morris, president of Lakewood Republican Women.

Afternoon speakers will be City Council candidates from the 8th and 9th Districts, to be introduced by Mrs. Charles Coughenour. A question period will follow. Yeteve Wilson will have charge of the morning legislative session.

Salt Vs. Salt

BREAKTHROUGH SCENTED

By ROGER GREENE

American scientists are pegging their hopes higher than ever this year on achieving a dramatic breakthrough in man's age-old struggle to harvest fresh water from the salty sea.

Federal officials caution that we are still many years, perhaps decades, away from actually making deserts bloom with water pumped from the sea.

But they emphasize, too, that some form of salt-water conversion may spell the difference, sooner than expected, between severe shortages and bountiful supplies of water in many parts of the world.

"It is hard to realize," says Dr. A. L. Miller, director of the U. S. Office of Saline Water (OSW), "that within a few years our No. 1 domestic problem may be plain ordinary water."

America's fast-growing cities, factories and farms today consume over 240 billion gallons of water a day, compared with 40 billion in 1900.

IN 20 YEARS, according to the U. S. Geological Survey, the total will reach 600 billion gallons daily.

"By 1980," says Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred G. Aandahl, "hundreds of cities and communities will be obtaining all or part of their fresh water supplies from converted sea or brackish water."

Although plagued by frequent setbacks in the past, OSW officials are guardedly optimistic that at least one solution may be in sight.

Scientists have known for centuries how to distill potable water from the ocean. Through the ages, however, they have never discovered how to do it cheaply enough to compete with natural fresh water.

One artificial method is to run sea water through hot pipes until it boils, then draw off the vapor through cold pipes to condense it. The condensed steam becomes pure water.

THE BIG stumbling block is that salt, precipitated out of solution, forms scale which clogs the pipes.

To reduce scale formation, engineers tried using pipe made of corrosion-resistant but costly copper-nickel alloy.

It worked better than steel pipe, but thick, heat-resisting collars of scale still formed. That meant frequent delays while the scale-clogged pipe was replaced.

About two years ago, a brainstorm hit chemical engineer Walter L. Badger of Ann Arbor, Mich., a former University of Michigan professor who had spent years experimenting with desalting processes.

"We fight fire with fire,"

RED CROSS REPORTS Disaster Decade

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Red Cross said Saturday that the toll of hurricanes, floods, tornadoes, plane and train mishaps and other catastrophes in the 1950s made those 10 years the worst disaster decade in U. S. history.

"Perhaps nature's destructiveness on the North American continent was matched only by the era when polar glaciers wrenched and twisted the topography to produce the hills and valleys we know today," it said.

The service organization reported on the 10-year tragedy tally in a 24-page booklet titled "The Fifties—A Decade of Disasters."

It said that 3,100 disasters from 1950 through 1959 "destroyed over 20,000 homes, severely damaged 71,500, less seriously damaged more than half a million, and temporarily or permanently displaced over 1,600,000 Americans."

The report pointed up relief operations in which the Red Cross spent $117,009,383 to provide free emergency food, clothing and shelter for more than 1,500,000 disaster victims.

Massive Print Check Set in Park Murders

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Crime experts at Starved Rock State Park Saturday planned the most massive fingerprint investigation in Illinois police annals.

Scores of men will be fingerprinted as investigators seek to build up a file to compare against bloody fingerprints now being scrutinized in the state crime laboratory to determine if they can be deciphered.

They were found on the garments of two of the three Riverside, Ill., women slain in the park March 14.

State Police Supt. William Morris has called the finding of the fingerprints the "biggest break in the case thus far." He said he will ask for a technician from the State Bureau of Identification and Investigation to fly from Springfield to begin the long task Monday.

AUTHORITIES are convinced the five or six prints are those of the bludgeon-killer of Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50. Their battered bodies were found in a shallow cave of St. Louis Canyon in the park March 16.

Morris said 85 or 90 employees of the park and the State Department of Conservation will be asked to submit their fingerprints at the special investigation headquarters.

Bennett A. Cerf, president of Random House, said Knopf will continue to operate separately under the same management and with the same staff.

Sandstorm Strands 25 Ships in Suez

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Three ships ran aground in the Suez Canal and a large American tanker collided with one of them in one of the worst sandstorms in memory Saturday.

With sand-laden winds reducing visibility to almost zero, 25 other ships were delayed in the canal. A canal spokesman said the 13 northbound and 12 southbound ships were halted until the wind subsided. Harbors were closed temporarily.

The American tanker Potomac, which displaces 32,950 tons when fully loaded, ran aground and an hour later

ALARMIST CAUSES ARREST

BB 'Gunman,' 80, Jailed as Drunk

A caller Saturday told San Pedro Police that a man was carrying a shotgun in the 1100 block of 19th St. When police arrived they discovered the gun was not loaded for grizzly bear, but more likely teddy bears it was a BB gun.

Nevertheless, the 80-year-old gunman was booked in jail on a drunk charge as John Doe. He couldn't give his name or address or what he was hunting, police said.

POLICE SAID entry was gained by cutting a chain on a gate of a fence surrounding the area and then prying open a door to the shop. Tire tracks were found on the concrete floor of the shop, police said.

Chessman 'Amazingly Relaxed'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Caryl Chessman's chief attorney said Saturday the convict-author is amazingly relaxed, even nonchalant, and feels no compulsion to rush decisions with 16 days to go before his scheduled execution.

The attorney, George T. Davis, who has headed Chessman's fight for life during 5 of his 12 years on death row, was accused last week by his client of being too much of a publicity seeker. Chessman suggested Davis withdraw.

SATURDAY Davis went to San Quentin for the second straight day. Later he said the two still were talking over his dismissal.

"Mr. Chessman and I have both agreed that since he has 16 days to live and this is the Easter weekend, there is really no rush about arriving at a final decision as between ourselves before Monday," Davis said.

Chessman's ninth date with death May 2 is for the abduction and sexual abuse of two Los Angeles women in lovers' lanes in 1948.

At the same time, a San Francisco Chronicle reporter

CARYL CHESSMAN
Not Rushing Decisions

Chessman, who always has maintained he is innocent, expects to have his 12th petition presented to the United States Supreme Court in Washington Monday. It asks for a writ of review of the recent California Supreme Court decision refusing him a writ of habeas corpus. His attorney claimed he had been convicted and sentenced in excess of the charges on which he was tried, and that his 12 years on death row constituted cruel and unusual punishment.

In Dublin, Ireland, 63 lawyers Saturday appealed to Gov. Edmund G. Brown to spare Chessman's life. They contended that "the long delay and numerous last-minute postponements in carrying out the sentence constitute in themselves most grievous punishment and such an ex-cess of the charges on which he was tried, and that further punishment of death is unjustifiable."

Vegetarian Hiker Glum; Men Up Lead

COLFAX (UPI) — Englishwoman Dr. Barbara Moore Saturday slipped farther behind two British sergeants walking across America and admitted she might not be able to catch them as she had vowed.

The 56-year-old vegetarian trudged into this little town in the western Sierra Nevada foothills as Army Sgt. Mervyn Evans and RAF Sgt. Patrick Moloney completed their journey across the mountains at Reno, Nev., about 90 miles away.

"I am very much disappointed but I am keeping on," she said. "I'm not sure I can catch them, but anything can happen."

A blister which had formed on her right foot Friday apparently had healed enough so it did not slow her spirited pace, but she lost about 15 miles to the men Saturday and still faced the tough trek through the mountains, where the temperature dropped to 20 degrees Friday night.

THE SERGEANTS stepped swiftly down the eastern slope of the Sierra from Donner Summit, a 7,135-foot pass marking the beginning of their descent to the desert.

"It was very cold last night up there," Evans said.

They put on double sets of clothing but shed the extra suit as the temperature climbed to the 60s in the afternoon.

They agreed it was harder walking downhill than up.

"Our leg muscles seem more tense," Moloney said.

Although the sergeants had completed the rugged Sierra Nevada portion of their march, they still face the Nevada desert. They estimate it will require seven days to cross it.

Star Silent on Romance With Sammy

NEW YORK (AP) — Movie star May Britt Saturday declined to conform or deny reports that she and Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. are planning marriage.

"I will say this, we are dating," Miss Britt told a newsman. She is staying in New York while filming parts of a motion picture.

SHE SAID she has filed in Santa Monica, Calif., for a divorce from her husband of 18 months, Edwin Gregson. That divorce is expected to become final in September.

Davis' name has been linked romantically with the Swedish star since shortly after he and a Canadian white singer, Joan Stewart, recently broke off an engagement.

Miss Britt, a 20th Century-Fox star, appeared in several motion pictures, the latest being "Blue Angel." Davis previously was married to Negro singer Loretta White. They were divorced.

New Gas Holder Boosts Capacity

By GEORGE WEEKS

A towering $2,700,000 addition to the Municipal Gas System, already paid for out of earnings, will be dedicated and officially placed in service Friday. It consists of a 173-foot-high holder—the equivalent of a 17-story building—and an adjacent compressor station to send a constant flow of fuel to customers in the northeast section of Long Beach.

Under construction nearly two years, the pastel-green installation south of Carson St. and east of the San Gabriel River blends into the background of nearby El Dorado Park.

Mayor Raymond C. Kealer will dedicate the structure in a ceremony scheduled for 11 a.m. City officials and the public are invited. Technicians representing major contractors and suppliers will conduct visitors through the plant to explain novel features of its automated action.

BESIDES STRENGTHENING service to consumers already linked with the system, the improvement means that the city is ready to serve 10,000 additional customers in annexed areas whenever the purchase of distribution mains from Southern California Gas Co. is consummated.

Both the holder and the compressor station incorporate push-button operation of a type new to the world's largest municipal gas system, according to L. L. Bending, Gas Department superintendent.

Within the five-million-cubic-foot holder is a giant circular lid, technically described as a piston, which lowers or rises as the gas flows out or in.

Four 550-horsepower engines in the compressor station, along with an intricate system of valves, are controlled by an operator at a desklike console.

AT PEAK PERIODS, the holder and station will send out gas at a rate of 1,500,000 cubic feet per hour, emptying and refilling within 3 hours and 20 minutes. This represents a 25 per cent increase in the system's capacity.

MAN IN MINIATURE Shows Giant Scale of Piston Which Lowers as Gas Flows Out of the Big Holder

The added potential amounts to enough fuel to supply one family for 70 years.

Actually the gas will go directly to many thousands of customers during the winter and will be converted to electricity during the summer by supplying the Southern California Edison Co. generating plant with fuel.

In contrast with the usual method of sealing the gas within the holder by a surrounding layer of water, the city's holder has an automatic dry-seal mechanism made of a rubberlike material.

THE CIRCULAR CONTAINER, 173 feet in diameter, was constructed under terms of a $1,420,000 contract with General American Transportation Corp., Chicago. Petroleum Construction and Engineering Co., Los Angeles, was awarded the $535,000 contract for the compressor station.

M. A. Nishkian & Co., Long Beach consulting engineers, designed the plant. Other contracts were awarded to suppliers for the major items of machinery in the compressor plant.

The holder is not the largest in the Long Beach system—another unit at Spring St. and Junipero Ave. stores 10 million cubic feet. But it is described as the world's largest dry-seal holder of its type.

Its main purpose, as with the other holders, is to store gas during off-peak periods so that the load on the system will be equalized.

OTHER festival high lights will include a Fiesta de la Pinata, with a Latin carnival theme, Thursday from 5 to 9 p.m. on the Lakewood Center mall. The event, sponsored by the Lakewood Junior Chamber of Commerce, will include entertainment, prizes, food and souvenir booths.

The week-long celebration will close with a colorful, two-hour parade at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 24.

Andrew Winter Services Set

Surviving is a son, Harry C. Winter, 2015 Maine Ave.

Investiture Set for L. B. Prelate

St. Matthews Catholic Church, 672 Temple Ave., will be the setting for the investiture of Msgr. James P. Lynch, pastor of the church, Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Bishop Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop of Los Angeles Archdiocese and vicar general, will invest the new domestic prelate. His appointment by Pope John XXIII was announced last month by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre. The appointment gives Long Beach two prelates with the title of monsignor, the first being Msgr. Bernard J. Dolan.

MONSIGNOR LYNCH Investiture Scheduled

MSGR. LYNCH was born Sept. 27, 1897, in County Cavan, Ireland, and completed his seminary studies at St. Patrick's College, Carlow, where he was ordained in 1922. He has been pastor of St. Matthews' 27 years.

Following the 1933 earthquake he built a complete new parish plant.

Msgr. Lynch is the second domestic prelate in his family. The other is his brother, Msgr. Peter Lynch, pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, Riverside. A sister, Mother Rosaleen, is former provincial of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet.

Msgr. Lynch will be host to the visiting clergy on the evening of his investiture. The reception for his people, parishioners old and new, will be held Sunday, April 24, from 3 to 5 p.m.

MEMBERS OF the district-wide Citizens Committee named by Chairman Weaver include: Lewis H. Aldridge, James R. Armor, James E. Armstrong, Perry Barrett, Melvin R. Berbowser, Clifford L. Davis, Milton Emlein, Charles E. Erickson, John H. Ferguson, Bernard P. Friedland, Alfred L. Gray, J. Everett Houser, Edward H. Lakin.

Also John R. Lewark, Albert W. Lilliehorn, Joseph M. Maltby, Floyd O. Mason, Howard K. Noble, Carl C. Oster, Clarence R. Prouse, Henry H. Rawlings, George L. Richards, Kirby C. Sericeus, James B. Valentine, Edwin W. Wade, Charles J. Wentz and Delmar C. Woizjeski.

St. Matthew, Chapter 28
IN THE END of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow;

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

AND the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell his disciples that He is risen from the dead; and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see Him; so I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

AND as they went to tell His disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped Him.

Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid; go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

Now when they were going, behold, some of the watch came into the city, and shewed unto the chief priests all the things that were done.

And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they gave large money unto the soldiers.

Saying, Say ye, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

And if this come to the governor's ears, we will persuade him, and secure you.

So they took the money, and did as they were taught; and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

THEN the 11 disciples went away into Galilee, into a mountain where Jesus had appointed them.

And when they saw Him, they worshipped Him, but some doubted.

And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given me in heaven and in earth.

Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost;

Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen.

Politics, Atomics Confusing Mixture

WE DON'T BLAME THE PUBLIC if it feels a sense of bewilderment as the debate over a local atomic-waste disposal plant continues.

When politics gets mixed up with a complex subject such as nuclear energy, it is often hard to tell a fact from a campaign statement.

One effect of the debate has been to raise a fear about the safety of atomic waste disposal operations.

We do not pretend to be a nuclear specialist. We have to depend on authoritative sources for information about such matters.

IN JANUARY, FEBRUARY, AND JULY of last year, extensive hearings on the subject of industrial radioactive waste disposal were held before the Special Subcommittee on Radiation of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, Congress of the United States. That subcommittee took 3,142 pages of testimony from dozens of the nation's experts on the subject. This is the most comprehensive collection of technical information on the subject ever compiled.

The summary and analysis of the hearings contained the following pertinent statement:

"According to the best judgment of the scientific experts who testified during the hearings, radioactive waste management and disposal practices have not resulted in any harmful effect on the public, its environment or its resources. Extensive monitoring programs have shown that concentrations of radioactivity released to the environment are well within established permissible limits."

It also contained this statement:

"The evidence indicated that, at the present time, medical exposure from X-rays constitutes the major source of radiation to man, and that the contribution from radioactive wastes at the present is substantially less than that from worldwide fallout."

The above statement is particularly interesting when connected with a "Newsweek" magazine report of this week:

"Has the radioactive fallout hazard from nuclear-weapons tests been consistently overrated?"

"The answer is yes, according to a panel of experts who met last week at the annual session of the American Chemical Society in Cleveland. They put together a new and remarkably optimistic picture of fallout. It suggests that previous estimates were based on a series of honest errors—scanty data, incorrect assumptions, and 'scientific conservatism'—which had the net effect of magnifying the health threat."

WE DO NOT KNOW, of course, the truth or error of AEC allegations of procedural violations at the local atomic waste disposal plant operated by Robert F. Boswell.

We do know that the Atomic Energy Commission's experts inspected the Boswell operation, and that afterwards, R. E. Hollingsworth, AEC Deputy General Manager, stated that the radiation levels existing outside Boswell's property did not represent a hazard to the public.

Hollingsworth stated that in order for a person to receive a radioactive "dose" equal to that of a chest X-ray, he would have to stand "in the area adjacent to the licensee's building wherein levels of about 2 m r/hr existed . . . for at least 50 hours."

WE ARE NOT A SCIENTIST. But we can read the English language. If we have read it correctly, there is no reason for hysteria on the subject of atomic waste disposal plants. We hope there will be no such hysteria in this city, whose name is carried on the nation's first atomic cruiser.

Wives of Congress Fail in 'Land Grab'

By WALTER T. RIDDER, ROBERT E. LEE AND BILL BROOM

WASHINGTON—Congressional wives recently sustained a public relations black eye and are now hard at work to erase it.

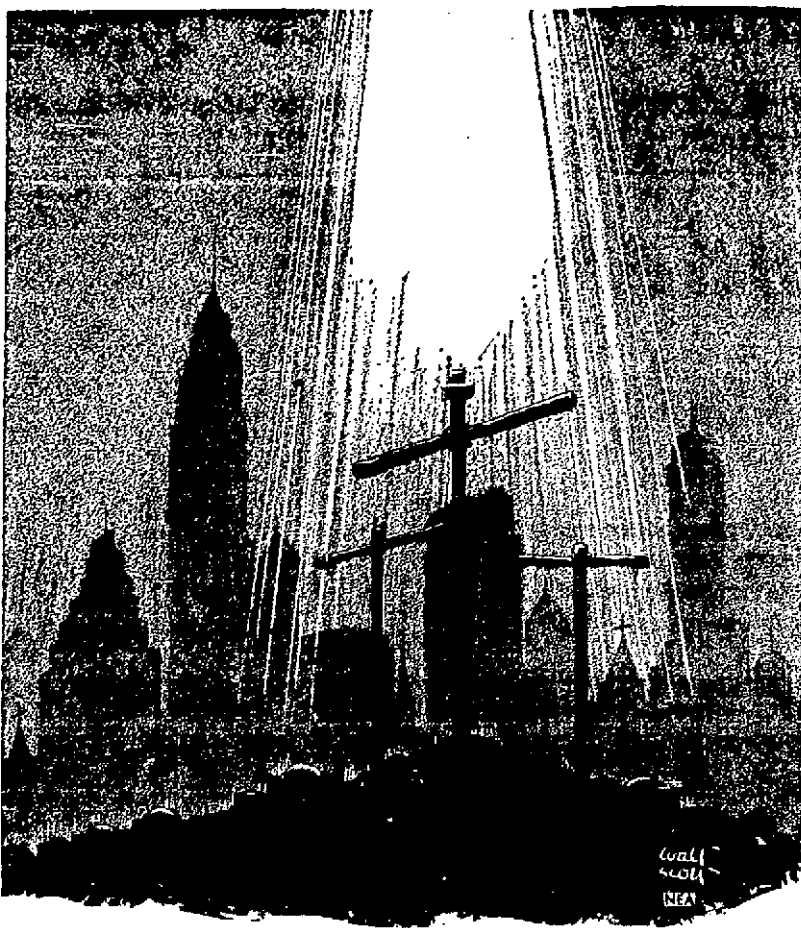

The ladies found themselves in the middle of a civic hassle when they attempted the biggest land grab since Teapot Dome. They wanted a new site for a clubhouse for their Congressional Club, and they wanted it in a better neighborhood than the somewhat seedy atmosphere that surrounds their present building.

Their eyes lighted on Normanstone Park, a forested plot owned by the U.S. Park Service smack dab in the middle of Embassy Row's poshest section. Because the ladies had all the right connections in Congress, they had almost succeeded in lobbying a free 99-year lease past their husbands before the local citizenry got wise. It was relatively easy, but then you might say the wives knew their congressmen well.

When local citizens and save-the-parks groups became aroused, the bill was pigeonholed—for the present.

Now, the congressional wives have abandoned their park grab for the time being for better works. They're going to help the Washington Family Service Assn. raise money for a new $400,000 building. The wives are going to ask the biggest industries in their husband's congressional districts for contributions.

Torrance Episode Produces 'Friendship' Transport Bill

WASHINGTON—All sorts of people are working at people-to-people friendship these days. They are not appealing to the government for aid. They are going out under their own steam to sell peace and friendship to the rest of the world and to help their fellow men. Here are some of them:

Bernard J. Connolly, a California mailman, saved his money for two years and is now starting out at his own expense to deliver mail to 12 countries—walking the route! Connolly will walk through 12 European countries with good-will letters from Americans. The mayors of European cities have been alerted by the mayor of Alameda, Calif., and will welcome him.

In Michigan, the Romulus-Wayne Squadron Civil Air Patrol is raising money to send a civil air good-will mission to Latin America. The Wayne, Mich., Lions Club is raising $800 to finance the tour; O. B. Fritch, a Detroit hotel man, is donating his twin-engine plane and his time as a pilot; and O. D. Crouch of Wayne is pushing the program. Lieut. Douglas Roach of Romulus, an honor student, together with Zenith Luckasik of Wayne will represent the Michigan Civil Air Patrol on the good-will mission.

ALSO congratulations to the Montgomery Blair High School of Silver Spring, Md., for raising what's believed to be the largest amount contributed by any high school to CARE—$25,000. Montgomery Blair's current CARE program is for Ceylon and will provide nylon fishing nets to help increase the Ceylon fishing yield, thereby easing the food shortage.

Congratulations to Congressman Charles S. Gubser of California, Republican, for his bill requiring the Defense Department to give transportation to officials of foreign cities traveling to the USA to promote people-to-people friendship.

THE DEFENSE Department balked for weeks against bringing the Mayor of Konya, Turkey, to visit Torrance, Calif., on a MATS plane, despite the fact that MATS planes are running half empty, and despite the further fact that all sorts of congressmen, wives of government officials and brass hats have been using government transportation at the whim of almost any official requesting it.

Gubser's bill, HR6467, would put the people-to-people friendship program at least on an equal status with the wives of brass hats.

'Liberals' Meddling in GOP Campaign?

WASHINGTON—Many people, among them some editorial writers, who haven't the slightest interest in the success of the Republican Party are nevertheless trying to tell that party it should turn down Vice President Nixon for the presidential nomination this year.

The wish is father to the thought, and the attempt right now is to use the name of Gov. Rockefeller—without his consent—to try to prevent the nomination of Richard Nixon. The New York governor has said explicitly that he does not intend to become a candidate for either the presidency or the vice presidency. But the folks who don't like Nixon keep up the hubbub as a means of discrediting the Vice President.

Thus, every now and then, a movement to "draft" Gov. Rockefeller is squelched and then bobs up again. The other day one of these abortive attempts was wisely repudiated by Mr. Rockefeller himself. He saw it as an effort to involve him in a "Stop Nixon" drive.

Why do these meddlers in Republican politics want to "Stop Nixon"? They themselves wouldn't vote the Republican ticket anyway, as they are mostly "left-wingers" or so-called "liberals" or persons who still resent Mr. Nixon's part in catching Alger Hiss and other Communist stooges.

No candidate of the Republican party this year—who, to win, has to rely on the support of a largely conservative strength—would throw such support away in a misguided effort to lure the imaginary strength of so-called "independents" or "liberals."

The Republican party has enough potential votes on the conservative side to elect a President this year. If, however, the so-called "liberal" or "leftist" group succeeds in influencing the selection for the Republican nomination of someone who is going to enter the campaign suspected of being at heart a radical or a "spender," many conservatives will be tempted to stay at home and let a full-fledged Democrat have the responsibility of steering the government as between liberal, radical and conservative practices.

ONE OF THE reasons the Republicans have had a hard time getting their voters to the polls in recent years is that some conservatives have been alienated by the Eisenhower administration on particular issues. In the last two years, however, many of these conservatives have rallied behind the President because of his policies at home, which have helped to stabilize the economy of the country, and his policies abroad, which have helped to keep us out of a nuclear war.

AS FOR Gov. Rockefeller, he has played his cards well to date. He has an attractive personality and is rapidly getting worthwhile experience by his service in Albany. It will stand him in good stead in the future. He would immeasurably aid the national ticket if the convention drafted him for the vice-presidential nomination, but only if the vast majority of the Republican voters were disabused of any idea that he is just another "left-wing liberal."

County Central Committees Slighted in Political Rush

YOU'D THINK political parties would have some sort of organization, besides candidates themselves, who would work to get the candidates elected and would keep the party strong between elections. Well, they do have. It's the County Central Committee. And it's the only political body, outside the candidates, which is elected by the voters to work for party and candidate.

We'll be voting on County Central Committee candidates next June 7 in the consolidated presidential primary. Each party will elect seven members from the 44th and 70th Assembly Districts which comprise the 18th Congressional District (Long Beach-Lakewood-Signal Hill). The June 7 vote is final in this contest; there are no runoffs.

Charitably speaking, our county committees have done a not-so-hot job. Membership has been looked upon as a prestige token. The race costs candidates little or nothing. The winners assume the mantle without spirit or aggressiveness. But—good news—some of this year's candidates are sounding off about this characteristic lethargy, which all of them are aware of. They're saying let's make the committee the vital force it's laid out to be in the Elections Code.

File these names for consideration—the 38 who aspire to make county committees next June in our area:

Edna W. MacGregor, 1030 E. Ocean Blvd., incumbent.

IN 70TH DISTRICT, Republican: Richard A. Aschieris, 3869 Ladoga Ave., traffic representative; John D. Bowler Jr., 177 Rivo Alto Canal, incumbent; Carol Crawford, 6802 Parapet St.; William T. Dalesi, 5107 El Cedra St., incumbent; Charles M. Garrison, 4315 Faculty Ave., incumbent; Paul Jenkins, 5343 Monaco Rd., scheduler; Wesley F. Knuppel, 6003 Oliva Ave., Lakewood, engineer; Ryland R. Madison, 1855 Stevely St., incumbent; James K. McCall, 343 Bay Shore Ave., incumbent; Thelma Lindsay Morris, 4320 Graywood Ave.; Gladys O'Donnell, 3814 Gundry Ave., incumbent, and Ruth S. Todd, 5330 El Parque, housewife.

IN 44TH DISTRICT, Democratic: R. E. (Pat) Corbett, 5890 Myrtle Ave., incumbent; Charles M. Gallagher, 2930 Long Beach Blvd., incumbent; Ronald D. Hager, 1086 C San Antonio Dr., teacher; Wayne J. (Sharkey) Hull, 2142 Daisy Ave., incumbent, and Myrtelle W. Molyneux, 2260 Pine Ave., teacher.

IN 70TH DISTRICT, Democratic: Spencer M. Crump Jr., 53 Glendora Ave., editor; Jack Feuer, 2247 N. Josie Ave., incumbent; Michael Goldenberg, 7027 Hanbury St., member county committee; Thomas D. Griffin, 2912 Nipomo Ave., member county committee; Bronse Leach, 3471 E. Janice St., truck driver; M. D. McKeown, 342 Grand Ave., incumbent; Mary B. Nolan, 4936 N. Hayter Ave., member county committee; George Nye Jr., 5649 Pimenta Ave., incumbent, and Ferdinand C. Suhrer, 7107 Aivlis St., incumbent.

County Central Committees are charged with party campaign and perform "such other duties and services for their respective political parties as seem to be for the benefit of each party."

These functions include registering voters and getting out a maximum vote for their party. They also are the agencies which charter the volunteer clubs. But the main charge is that of getting party candidates elected. Further information on Central Committees will be forthcoming in these news columns before June 7.

Small Car Answer to Parking Lack?

EDITOR:

In all this uproar about additional beach parking lots, and digging up parks to provide underground storage, mention is usually made of the number of cars these proposed facilities will be designed to accommodate. When the planners say 500, it is presumed they mean today's king-size cars.

There are indications that these monstrous things are on the way out, and we can expect smaller and more sensible cars. Sales figures on smaller cars have finally convinced Detroit that progressively bigger and longer cars are not what we all crave. We are now offered "compacts," which are not little, but are more nearly the size common 10 years ago, and for which downtown parking meters were spaced.

ISN'T IT possible that by delaying things a little longer, and before doing such drastic things as destroying a park, proposed plans can be modified as cars get smaller?

Some of this agitation for more parking spaces, and the energy and planning put into promotions to make downtown shopping more popular, should be diverted into crusading for smaller cars. The merchants, and the city, would benefit in two ways: (1), more cars would come to town and find a place to park, and (2) cars which cost less to buy, use and maintain leave consumers with more to consume with—more cash for the register.

Article on Dance Teaching Lauded

EDITOR:

The whole of the dance-teaching profession wants to compliment you on your article, "Who Should Pay For it All?" and "Long Beach, Lakewood Compete with Private Recreation Salons," in the Sunday, March 27 Independent Press-Telegram.

My wife and I are ardent readers of your newspaper and we certainly admire your policy of protecting the public on many occasions, not only from a tax-saving standpoint, but on many other daring subjects too.

ONE MAIN reason for the success of the American way of life has been our insistence on free enterprise in preference to government furnished services.

Did you know out of 40 leading cities in the U. S., that Kiplinger reports Long Beach as having the highest cost for recreation in the nation ($7.72 per head taxation, for this alone.) There is only one equal, and it is Chicago's budget.

Brejcha Opposes Proposition B-1

EDITOR:

Referring to your editorial about the attitude of prospective councilmen toward our Council-Manager form of government, in my more than 30 years in city service I have many times witnessed the occurrence mentioned in the third paragraph of that editorial of newly elected councilmen overstepping their authority. Indeed, there is on record one occasion when former City Atty. Irving M. Smith caustically warned one City Council that what it was attempting might well be grounds for removal from office. And almost always they would then start to talk about changing the Charter.

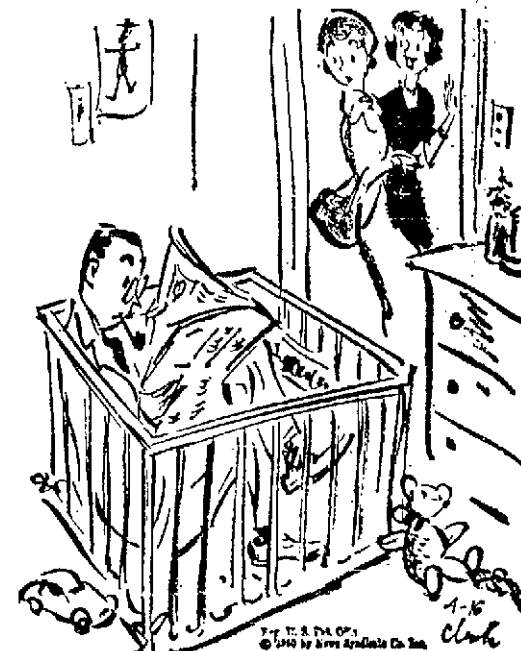

WHEN I first read of proposition B-1, I composed the following argument against it:

"The City Manager form of government does not contemplate that the council should find it necessary to spend more than one or two days per week on the job; nor need they if they let the City Manager function without hindrance. The council should act as a board of directors, formulating policy and determining what course is to be followed, so direct the City Manager, then go home and let him do it. If he does not produce the desired result he is answerable to them. Perhaps if we change their titles and call them a board of directors and less like ward councilmen. In the past they have spent far too much time on a mass of relatively unimportant items, most of which should be disposed of by department heads and the city manager. Reading the minutes of a few meetings will convince an inquirer of this beyond any question. All of which takes up the time of the manager, the city attorney, the city clerk, and their respective staffs. This proposition might well mean the end of city manager government in Long Beach."

DeGaulle Due for U. S. 'Vive!'

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief of L. P. T. Capital Bureau
WASHINGTON — The tall, angular figure of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, president of France, will stroll Friday across the American scene and will remain here for eight days. He will be seen in Washington, New York, San Francisco and New Orleans before departing for the French West Indies.

It will in more ways than one be a triumphal tour. Not since the "Tiger of France," Georges Clemenceau, ruled the destinies of his country in the post World War I era has a Frenchman played so conspicuous a role on the world stage as does De Gaulle today. By sheer force of personality, by inflexible will (which many people call mere obstinacy), and by a determination to restore the glories that were France, De Gaulle has in recent months literally shot his way into the world's exclusive atomic "club," forced the 1960 summit meeting to be held on his home grounds, Paris, and has made France a potent, if at times uncertain, factor in the Western Alliance.

WHEN DE GAULLE arrives here on Friday, he will be met by President Eisenhower and the two generals, now heads of state, will ride together to the White House. Presumably, crowds of Washingtonians will cluster on the streets and cheer as the motorcade rolls along the avenues decorated with French and American flags.

Bands will play and there will be cries of "Vive la France!" As the awkward De Gaulle waves stiffly, he will no doubt be mentally comparing the reception of 1960 to his previous visits to the nation's capital.

Early in his administration, it was suggested to De Gaulle that he make a trip to the United States. "Non," he replied firmly and then added with more than a little bitterness—"I've been to Washington twice before."

THE MEMORY was not a pleasant one for the proud, unbending French soldier who considered that he had been forced during World War II

CHARLES DE GAULLE
Return in Triumph

to come hat in hand to Washington and had been all but rebuffed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Relations between Roosevelt and De Gaulle were, to put it mildly, never very good. De Gaulle believed, not without reason, that Roosevelt had scant respect for the Free French forces, that Roosevelt and Winston Churchill looked upon him as a very junior partner, and that he as leader of Free France was kept in the dark on the intentions of the Allies.

Roosevelt, on his part, simply didn't like De Gaulle. He thought he was a greater bother than he was worth, and was loudly skeptical about De Gaulle's political leanings. On both of his wartime trips to the U. S. De Gaulle felt he had been treated humbly and he resolved never again to return—except on his own terms.

That De Gaulle, therefore, is returning to Washington reflects a political triumph of the first order. He will talk to Eisenhower as an equal in substance as well as in form. His hat will be on his head rather than in his hand as he approaches the White House. His words will carry weight, authority, and interest rather than be brushed aside as the romantic ramblings of a would-be male Joan of Arc. No one will notice or enjoy the contrast more than Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Named National Essay Champion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gail Chadwell, Reno high school student, Saturday was named winner of the national torcade rolls along the avenues decorated with French and American flags.

Miss Chadwell won $1,000 and a trip to Washington where she will receive an award May 5 from President Eisenhower.

Blind Jim's Still Happy

By EARL WILSON

COLUMBUS, O.—Jim Thurber, 65, who lost his vision in 1901, and that after he told us that he lost an eye in 1901, and that after the vision in his other eye came and went, until it finally went permanently.

When his wife Helen steered the tall, 65-year-old humorist toward a lecture in new Denney Hall at Ohio State University, and read for him a dedication speech he said he'd rewritten 15 times, we felt just a speck of sympathy.

But only then, for James Thurber had a ball after that. With his genius for finding the amusing and at times the hilarious in life, he told at a dinner party how surgeons required him to endure five operations hoping to save his sight in one eye in order that he might continue to draw.

"DRAW!" he said he shouted at them. "I could have saved us all a lot of trouble. I only draw when I get stuck writing a story."

"Besides, I've already done enough drawings to reach from here to Seattle."

THURBER WAS SMOKING a cigarette as he reminisced to 30 or 40 admirers at the home of Jack Fullen, the Ohio State alumni secretary. He would light his own cigarettes, pinching at the flame, then prop-

SIX-FOOT-1, not at all stooped, his white hair sporting a narrow streak of black in front, Thurber seems perpetually cheerful. "We should have McNulty here!" he said

JAMES THURBER
He Had a Ball

when talking to some reporters—referring to the late John McNulty, who had also gone from Columbus to the New Yorker and then to greatness in what Jim calls "the practice of humor."

And somebody remembered Thurber's favorite story of McNulty getting fired one day by a city editor with ulcers.

Next day a meek McNulty said, "I guess, since I was fired, there's a vacancy." He was told that his reasoning was correct. "Then I'd like to apply for the job," McNulty said. He got it.

Thurber said he might never have gone on to fame on the New Yorker but for the late Franklin P. Adams' column.

While still a reporter on the New York Evening Post, he had written about 25 pieces for the New Yorker—all of which had been rejected. He was gloomy about the future.

"I was all packed to go back to Columbus," Thurber remembered.

"Then I picked up F.P.A.'s column and read that the next day, a piece I'd sent to him was going to occupy his whole column."

"I unpacked."

Who Says Ireland's a Playboy?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—John Ireland remembers the days when screen acting was short-time work—but that was before "Spartacus."

"I was hired for 12 weeks' work—and wound up with 12 months. Now I've been signed for a television and movie deal in Europe that will last six months at least."

Under the deal, Ireland will make 39 episodes of a TV series called "The Cheaters" and can take time off from the series to make the movie "The Streetwalker" whenever it's ready for production.

"Not only that, but the producers own hotels in London and the South of France—and my room is included in the deal."

"I say any actor who can get a deal like that is a serious actor—and not a playboy, as my publicity would have you believe."

It Pays Girls to Be Plump

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shelley Winters, who gained 35 pounds to play her Academy Award-winning role in "The Diary of Anne Frank," put her arm around Simone Signoret, the plumpish winner of the top feminine oscar, and made a classic comment.

"Simone and I will drive those size eights out of the business yet."

Beverly to Get Candy From Mother Today

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Beverly Aadland's mother plans to take an Easter basket to her in Juvenile Hall today before she herself goes up for arraignment Monday on charges she led her 17-year-old daughter to a wayward life.

"Yes," Mrs. Florence Aadland said Saturday, "I'm going to buy an Easter basket and take it to her. She can have a pound of candy."

"A lot of fellows who admire Beverly want to send my baby roses and candy, but the authorities in Juvenile Hall won't let them."

Beverly, the last love of the late Errol Flynn, has been in Juvenile Hall a week. She was taken there because of "inadequate supervision" after bit player William Stanciu, 21, was shot to death in her apartment.

MRS. AADLAND—listed as 53 although she insists "I'm just 46"—was arrested Thursday on a district attorney's complaint charging her with contributing to the delinquency of her daughter.

She said since Beverly had been held in Juvenile Hall—a hearing is set for May 2 to determine if Beverly should be held until she is 18—she has been reading some of Flynn's letters written to the young night club singer when he was in Africa making a movie.

Mrs. Aadland, a platinum-haired divorcee, was released on $1,050 bail Friday when Superior Judge John G. Barnes granted a continuance of her arraignment because she needed time to find a lawyer.

FOR AUDIENCE

Cannes Film Fete to Be Multilingual

CANNES, France (AP)—The Cannes International Film Festival is installing a six-language simultaneous translation system to give audiences a linguistic choice of movie dialogue through tiny transistor radios equipped with headsets. ## By RON SARRO

Eisenhower will be performing a chore handed down to chief executives by President William Howard Taft.

A then record crowd of 14,000, bolstered by a big brass band playing "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," jammed the ball park to cheer on the local boys.

One newspaper reported: "a mighty cheer swept across the crowd as President Taft showed such faultless delivery . . . it was the first time in history that a President of the United States has opened a game of professional baseball, or had attempted to rival the honor of . . . Walter Johnson et al."

"I'm pretty short on cash just now, as the club doesn't start paying salaries until the first of the month. But $100 wouldn't buy that ball from me."

Legion Stadium Dead, but Old Memories Live

By BOB MYERS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood Legion Stadium—once the most glamorous fight arena in the world, weekly gathering place of the famous folk of movie-land—is being converted into a bowling palace.

Gone it will be, but memories live on, ranging from hilarious to ridiculous. Such as:

The powder room parade each Friday night of the late Lupe Velez.

The night two famous stars enacted a love scene when the lights dimmed for ring action and the necking match, more torrid than the fight, went the full 10 rounds.

The night pert Ruby Keeler and her husband, the late Al Jolson, paused en route to entino, Fatty Arbuckle, Tom Mix and many others were regulars.

The night of the Fiermonte-Kennedy episode, no less a figure than Richard Barthelmess, in black tie and tuxedo, was swinging a towel for manager Jack Kearns in Enzo's corner.

Over the years regulars included George Raft, Mae West, Clara Bow, the Brothers Ritz, the Brothers Marx—Harpo, Chico and Zeppo, with Groucho occasionally—Bob Hope, Alan Hale, Bing Crosby, Abbott and Costello, Tony Martin, with or without his flame of the week; comedian El Brendel, George Burns—all sincere fight fans.

AND PERHAPS the most inveterate, certainly the most beloved—Lupe Velez, and her famed trek to the ladies' room. During the bout before the main event, Lupe would start up the aisle.

Immediately her worshippers in the gallery would take up the beat of her high-heeled steps with massed clap of hands and stomp of feet.

It continued, to Lupe's beaming delight, until she disappeared in the proper exit. And it resumed as soon as she returned and the cadence carried her in triumph back to her seat. There Lupe, in her emotional Latin way, acknowledged the tribute with waving arms and kisses blown around the house.

They sounded 10 taps of the bell when Lupe died. There were few dry eyes in the place that night.

IN 1938 the Legion built a new stadium. The last night of the old arena was typical of the mad era.

They started introducing stars in the ring... Jack Benny, Jolson, Robert Taylor, Burns, Chico Marx, Bill (Bojangles) Robinson, Pat O'Brien, Joe E. Brown, Benny Rubin, Hale, Raft, Mickey Rooney.

Suddenly a ridiculous free-for-all got under way. Pictures on hand today show a stangle of legs and bodies wrestling on the canvas.

And at the bottom of the pile was Maxie Rosenbloom. It seems the elite of flickerville were trying to yank his pants off—and almost succeeded.

ONCE THE Marx Brothers sponsored a young fighter out of Cleveland named Sammy Cohen, and for his debut at the Legion, the brothers acted as seconds.

Each wore a sweater, and inscribed on the back was "Canvasback Cohen."

It was funny at the time, but it had sad repercussions. Cohen was a good prospect but the rib hurt his career. The greatest drama was the Fiermonte-Kennedy affair. Fiermonte, from Italy, had won nine fights in this country, and possibly more important, he married heiress Madeline Force Astor Dick, an eastern socialite and widow of John Jacob Astor.

UNDER THE guidance of the astute Mr. Kearns and a press agent named Bill Miller, Enzo, a 6-foot, 180-pound Adonis, was costumed in monogrammed silver trunks, a gorgeous robe and fancy boxing shoes.

Hollywood's blue book of stars attended. Kennedy was a fair heavyweight who apparently wasn't going very far, and the rumor all over town was that he was to be a docile pushover in the Fiermonte buildup for a title fight.

Obviously no one checked with Kennedy. He wrecked Enzo.

Times and Hollywood have changed. The fight arena is no longer a show case. Soon there will be a clatter of bouncing bowling pins.

It will never replace another sound. That would be the shrill cry of the late Lupe Velez, imploring a favorite: "Geeve it to heem, geeve to heem!"

Former Cal Ace Larson Signed by Oakland Pros

OAKLAND (UPI)—Paul Larson, onetime University of California star quarterback and formerly with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League, signed today to play for the new Oakland Raiders of the American Football League.

Larson has not played since the 1958 season with Chicago. He has been in business at Modesto.

HILARITY IN RING

RINGSIDE AND RING were gathering places for Hollywood's elite during Legion Stadium's glory years. In 1938, for instance, famous folk of flickerdom tried to take pants off Maxie Rosenbloom in ring. Among those tussling are (L-to-R) Al Jolson, Mickey Rooney, Joe E. Brown, Pat O'Brien (with cigar), Bill (Bojangles) luckless Cards almost lost Stan Musial, who jack-knifed over the Dodgers' dugout railing while chasing Neal's foul pop. Musial came close to making a sensational grab, but lost the ball as he tried to keep his balance.

First base umpire Jocko Conlan made an even better grab when he saved Musial from falling head-first into the dugout.

MANAGER Walter Alston, still wondering when his hitless wonders will begin to find the range, will go with the same lineup in this afternoon's series and home stand finale.

Larry Sherry, blanked by Glen Hobbie and the Cubs in his first 1960 bid as a starting pitcher, gets another chance against the Cards' Ernie Broglio.

The Dodgers' National League and World Series pennants will be hoisted in colorful ceremonies beginning at 1:45.

Jones Sets Ascot Mark in Victory

their ringside seats while Miss Keeler removed a dainty shoe and whacked columnist Walter Winchell over the head.

Seems Walter had written something about Al Miss Keeler didn't like.

AND THEN there was the fantastic evening in 1933 when a heavyweight named Les Kennedy, a 20-1 underdog, flattened a handsome socialite fighter named Enzo Fiermonte in the fourth round—despite widespread rumors that the bout was to be just a buildup for Fiermonte.

In the excitement that followed the knockout, Kennedy grabbed his unstylish bathrobe, jumped through the ropes, fled up the aisle, out the door, into a taxi cab, and old timers say he hasn't been seen in the ring since.

Yes, the stadium was quite a place, and THE place to go — and more important — he seen every Friday night. No actor nor actress had arrived to fame unless he or she could command regular seats no further back than second row ringside.

IT ALL started in 1920 when a great character actor of his time, Theodore Roberts, sparked organization of the arena as an American Legion promotion.

CHEVROLET
OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45
WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule." And with Chevy's torsion springs smoothing every mile of the way! Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load. You see why Mr. Blankinship is adding another Chevy middleweight soon.

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners talk about economy, low upkeep, cab comfort, high payload capacity. They talk volumes. But sooner or later they're back on Chevy's revolutionary ride. The fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal... Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dragging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

JOHN CLOCK

WITH LONG BEACH ATTORNEY AT THE HELM...

U. S. Golf Assn. Running Like Clock-Work!

By JERRY WYNN

Is there an amateur now capable of beating the pros in the U. S. Open?

"Certainly," a soft, confident voice answers.

"Charlie Coe could win, and so could Jack Nicklaus and Harvie Ward. Didn't Coe have the low score on his own ball in the Crosby Tournament last year? Nicklaus is a fine, strong young player."

No, the speaker wasn't Gene Sarazen, Jimmy Demaret or another PGA stalwart. It was a man who has devoted a good share of a lifetime to amateur golf. It was a man who in January became the first Westerner to be President of the United States Golf Association. It is 11-handicapper John G. Clock of Virginia Country Club.

TALL, ERECT AND distinguished in appearance, the 63-year-old Long Beach attorney talked of golf and golfers while seated behind a desk on which one side was the Journal of Law and the other, the USGA Journal.

"There are so many golfers so good these days, it is difficult to have favorites. Being from California, I suppose I am partial to Ken Venturi, Gene Littler and Billy Casper among the professionals. Then there's Arnold Palmer and Billy Maxwell, who, like Littler, were National Amateur champions.

"One of my greatest golf thrills came in the 1951 U. S. Open at Oakland Hills in Detroit when I watched Ben Hogan shoot his final round of 67 to win the Championship. If I recall correctly, there were only three rounds under 70 during the entire tournament.

"I believe the two-round system of qualifying for the U. S. Open has met with approval. It gives the seasoned or tournament player better opportunity, for they are exempt until the second round, when the field has been reduced from 2,000 to 450."

Clock, a graduate of University of Southern California Law School, believes there

27-1 Tonta Tex Tops Derby Trial Favorite

By MAC MCGUIRE

The Gill Brothers' Tonta Tex scored a stunning $56.20 upset in the second section of the two-heat Derby Trials Saturday before 12,326 fans at Los Alamitos race course.

The attendance was the fourth largest in the history of the track and the handle, $772,053, was the second highest.

The Bar Tonto colt broke on top and lead all the way in the 440-yard dash to beat the 3-5 favorite, Aunt Judy, who finished in a deadheat for third with Lin Howard Jr.'s Noorella.

C. E. Hartwick's Like Lightning was second, returning $18.00 and $6.00.

Tonta Tex' place and show prices were $17.20 and $6.40. Aunt Judy paid $2.20 and Noorella $3.20.

IN THE FIRST heat, Western Stable's Table Tennis gave indications of what was to follow when she scored a mild upset as heavily-favored Miss Jet Deck broke to the right and finished seventh.

Her poor finish may rule Miss Jet Deck out of the $25,000 Derby, next Saturday. For only the 16 fastest horses in the two heats qualify for the running of the finals, regardless of excellent past performances.

Table Tennis paid $8.40, $5.40 and $4.20. Easter Rec paid $10.60 and $6.60 and Jag paid $7.20 to show.

Table Tennis was the second victory of the day for jockey Ronald Banks, who also piloted Tim Holt to a

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPPEP

Mass expeditions to Lake Mead are becoming commonplace, with cooperation between fishing clubs a remarkable factor in producing easier camp life.

Thirty-eight members of the Long Beach Sportsman's Club have just returned from Temple Bar with limits of bass. They camped for four days at Camp Tuna, the fancy outdoor living room established a week earlier by the Southern California Tuna Club at Devil's Cove, 20 miles uplake from Temple Bar.

Bob Ziebarth, who found life among the rocks so interesting that he didn't fish the first two days, finally took one swing outside the cove and caught a 5 3/4-pounder, jackpot fish for the trip. Bush Blumenstein (5 1/2) and Doug Douglas (3 3/4) were daily jackpot winners. J. D. Chance got the prize for the largest catfish (4 3/4).

When Bob Lowery put a new Mercury 800 on his boat, everybody in camp suggested that he change the name from Lazy Boy to Canyon Cleaner.

Jules Bosen, chef for the SCTC two weeks ago, returned and did the cooking chores for the Sportsman's Club. If Jules keeps on, it looks as though he'll have steady work just taking care of clubs at Mead.

THE SPORTSMAN'S CLUB, like the SCTC, was making its second annual mass trip. Twenty made the trip in 1959.

They used 16 boats, plus Dumbo, the big cruiser owned by several Long Beach men. Two of the owners, Doug Douglas and Floyd Beswick, were aboard to run supplies for the club to Camp Tuna.

Others making the trip were the following:

Bill Lynn, Les Mauck, Ralph Gilbreath, Shorty Evans, Bob Hilden, Mervin Devine, Paul Louder, Tom Gourd, Dutch Krutzfeldt, Harry DuBay, Hal Powell, Bob Ziebarth, Bob Lowery, Bill Skimore, Jim Mason, Tex Herndon, Fred Slump, Dick Henson, Chris Christian, Dick O'Neill, Chuck Gibbons, Ersell Cheatwood, Bill Barfield, Bob Downs, Bush Blumenstein, Johnny Miller, J. D. Chance, Pop Roberts, Bill Coleman, Walt Hall, Ray Biley, Bob Anderson, Steve Keltzer, John Pugh, Jim Hanson and Carl Campbell.

The Sportsman's Club is swinging into its summer schedule of monthly fishing contests, with losers being tabbed for the monthly dinners.

The club also has scheduled a match with the Long Beach Lady Anglers for mid-May. This should prove to be one of the highlights of the fishing year.

BILL COLEMAN BROUGHT interesting news about Charlie Barnes, Long Beach resident who spends most of the winter and spring at Temple Bar and who has been dubbed Mr. Lucky 13 by this columnist. It seems that Charlie was fishing off the Haystack, using—as always—a Lucky 13 when he saw a snake swimming in the water. Yep, he dived it; Charlie let fly with that Lucky 13 and snagged the snake.

Now for a change in scenery, let's drop down to Isabella Lake, which Carl Polin, 2618 Hardwick St., Lakewood, says is currently the hottest spot for crappie. Says Carl: "The fish are there; all you have to do is catch 'em."

Polin and a friend, Ken Camp, should know. They returned here with more than six dozen crappie, plus limits of bass and plenty of bluegill.

They caught all their fish on the same lures—a white Go Getter—trolling on most any part of the lake. They launched their own boat at Paradise Cove and had only six hours of fishing time before a strong wind forced them back to the landing.

HELMS FETES CHAMPION SC SWIM SQUAD

The Helms Athletic Foundation "Athlete of the Month" award for March has been voted to the entire Southern California Trojan swimming team, it was announced today.

An 11-man squad, headed by Long Beach's Chuck Bittick, was chosen for the award, marking the sixth time in the 23-year history of the monthly award that a team has been selected.

The Trojan swimmers were cited for winning the NCAA championship while four—Bittick, Lance Larson, Dennis Rounsaville and Tom Winters—broke national collegiate records.

Hot Rods to Race at Gardena Today

Jack Austin, '60 point leader, will be in the starting field Sunday for the CJA hot rod racing program at Gardena Stadium.

Time trials start at 1 p.m. with first race at 2:30. An Easter egg hunt has been arranged for children.

Destruction Derby at Gardena Tonight

A Destruction Derby is scheduled tonight at Gardena Stadium with some 70 cars entered in the eight-event program.

Swink to Dallas AFL

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Jim Swink, former Texas Christian all-American halfback who passed up pro football three seasons for medical study, Saturday agreed to play for the Dallas Texans of the new American Football League.

FISHIN' FACTS

At Pleasant Landing: 272 bass, 10 catfish, 10 bluegill, 10 crappie, 10 sunfish, 10 yellowtail and 26 miscellaneous.

Mobile HOME LIVING

By BERNICE L. MAY

An added attraction was enjoyed by many at Long Beach Trailer Estates, 6541 Atlantic Ave. Mr. Lyman with his organ from the Hammond Studios played several requests during the dinner hour and throughout the evening. After dinner bingo was played. The committee responsible was Matilda Sapp, Pearl Measel, Dora Kortz, Lucile Hoffman, Dan Measel and Roy Hoffman calling the numbers.

Lee Keener, "Mr. Music," sponsored by Bonzer-Free-way Mobile Home Center, entertained at the Trailer Rally at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona on April 7, 8 and 9. Five hundred travel trailers from all over the state and members of various trailer clubs were present. Beautiful prizes were awarded.

Grand Slam Bridge Club met in the mobile home of Grace Dunn. Lucile Hoffman won high score and Mae Roberson second prize.

Pearl Durgin returned home from a weeks vacation in Laguna Beach. Pearl entertained 15 ladies from the Long Beach Methodist Church and luncheon was served. Several of the group had never visited an up-to-date park. The luxury living in mobile homes amazed them.

Everyone had fun at our Tuesday night bingo. Nice prizes were given and refreshments were served during intermission. We welcomed the following outside guests: Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Brussow, parents of Grace Dunn; A. W. Haworth, father of Lorena Bartholomew; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Plumb, friends of the Hoffman's. A nice door prize was donated by the neighborhood "Flying A" gas station. Jesse Sapp was the lucky winner.

The Isenminger's returned from their vacation. They spent several days at the All American Canal, and in Yuma, Ariz. They report fishing was fine.

Many friends and neighbors at the Estates were saddened by the sudden death of Lester Eller.

PARK AVALON

Recreation plans for Park Avalon Trailer Lodge, 750 E. Carson St., Torrance, are advancing rapidly, according to reports of the committee chairman. Several sets of horseshoes are being provided by one member and a horseshoe court is expected to be in operation by this weekend. The calisthenics class which started last Saturday under the direction of "Tommy" Tumenilli brought out 15 members of the feminine sex determined to win the "battle of the bulge." It was announced Sunday that classes will also be held on Thursday evenings between 8 and 9 p.m.

The next social event will be an Easter dance to be held in the recreation hall Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black attended the Trailer Life Show at Pomona last weekend. Molly Lowe, granddaughter of managers Fred and Madge Guppy appeared as a guest dancer at the show with "Mr. Music."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reese have returned from a week's fishing trip. Their reported excellent catches.

Leo Conner enjoyed a deep sea fishing trip one day during the past week and also reported a good catch.

Newest tenants of Park Avalon are Mr. and Mrs. William Byers and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Cornell.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Beardsley recently made a brief trip to Phoenix, Ariz.

RIVIERA NOTES

Bill Bristol, new mayor of Riviera Mobile Home Park, 300 W. Katella Ave., Anaheim, held his first social event since assuming office and the 170 residents and friends who attended voted it a huge success.

The committee in charge included Mary Jo Rothrock, chairman; Ruth Flaherty, Mary Garlitz, Bee McGaffin, Laura Farley, Pat Bristow and Jessie Kintner. The girls all dressed as Easter bunnies.

The tables were decorated in keeping with the Easter season and after a potluck dinner some superb entertainment was enjoyed by the spectators.

Janice Warshaw sang a solo and then joined Bonita Meek in a duet. John Murray played a trombone solo. Duncan Drucquer gave a monologue. Laura Sue Mason played an accordion solo and 3-year-old Lorrie Ann Little sang a song.

Charles Finner played the piano and Frank Clack performed on the drums. Marshall Rothrock gave a diving exhibition.

Birthdays celebrated during the party were those of Bill Lenon, Maybelle Courtier and Bess McGaffin. Mary and Earl Garlitz observed their 26th wedding anniversary.

Cherie Conn led the grand march at the dance and won the prize for the prettiest Easter hat. Ida Davis won the most comical hat prize.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK

DOROTHY DURHAM

A native daughter of a native son of a native daughter of California is the rare heritage proudly carried by this week's Realtor, Dorothy Durham.

Semi-retired from an active role in Real Estate for the past year, Dorothy has just recently opened her new office at 5125 East Ocean stating that she is now "back in the business on a full-time and permanent basis."

Looking back, it seems to Dorothy that her move into the field of Real Estate was inevitable. She puts it this way—"I like people... I like houses... and I like serving... It all adds up to Real Estate."

She first began to satisfy her interest in houses while moving about the country with her husband, Max J. Durham when he was in various phases of engineering with the Metropolitan Water District and Bureau of Reclamation and then during his 10-year stint as an officer with the armed forces. "I caught every open house in every town," she recalls.

So, when Max returned to Long Beach with the harbor department, it seemed only natural that Dorothy pursue her interest in Real Estate and she officially entered the field in 1951 with the Ryerson Realty, later becoming a Broker and Realtor and operating her own office successfully in the Los Altos area.

Dorothy has consistently been active in the Long Beach Board of Realtors and in local music circles. A staunch supporter, too, of the real estate instruction offered at Long Beach City College, she has taken many of their courses available and highly recommends their program.

The Durhams like to spend their weekends, whenever they have the opportunity, at their mountain cabin at Idyllwild which, incidentally, they have built themselves over the past few years. Their youngest daughter, Vicki, graduates from Wilson High this spring and will be attending college in Washington this fall.

BUY OF THE WEEK 2848 MONTAIGNE — OPEN TODAY, 1-4 P.M.

This immaculate 3-bedroom Stratford Square home is located in a really unusual "Pride-of-Ownership" neighborhood. Cunningham-Brittain built in 1952, it features a rear living room with large picture window overlooking a brick terrace, a large fenced yard with redwood gate and a beautiful large acacia tree in the front yard. Shopping and school are just 3 blocks away, yet it is located outside the airplane pattern.

Plus-features inside the home which make the price of $16,500 doubly reasonable include the appliances of stove, dishwasher and a d. washer-dryer; beautiful wall-to-wall beige carpeting, attractive paneling in the den (or 3rd bedroom), an over-size kitchen, extra tile in bath, wiring for 220 in both the kitchen and garage, and hardwood floors throughout.

Very good terms are available with a low down; the owner will carry a second trust deed or can be refinanced.

LONG BEACH 12, CALIF., SUNDAY, APRIL 17, 1940 SECTION W

Easter Program to Aid Charity

Bonnets, baskets, and colored eggs. There can be no mistake, it is Easter Sunday.

At the Pacific Coast Club the holiday is being celebrated for the fourth year with a benefit program including a family fashion parade, brunch, children's party and, best of all, the in-person visit of Mr. Easter Bunny himself.

The miniature and quite visible Harvey is played by Ponciano Lachica, a native of the Philippine Islands and member of the Pacific Coast staff since 1936.

Ponci, as he is known to club members, rebelled when first asked to don the fluffy pink rabbit suit.

As the owner of a gold watch awarded to him for capturing a robber at the club in 1940, it is not surprising that he was reluctant to expand his staff duties to include that of a pastel bunny.

COAXING and pleading by staff members combined with his love for children finally outweighed his distaste for the ludicrous costume.

Today Ponci looks forward to his role in the Easter program. He has become so enchanted with his part in entertaining the children that many believe that he actually lives the part.

The annual Easter celebration benefits the Pilot Club International of Long Beach whose major civic service project is support of the local center of the Crippled Children's Society.

Reservations are handled by the Pacific Coast Club.

FAMILIES will gather in the Sunrise dining room at 11 a.m. for a holiday brunch served buffet style. The Paul King orchestra will provide background music.

At 12:30 p.m. entertainment featuring the television spaceman, Captain Zodiac, and his assistant, Nee Mo, the young clown, will entertain everyone with their fast moving comedy magic. They will have surprise gifts for the children.

About 1:30 p.m. the Family Fashion Parade will begin with families from Pacific Coast Club and their sisters, the Los Angeles Athletic Club and Riviera Country Club, joining in the fun.

BEAUTIFULLY decorated baskets containing French champagne and boxes of Easter candies will be presented to the three families judged most attractive. The program will conclude at about 2:30. Peggy Finley will be mistress of ceremonies.

Pacific Coast Club also will serve a special Easter buffet dinner for members and guests from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. An organ concert will be presented in the main lounge during the dinner hours.

The Pilot Club of Long Beach is an organization of executive and professional women dedicated to service. This is the second year the group has co-sponsored the Easter brunch at the club.

Expert Yachtsman Will Tell Experiences

Ira P. Fulmor, well-known Southern California yachtsman, will show his colored films of the 1959 Trans Pacific Honolulu Race at Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's monthly meeting, at the clubhouse, 5437 East Ocean Blvd. Friday at 8 p.m.

Fulmor won the 1953 and 1955 Honolulu races in his "Staghound" and sailed the 1959 race in his 60-foot yawl, the Criterion.

He is the immediate past commodore of the Trans Pacific Yacht Club, the governing body for the races, known as "Trans-pac" in yachting circles. He was commodore of Southern California Yachting Association in 1952.

HIS MOVIES were taken aboard the Criterion and in the islands where he stayed for two months following the races. They include views of the shakedown cruises, Kenny Watts, noted sail maker, aboard, and of the hurricane off the Kona coast where the storm's edge struck.

Mrs. Fulmor, whom he calls his greatest critic and who assisted in the cutting and editing of more than 2,000 feet of film will accompany her husband.

Llewellyn Bixby Jr., a past commodore of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club and director of Trans Pacific, also a veteran of the Honolulu races, arranged the program in cooperation with Thomas F. Knight Jr., program chairman.

COMMODORE Albert Vignola Jr. will officiate at the business meeting preceding the program.

Book Salon Celebrates Anniversary

The second season of the Edna Lillich Davidson Salon series of book, play and music reviews will be celebrated with a birthday luncheon at the Virginia Country Club Thursday.

Fashions by Chrysteens of Long Beach will be modeled during the noon luncheon and music will be provided throughout the afternoon by baritone Paul Ashton Cox, soprano Edna Davidson and concert pianist Leslie Sommerville.

Hostesses will be Meses. Robert S. Clark, Lee Denny, William H. Dovey, Malcolm Epley, Stedman Gould, Reese Hansen, Francis C. Hertzog, Robert McNulty, Edwin T. Melbourne, George C. His film covers the cities and countryside of Portugal, explores its industry, craftsmanship and agricultural endeavors and its people. It will also focus on the Azores and Madeira.

MRS. ARTHUR A. KNOLL, president, will lead the business meeting. Robinson will be introduced by Mrs. Everett N. Morningstar program chairman.

Hollywood Cameraman's Life Is Not All Beer and Skittles

By ILKA CHASE

While I was in Hollywood I had luncheon at the studio with Bill Daniels, the cameraman on Ocean's Eleven, the Frank Sinatra picture I worked in. The view of the man behind the magic eye is provocative.

Daniels shot most of Garbo's pictures in her great days. I said his life since then must have been one long anticlimax. When you've photographed the face of the century, the run-of-the-mill pusses that come afterwards must be dull fare. He said kindly that it wasn't that bad, but I noticed he abstained from enthusiastic nomination of any possible successor.

We fell to talking about a picture in which I had been offered a part some three years ago. The script was a fright, but the picture was to be made in Salzburg and I was mad to do it as I had never been there. "It was purely for the love of travel, I must admit," I said. "I knew the story wasn't good." "You're telling me he said, "I shot it." We laughed remembering the notices which had extolled the scenery and camera work, but observed it was too bad the actors had to get in front of it.

IT OCCURRED to me then that the life of a cameraman is not all beer and skittles. They work for years to become adept in their jobs; they must become intimately acquainted with the intricacies of ever-improving lenses; they must know everything about lighting and how it will create a mood and affect the planes of the faces they are asked to photograph; they must understand how to achieve results that satisfy a director and meld with the art of the cutter; when working with stars they had jolly well better know how to flatter and rejuvenate the star photographically or they're off the job and once they have attained all this they spend the great part of their lives superintending take after take of unmitigated tripe while offering silent prayers that the scene will run through to the end.

It isn't so bad when the actors learn their lines and get through a scene with dispatch, it's also nice, of course if they have talent, but artists do exist for whom retention of the words seems to be no part of the job and this can be quite exasperating after the 27th take.

I WATCHED one young man on the lot—he was I should say about 22—making a scene for a television series. The scene was a lunch counter and his short line was something like "I'm leaving now, Joe, everything's washed up." I watched for quite a time before his steel-trap mind was able to absorb and re-issue this simple statement. However, he's a virile, good-looking kid and he won't be the first one whom lack of talent has catapulted to success.

There was also told of a young lady who exploded when the director told her he wanted her to read a certain speech with a little more enthusiasm. "You're

Douglas Robbins Claims Barbara Storey as Bride

A host of friends from throughout the Southland gathered at Wee Kirk O' the Heather to witness late afternoon nuptials which united Barbara Lynn Storey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luman L. Storey of Chino, and Douglas F. Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. Robbins, Long Beach.

The bride's piquant grace was enhanced by her gown of white peau de soie, designed with long tapered sleeves and modified Sabrina neckline. Alencon lace defined the slender waist and was applied on the fitted bodice. The voluminous skirt was caught at the back in a high bustle adorned with roses, and roses were scattered on two streamers which cascaded to the edge of the wide chapel train. A bow at the back of a delicately latticed crown of peau de soie fastened the tiered bridal veil of lace-edged silk illusion.

MISS STOREY'S attendants were Mrs. Thomas Little, matron of honor; Lynda Bedford, Anna Lou Clark, and Linda Robbins, the bridegroom's sister.

The bridegroom asked Darold Wilson to be best man and James Storey, brother of the bride, to serve as honor attendant. Dan Laxdal, William Bingham and James Kraus seated guests.

AFTER the wedding service the bridal couple received at The Candlelight Inn in Glendale, then began a trip to Mexico City. They have just returned to reside in Los Angeles.

Hers Is a Political Heritage

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Once a high-paid cafe society singer, Mrs. Stuart Symington falls naturally into her new role as wife of a presidential hopeful. She was born into politics.

Not only was Evelyn Symington brought up with in sight of the White House, but her family tree is full of diplomats and statesmen.

While her husband is a Democrat, all of Mrs. Symington's illustrious forebears were Republicans.

Her life has been a fascinating blend of society and politics, mixed with the struggles of business.

At a charity party in New York during the early years of her marriage, Mrs. Symington volunteered to do some singing.

It resulted in an unexpected career as one of the first of the society night club singers. Before she quit, four years later, she commanded a weekly salary of $1,750.

SYMINGTON, then a young businessman not yet turned to politics, claims he was tabbed as a Broadway playboy when he went to watch his wife sing at such fashionable hotel night spots as the Waldorf and St. Regis in New York.

But there's no singing in public any more for Mrs. Symington. "I haven't done it in years."

Instead, she's a back-stopping political wife who avidly reads books, newspapers and magazines, virtually running a clipping service for her husband.

The Symingtons make a distinguished-looking couple. Stuart, 58, 6-foot-2 and ruggedly handsome, is complemented by his attractive, dignified blonde wife, who stands 5-foot-5.

Mrs. Symington, known as "Evie" to her friends, has the warm, throaty voice of a singer, a sense of humor and a dedication to community works.

She believes some sort of community activity is "an absolute must" and even before her marriage devoted time to work in hospitals and for charities. She was on 24-hour-a-day call for Red Cross Motor Corps and Blood Bank duty in World War II.

FOR HER, politics virtually has been part of family life.

She not only spent her childhood surrounded by politicians, but knows what it is to campaign as well. She traveled some 27,000 miles by car and small plane when Symington first ran for the U. S. Senate from Missouri in 1952.

Her father, James W. Wadsworth, an upstate New York Republican, served as a senator for 12 years and later was elected to nine terms in the House of Representatives. Her paternal grandfather had also been a congressman.

Her mother, Alice Hay, was the daughter of John Hay, who served as private secretary to President Lincoln and later was secretary of state under President McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt.

Grandfather Hay was the man who set forth the "Open Door" policy in 1900, calling for equal opportunity for all nations to trade with awakening China.

There are other relatives on the public scene today. Ambassador to Britain John Hay Whitney is Mrs. Symington's first cousin. Her brother, James Wadsworth, also an ambassador, is U. S. representative on disarmament and is now taking part in the Geneva nuclear test ban talks.

It seemed Evelyn Wadsworth was going to leave all this political background behind when she married Yale graduate Stuart Symington in 1924. He was bent on a business career—not politics.

But even their wedding in St. John's Church, across Lafayette Park from the White House, had an historic note. It was attended by the Republican President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

IN THE EARLY days of they lived in an apartment and Stuart went to a mechanics institute two or three nights a week when they lived in Rochester, N. Y., in those early years. "He's been busy like that all his life," she says.

At 36, Symington was wealthy enough to think about retiring, but he's still going strong.

The Symingtons have two sons, Stuart Jr., 34 and James, 32, both lawyers and both married. There are six grandchildren.

The Symington boys were both college age by the time Businessman Symington, head of the Emerson Manufacturing Co. in St. Louis, Mo., turned to government and launched his Senate campaign in 1952.

Symington had the foresight to prevail on both his sons to learn Russian. In 1958, young James went to Russia and caused a stir by singing American folksongs in Russian and playing his guitar nightly for Russians in parks in several Soviet cities.

The Symingtons live in a 5-story Georgetown house, full of Renaissance art and Lincoln mementoes collected by Grandfather Hay in the years of his association with the Civil War President.

The Wild Waves Say

By IOLA MASTERSON
I. P. T. Women's Editor

THERE'S fair party weather ahead with a predicted season high to be reached April 30. That's the night when the annual American Cancer Society benefit dance takes place at Lake-wood Country Club.

'Party High'

In the interests of nipping gossip in the bud we'll issue a warning. Don't come to any silly conclusions in case you've noticed wine-bibbing on the increase among members of Lake-wood - Atlantic Soroptimist Club, sponsors of the big, smart affair. They're gathering interesting wine bottles for table decorations to carry out the flamboyant theme. "A Night in Montmartre," (and naturally they can't ask others to do their work for them!)

"Pierre" (Dr. M. M.) Haskell, master of ceremonies, is wonderful if the French he remembers from World War II days will be sufficient to create the Parisian touch. The reason he wonders is his remembrance of the puzzled expressions on the faces of the liberated Frenchmen in Wernigerode, Germany, in 1945 when he was pressed into service as official spokesman on their releases. It seems they thought the Martians were attacking — but that's another story.

Active supporters of the Cancer Crusade, Marilyn and Bob Bearson (he was chairman of the drive in the Lakewood area last year) will be among those attending with a coterie of friends. Fran and Dr. Len Cowley will have a pre-dance champagne party in their Park Estates home for the 40 people they've made reservations for. Others entertaining friends, we're told, are Dr. and Mrs. Peter Trafas, Corey and Jack Hanstein (he is crusade chairman for Long Beach), Doris Swenson, Dorothy Miller, Marian Alpert and June Dehls.

PSSST. Hey, bud. Got a sure ting fer ya on April 27th. Bet on "Day at the Races." Real class. Out of Los Alamitos Race Track by Philanthropy. Trained by St. Mary's Hospital Guild. S'funny ting how dey woik out. Millie and Frank Vessels invited de guilds-women over to de track Toisday (not Toosday, Hoih, TOISday) to put on da feed bag and chin over strategy. Natch, dey took time out to view da goins on. After all, da quarter nags is runnin' now, y'know. S'help me, I ain't never touted ya on a better day to see 'em den da 27th.

IF YOU ever feel your enthusiasm for California slipping just take a jet flight to the mid-west during the winter is Melinda Bennett's advice. She's been on the L.A. to Chicago run for Continental (winning her permanent berth as a jetliner hostess this month) and says the switch from oil sun tan skies into the teeth of a blizzard, in cat nap time, is a loyalty clincher.

"CASE OF the Happy Advisors" — an un-mystery — will be solved in one evening Tuesday as Marian and Bob Ritner host a thank you dinner with second helpings. The occasion is Marian's Assistance League outgoing president's dinner for her year's advisory board and their wives. Grateful invitations have been extended to Douglas and Helen Newcomb, Burt and Polly Chace, Les and Della Lawson, George and Sally Badenhansen, Matt and Mary Simpson, John and Florence Mead, Paul and Alice Nichol, Elmer Decker and Winifred Campbell (league founder) as well as board members and spouses.

AS LONDON digs out from its first post-war blitz and Paris sinks slowly into the Seine, Europe's gayest travelers mustn't Aw, we're only kidding. But can't you just see those three collegians, Terry Jagerson, Bill McCracken and Andy Andrews, taking the continent apart with their eyes? They expect to be wearing their Seven League boots until midsummer.

FOREIGN travel by flight of imagination over the gourmet route is the deluxe way several couples have been peregrinating everywhere for the past three years. The next dinner table trip will be Saturday with Barbara and Bill Thompson planning the caloric schedule. Others of the exclusive knife and fork club are Grace and Jack Walton, Jonine and Mel Wright, Mary Ann and Dick Walsh and Dorothea and Erwin Miller. Country they'll "eat in" is always a surprise. We'll hint, though. It will be Mediterranean.

'Gourmet Route'

FRIENDS of Marilyn and Leonard Brock are doing a really thorough job of sidewalk superintending the B's swimming pool, now under construction. Everyday, snorkel tubes at the ready, they arrive with that "Not done YET!" look and then, convinced it isn't, settle down to the serious business of giving advice.

ITS BEEN a great vacation for the kids. Especially those "kids" Jane and Dr. Bill Rhorer who have had a family reunion all week long in Phoenix with their respective sisters and brothers who all grew up together, in Marion, Ind. The gang included a sister and brother of Jane's, a brother of Bill's from Marion and another brother of his from Santa Barbara complete with spouses and offspring.

AT THE rate wine tasting parties are growing in popularity, the grape growers may be forced to set out a couple more vines in the other field. Scripps Alumnae are planning one for June 4 and to get in the swing—ah, swing of things the gals will meet at Petroleum Club Monday for luncheon. Among those expected are Nancy Cree (incoming president of the national alum organization, no less), Joyce Paul, chairman of the juice night and buffet dinner, Betty Kesler, Betty Bixby, Marge Conley, and Helen Carter, incoming chairman chairman of the local alums.

Gold Dress and Jewelled Shoes All Part of the Act

If you've seen "Susan and God" at Community Playhouse—or even if you haven't—think you might be interested in some notes on the dramatic clothes Florence Cole wears for her starring role as Susan.

For one scene she dons a pair of Italian evening shoes, hand made, set with aurora borealis stones said to take 48 hours per shoe to be-jewel. With it a formal gown which Florence designed and made from an India sari. The bodice is solid gold cloth—a full 24-carat!

IN STILL another act, she wears a dress of material made in Italy; the finest silk woven into tiny flowers of rainbow colors so lined that each flower is puffed and each is sequined in colors of the flowers.

ONE BIT of wardrobe she hopes never to feature again between now and show's closing next Saturday, however, is a bright green petticoat. One night in the most dramatic scene she lost it! Hook broke. She just sat down, worked the dratted thing off, and kept right on emoting as though it was part of the plot. Co-star Marvin Cloyd, in the scene with her, remained cool and gallant. Takes a brave man not to panic at a time like that!

Exchange Nuptial Rings

Colorful rays through the cathedral window of Belmont Heights Methodist Church and the soft sheen of lighted tapers cast a gentle glow on the wedding ceremony April 10 uniting Miss Dianne Barrett and Terry Barkis, witnessed by 400 friends and relatives of the young couple.

The Rev. Richard Kendall officiated at the service which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hilson Barrett, 387 Orlena Ave., and the son of Mrs. Fred Barkis, 2901 Eucalyptus Ave., and the late Mr. Barkis.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride wore a gown of white eyelet embroidered Swiss organdy over white silk taffeta.

A BALLERINA length veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a crown that matched the gown. A cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and lilies of the valley fell from a white Bible presented to her by her grandfather, Jack Oldham.

Identical gowns of remembrance blue imported Swiss organdy were chosen for the matron of honor, Mrs. James Edson (Judy Ware) and attendants, Mrs. Ronald Ankrom (Linda Bennett) and Mrs. Michael Callan (Shirley Williams.)

Charles Harris was the best man, while ushering duties were assigned to Perry Barrett Jr. and Michael Callan.

A GRADUATE of Wilson High School where she served as president of Phi Gamma Chi, the new Mrs. Barkis received her teaching credential from Long Beach State College. On the 49er campus she was a member of Alpha Phi and Califias, senior women's honorary, and was treasurer of Associated Women Students. She now teaches kindergarten at Edison and Field elementary schools.

Mrs. Terry Barkis

The bridegroom was graduated from Poly High School, attended Stanford University and received his BA degree from Long Beach State College. He is a member of the University Club.

After a honeymoon trip to Carmel, San Francisco and the Bay Area, the couple will reside in Long Beach.

Kit Carey Betrothal Noted

Miss Christopher Carey

As a glowing flower-bedecked candle was passed from hand to hand in the traditional ceremony at Mills College, announcement was made recently of the engagement of Miss Christopher Ann Carey to Thomas Henry Warren.

Kit, as she is known to her friends, is the daughter of Mrs. Palmer Wentworth, 63 59th Pl., and Len Carey of Greenwich, Conn. She is a sophomore at Mills.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Warren, 860 Lees Ave. is in his junior year at UC at Berkeley and is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi and Delta Phi Epsilon, national foreign service fraternity.

THE NEWLY engaged pair was honored during Easter vacation at a family dinner party in the Wentworth home when special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clair F. Poulson, grandparents of Miss Carey; and Lt. (jg) and Mrs. Donald Stone of Orinda, brother-in-law and sister of the future bridegroom.

Both of the young people were graduated from Wilson High School where she was a member of Ami Welfare Club and he was affiliated with Aces, Demos and Key Club and was president of the junior class.

Alice Jacobs Feted at Bridal Showers

Pre-nuptial courtesies complementing Miss Alice Jacobs will continue with a miscellaneous shower being given today by Mrs. Garry Butcher, 1246 W. 19th St. Family members of Miss Jacobs and her fiance, Donn E. Wagner, will attend, including the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Peter G. Jacobs and Mrs. James E. Wagner, both of Long Beach.

Recently Miss Jacobs was honoree at a surprise cocktail party and shower given by past presidents of Immaculata Institute 129, Young Ladies Institute, in the home of Miss Sheila Ryan, 3622 Rose Ave.

After opening her miscellaneous and personal gifts, Miss Jacobs was initiated into the Past President's Club of the YLI at the Oceana Restaurant.

MOVIES registering the bride-elect's surprise were taken when Mrs. Paul Breedlove and Mrs. Bob White asked 27 friends to a surprise party on April Fool's Day in the Breedlove home, 3421 E. 61st St. A yellow and white color scheme prevailed and miscellaneous gifts were presented the bride-to-be who will say wedding vows Saturday in St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

Another courtesy, during which kitchen appliances were given Miss Jacobs, was a brunch in the home of Miss Monica Ryan, 1133 E. Carson St. Co-hostesses were Mmes. Robert McConnell, Robert Heiser and Glen Riggins, and the 21 guests were members and past members of Immaculata Institute 129 and other institutes in the area. Decorations included a bride and bridegroom, wedding rings in pink and white, and pink and white hearts.

Judy Jones Honoree at Bridal Lunch

Delicate pink and white wedding bells, pink roses and parasols set the theme for a recent miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Judy Jones, fiancée of Lewis Schmid of Stockton.

Hostess was Miss Norma Moore who gave the party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Val R. Moore, 1133 Cartagena St.

Gathered to honor Miss Jones, who will be married May 27, were Mrs. E. W. Sheeran and daughter, Mary; Mrs. C. H. Jones, Mrs. Loren Conley and daughter Barbara; Mrs. Lucille Brown Greene and daughter, Rosemary Nielsen; Mrs. Lynn Avery and daughter, Ann; Mmes. Michael Jones, M. M. West, Norma Billin and Judie Fowler. Also Misses Bonnie Wells, Janie Hanstein, Brenda Baines, Sue Mathis, Sally Klaber and Gail Holmes.

This week's "Voice of the Viking" takes a look at assorted student body endeavors in all sections of Long Beach City College. Many people fail to realize that this second largest community college in the nation is actually composed of three separate instructional divisions (each with its own staff, facilities, campuses and student bodies).

General Adult Division student leaders, recently co-sponsors of the standing-room-only lecture appearance of Dr. Margaret Mead, are now focusing their efforts on the big Arts Festival coming up in early June. The highly successful First Long Beach Writers' Conference of last spring is being expanded this year to include art and music as well.

Once again, the GAD will be joined by co-sponsoring groups throughout the Long Beach area in presenting what could become one of the really major community cultural arts festivals of Southern California.

AT THE Business and Technology Division, judges have been named for the 1960 Hobby Show by chairman Margery Sherby of the sponsoring Voksen Club. They will be BTD instructors Beth Doerr, Kenneth Polzin and Mrs. Helen Crawford.

Deadline for hobby entries is this Friday, and the big show itself will be held in the gym April 28. Four cash prizes will be awarded to the winning displays. Assisting on the student committee are Ria Jansma, Georgia Potts, Charlotte Hastings, Lucy Kemerson and Ruth Salvato.

BTD student Phyllis Horn, spring semester president of Theta, attends City College with the assistance of not one, but THREE scholarships. These include grants from the Poly High Ushers' Club, Insurance Women of Long Beach and a recent $200 award from the National Secretaries Association, Queen Beach chapter.

Chi Omegas to Plan Party

AT THE Liberal Arts Division, the Evening LAD Student Body Council members are getting ready for the semesterly Southern California Junior College Extended Day Student Government Association Conference, to convene on the Lakewood campus April 30.

Serving as president of the (stay with us, now) SCJCEDSGA this spring is Jim Ellis of the LAD evening student body. Other Lakewood campus evening student body leaders with convention roles will be Martha Smith, conference chairman; Robert Hanson, parliamentarian; and Phil Putnam, workshop chairman.

ON THE day shift at LAD, the next drama production will be "Rope," the chilling and suspense-filled melodrama by Patrick Hamilton to be presented on the auditorium stage May 19-21.

Lead roles will be played by Ron Hogue (brilliant as Danny in "Night Must Fall" two seasons ago), William Wildman (star of the recent "They Knew What They Wanted") and Tom Puckett (veteran of many major roles at LBCC). Other cast members will be Henry Dankowski, Kit Lewis, James Moran, Pat Ballard and Tim Lassig.

Woman's City Club to Hear College Prof

Dr. Graham C. Wilson, scholar and lecturer on literature and the cultural relationships between the United States and other countries, will address Woman's City Club Friday afternoon. Members of Group 15, of which Mrs. Alice Harper is chairman, will serve luncheon at noon.

Later, he taught at the University of Colorado, Stanford and USC, and at present is professor of English at San Jose State College. He will be presented by Mrs. J. D. Herdman at the conclusion of a business session conducted by Mrs. Lucille E. Swenson, president.

New club members, introduced by Mrs. Marble Wells at last week's meeting, are Mmes. Rosa Richardson, Ethel Benton, Minnie La Bolle, Ron H. Davis, R. D. Quentel, Alla M. Trexel, Mae Martin, Celia Brothers, Olive Ludwick and H. R. Stokes. Life members are Mrs. Helen Loge and Mrs. Milo Potter. Mrs. Arvilla Hesse is taking reservations for a scenic bus trip April 23 to Jungle Land, where circus animals are trained.

tation and staging of the material are brilliantly imaginative and vital.

On a set simple in the extreme, three scenes, a throne-like chair, three reading stands and three high stools, he has created what is indeed a special world, passionate, funny, sad and lyrical.

MY LAST NIGHT in Hollywood before taking the plane, Kendall and Lewis Milestone, who directed Ocean's Eleven, asked me to dine. In view of the fact that Allen Campbell, Charles Brackett, and Charles Lederer, three genuine wits, were guests, quips flew like darts around the table. Ronald Reagan, the President of the Screen Actors Guild, came in for coffee. He had just left a meeting with the producers, but the strike, alas, was still unresolved.

I bade them farewell with regret. The California climate had lived up to its billing during my stay and while I acknowledged that Hollywood is remarkably self-centered there are few communities in which so many antic minds are gathered together. Makes for gaiety.

To Honor Drill Team

Members of the drill team will be honored during the social hour which follows an 8 p.m. meeting Thursday of Degree of Honor Lodge 108 in Machinists Hall. Hazel Spaulding will be dining room chairman.

COMPOSER AND PUPPETS

"A Myselah" written by Bernard Wilets for eight instruments, narrator and puppets, will be performed Friday evening at Long Beach State College.

It is Easter! Old things are passed away—behold, all things are become new! The spring is putting forth her buds, though the flower of yesterday is long since dead. The resurrection from darkness to light concerns not only the Easter story; it is recurring constantly all about us. The darkness of night gives way to the gleam of the stars; the day is new-born with the rising of the sun; the sea languishes at ebb tide, then rushes in anew with every incoming wave. The nests of the birds are being replenished for the new life at Easter time and the little lambs are being born on the green slopes. Easter is a time of new birth for all of God's creations.

AS I have listened to thrilling performances of Brahms' "Requiem" and Wagner's "Parsifal" during this holy season, it has been borne strongly upon me how the inspiration of the Bible has lifted up the souls of these composers, so, though they too are long since dead, we who hear their great music are lifted up into Divine communion. Without this link with the Supreme Creator, music loses its magic to stir the hearts of men.

So long as there is a spring, fragrant with blossom and bloom, just so long will we of the earth strive upward. It is the call of the Spirit and it speaks to every living thing. It is not necessary to know our ultimate status—it is only imperative that we strive and that we strive upward. Music that is inspired carries the souls of men on wings to a nearness to God. Blessed Easter, to my readers.

HALF NOTE: There will be pure inspiration in the singing of the beautiful Mary Costa on Friday night, April 29, when she appears with Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra in the Concert Hall of the Municipal Auditorium, in a Promenade Concert conducted by Johnny Green. This I know, for I have heard her inspired singing on many occasions. Don't miss this concert!

Music From All Parts of World on Recordings

Phonograph records received at the Main Library this week include: "Songs of the World," sung by the Norman Luboff choir; "Polka Around the World," with the Lou Logist Polka Band; "Polish Polka Festival"; "Songs of a Russian Gypsy," sung by Theodore Bikel; "Folk Music of Southern and Northern Italy"; "Mariamba Mexicanas"; "Listen and Learn Japanese"; and "Stephen Foster Songs," sung by the National Boys Club Choir.

Club program chairmen are invited to use the library material for planning special programs. Holders of Long Beach Public Library cards may borrow the recordings.

Imaginative Theater Fare on LBSC Bill

Phi Beta, honorary fraternity of music and speech, will present an unusual program of contemporary music and theater at Long Beach State College Little Theater Friday at 8:30 p.m. Stravinsky's "History of a Soldier," for seven instruments and concert reading, will be given in its complete form for the first time in this area.

Dr. Clayton Garrison, Nat Adler and Robert Chaffee will act out the libretto by the Swiss poet, Ramus.

SECOND WORK on the program will be a "A Myselah" by Long Beach composer Bernard Wilets. Based on a Jewish folktale, it tells the adventures of an arrogant, greedy fellow who dies and goes to the Jewish version of hell.

The music is scored for eight instruments. John Nosches will narrate as the story is enacted by 18-inch puppets handled by Hank Rabey. Puppeteers will work from an open platform; special effects will be achieved by scrims, shadow screens, and complex lighting. Puppets were made by Judith Shafer.

Conductor for the entire program will be LaVoy Halle.

Reservations may be made by telephone with Mrs. Richard C. Wilets, 1848 Palo Verde Ave.

Etchings by Picasso at Art Museum

Ninety-seven Picasso etchings from the Dalzell Hatfield Galleries in Los Angeles will remain on display at Long Beach Museum of Art through April 24.

Picasso executed the entire set of etchings, known as "La Suite Vollard," from 1930 to 1936. Art dealer Ambroise Vollard acquired the plates from Picasso in exchange for paintings by Cezanne and Renoir which the artist wanted for his collection. Many authorities consider the set to be the most important and beautiful graphic work of Picasso's entire career.

The exhibition is available for purchase as a whole, by series or individual prints.

'Diabolique' Tells Love Intrigue

"Diabolique," full-length film with recent Academy Award winner Simone Signoret, will be shown at 3 and 8 p.m. Friday at Long Beach Museum of Art. The French picture, with English subtitles, concerns the diabolical intrigue and love triangle between a schoolmaster, his wife and his mistress.

Tickets will be available without charge at the museum Thursday and Friday.

MODERN CERAMICS

Bluegrey stoneware bottle vases, 18 and 10 inches high, are among 30 pieces of ceramics by Joel E. Edwards on display at Long Beach Museum of Art. The artist strives to introduce more color than is the current practice in his works of high-fired stoneware reduction.

'Alaska' Film Lectures at Five Schools

Narrator for the films will be artist and author Fred Machetanz, a resident of Alaska for the past 25 years and a member of the Polar Society, Arctic Institute of North America and the Explorers' Club.

"Alaska — 49th State" presents the people, industries, scenery, cities and remote outposts of the new state. One sequence shows the first newspaper off the presses after statehood was granted by Congress, along with the riotous celebrations which followed.

Tickets for all performances of the Ramona Outdoor Play in the Ramona Bowl at Hemet are available at the box office and Mutual Agencies. Three weekend stagings are scheduled on Saturday and Sunday afternoons April 23 and 24, April 30, May 1, and May 7 and 8.

Sculptor Claire Falkenstein stands beside her newest work, created of copper and fused glass, which marks entryway to Dallas Conklin's beach front home. Each line is a variation of the U-shape.

Avant-Garde Sculptor Designs for L.B. Home

By ELISE EMERY

In a garage on the peninsula these recent weeks, a lithe, tall young woman, clad in black leotard and blue checkered overblouse, eyes covered by goggles and hands protected by cotton gloves, has hammered copper wire and tubing, shot jets of flame from an acetylene torch, added glowing forms of glass—and raised the neighbors' interest to high pitch.

Last week at a champagne reception in the home of Dallas Conklin, 6311 E. Seaside Wk., the woman, smartly gowned and coiffed, met 100 art leaders of the Southland there to view her work, a piece of architectural sculpture for the entryway of the new Conklin home.

To artists and critics, Claire Falkenstein, top-ranking avant-garde sculptor, explained her thesis: "A new idea must be expressed in a new way. If it is forced into an old form, the idea has no truth, no verity; it is dead."

PURSUIT OF this belief led the tawny-haired, tawny-eyed artist from a teaching position at Mills College and California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco, to a Paris studio ten years ago.

"It was something I had to do. There was really no choice except the choice between life and death. To live, I had to express my ideas in my own way."

In the highly competitive art centers of Europe she won recognition. Today she has studios in Paris, Rome and New York; she has three traveling shows in England, three in France, an exhibit in Germany, is represented in outstanding galleries abroad and in a show at Amarillo, Tex.

Her current interest is the integration of architecture and sculpture.

Miss Conklin, traveling in Europe last summer, saw the artist's work and commissioned her to do the sculpture for a new home on the ocean front.

"When I arrived, I had no preconceived idea of what I would create," said Miss Falkenstein. "I had to get to know Dallas better, to see the house, sense the environment. There is always an intuitive element in art, but there must be self-discipline and discipline of the material, too."

"When the idea comes that integrates the owner's personality, the architecture, and the surroundings, there are several directions it may take. As I work through a piece, it takes on a life of its own; it teaches me and I learn from it; when it is completed, I must get acquainted with it."

The sculpture for the Conklin home, titled "Sign of the Pacific," is more than 10 feet high. From the heat of soldering, the basic copper has taken on a range of subtle shades; silver alloy and brass welds add color notation. Sunlight is captured and transformed in fused glass: ruby red, amethyst, deep blue, amber.

"I BROUGHT glass from Italy, but when I needed more I used bottles from the beach. My studio—the garage—was furnished from materials at hand, too. I brought only my acetylene torch with me. A piece of railway iron was my anvil; neighbors offered hammers; left-over building bricks were my burning area."

The sculptured work is characterized by the "U sign," which for Miss Falkenstein is symbolic.

"The U may be neutral or saturated with meaning. It represents interpenetration, unity, the synthesis of elements into an organic whole, the order of nature. Each end of copper has been flattened, so that each U widens slightly at the ends, just as nature eternally reaches out in growth."

During her Long Beach stay, the sculptor's work was discussed by Michel Tapie of France at four invitational lectures: to Long Beach State College art faculty; at the Robles Gallery in Los Angeles; and in the homes of Dr. Robert Buffum, president of Long Beach Museum Association, and Dr. John Olsen, chairman of LBSC art department.

Now in San Francisco, Miss Falkenstein will go next to New York to do an architectural structure for the Olson Foundation; in June she will begin a commission in Rome for Luigi Moretti.

Floral Demonstration
Mrs. Norma Angel will give a demonstration of artificial flower making at the meeting Thursday of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Long Beach Fire Department. The meeting will be at noon that day in the group's clubhouse, 33rd St. and Pacific Ave.

MOLLY MAYFIELD

Shameful Act of Arrogance

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD: Recently my daughter came home with a very sad story—sad to my wife and me, anyway.

It seems that the principal of the school came into the classroom the other day and proceeded to belittle their English teacher before the whole class.

He insinuated that the teacher was not as well read as some of the students, and openly said he (the teacher) butchered the Queen's English.

How can the students have confidence in their teacher after this? Isn't it shameful?—MR. R.F.C.

DEAR MR. R.F.C.: "Shameful" is all too mild an English word to use. I hope those students know the difference between "a gentleman" and someone who isn't. And in this case there are lots of words that would apply better than "principal," although they might not be in the dictionary.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD: My husband and I are hardly speaking. He gave me a little, silvery gray poodle for my birthday, so I decided to name her Margie, why, I don't know; I simply like the name.

He says it should have a French name such as Petite, or Mam'selle, or Nana, or something doggie. Why can't I call her what I want to? Who is being unfair?—MARJORIE.

DEAR MARJORIE: Certainly your husband is unfair. But you're unfair, too, to expect him to welcome the confusion a Marjorie and a Margie in the same house would cause.

Why not something simply such as "Baby," which he could spell "Bebe" if he chose?—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD: I'm pretty sure my wife is telling me a pack of lies. She'll come in late, saying she has been at the beauty shop when I know all along the shop is closed.

One night last week I hid in the trunk of the car and she came out and drove to an isolated spot and waited for 10 or 15 minutes, then drove to a tavern where she honked the horn several times, but not seeing the person she was looking for, I guess, drove on home.

Oh, yes, on the way she stopped and went in a drug store to telephone, but still made no contact.

Now we have two kids, a girl three and a boy seven months. I consider she's cheating on them and me. But what do I do?—LOVE-SICK FOOL.

DEAR LOVESICK FOOL: Stop making yourself miserable with suspicion. Come out in the open and get at the heart of things. After all, your wife is the mother of the little ones, so I think with the right — and I mean straightforward — approach, you can make her realize this is a sorry time for breaking up the home.—M.M.

Dear Abby Smoke Clouds Happiness

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem. At least it's serious to me. I am married to a man who smokes FIVE PACKS of cigarettes a day. And if he runs out, he searches around for butts in the ash trays and garbage cans like a mad man.

I don't smoke and never have so maybe I can't appreciate what Dave is up against but, Abby, it is driving me out of my mind.

Dave gets up in the middle of the night for a smoke and he has to have one even before he is fully awake. You can't tell me it isn't hurting his health. He laughs at the cancer research reports and says all they prove is that mice shouldn't smoke. How can I stop him without being a nag? — HELEN LORRAINE.

DEAR HELEN: You can't help anyone unless HE wants to be helped. It takes a combination of "will" power, "won't" power and "Supreme" power.

DEAR ABBY: We are an old couple in our 70s. All of our children are married, but now that we aren't able to do much for them any more, they have forgotten all about us.

We have to look elsewhere for someone to help us with our storm windows and jobs like that.

When they come to see us, which is very rare, they usually come about 10 p.m. when we are getting ready for bed. And if they come earlier, they stay only a few minutes so they can go somewhere else for the evening.

Why do children treat their parents like this, ABBY? — LONELY PEOPLE.

DEAR LONELY: Because they don't know better. But when you're gone they will water your graves with their tears. Poor, unfortunate, short-sighted children!

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I left my husband and children because I fell in love with a married man. I thought I couldn't live without him, so I gave up everything I had for him.

But so far he hasn't given up anything for me. He still lives at home, enjoying married life with his family.

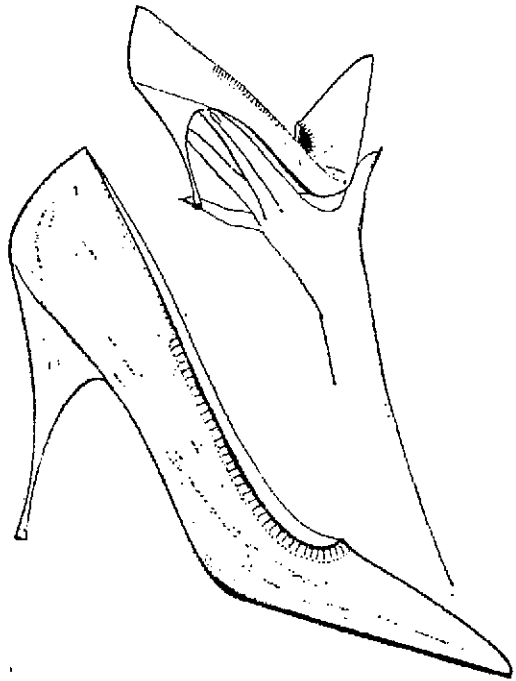

I sit home nights as lonely as can be. He calls me up and tells me how much he loves me, but he doesn't do anything about it. My whole family is against me. I don't have a soul to turn to for help or sympathy. There has been so much scandal and disgrace that I'll never be able to live it down. Please tell me what to do as I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown.—A FOOL.

DEAR FOOL: If your husband will have you, crawl back on your hands and knees. If he won't consider a reconciliation you'd be wise to move to another community and try to start a new life for yourself. And don't invest any more time or hope in married men.

Bill opened the deuce of spades against the slightly optimistic four heart contract. Declarer ducked and Sam won the trick with the king and considered his next play. A spade return would constitute passive defense but South would have been able to make his contract by coming from dummy with a low diamond and eventually getting rid of dummy's third club on one of his good spades.

HOWEVER, Sam is not one for passive defense. He decided that a club return was called for. A low club play would have made things easy for South but Sam led the jack. South could have played the king and made the hand but he could not see the East and West hands. He played low and dummy's queen won the trick.

Now South played the deuce of diamonds from dummy and Sam jumped up with the ace and led a second club whereupon Bill's ace and ten set the hand.

Days of Forty-Niners LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS by PLACER MINER

This week's short account of happenings at Long Beach State takes in two groups which have been around for a long time, one just recently established, and one that is still to come.

We'll take the last first. Sigma Phi Epsilon, a local fraternity which will soon be on campus if plans currently in progress are fulfilled, was at Seaside Hospital yesterday handing out Easter baskets. Some 25 fellows were aided by a like number of girls from Delta Delta Delta, a name well known at State. About 300 baskets were distributed.

Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Soroptimist House, ACE (Association for Childhood Education) presents Dr. Robert Shafer speaking on "Professional Ethics for the Teacher." He is executive secretary of the world's largest city teacher organization in Los Angeles. If last month's enthusiastic turnout comes close to being matched Wednesday, there will be a SRO hung out early, say ACE officials. Mr. Jack Bailey of the harbor district chapter will moderate the program.

FRIDAY evening at 8 p.m. It's another program, but a different kind. American Civil Liberties Union sponsors the Freedom Singers in an hour-long story of the American Negro from the time of his enslavement until the historic 1954 Supreme Court decision.

The Freedom Singers are made up of a chorus of 10, two narrators, and two accompanists. Tickets are 50 cents at the door, and ACLU's treasury will benefit from the proceeds of the group's first public program.

Jack O'Neill is president of the newly-formed group. In closing, a pat on the back to Westminster Foundation's venture in journalism—Crux, a monthly magazine. There was lots of information packed into the copy we received.

Tensions Relieved in Happy Laughter

By ANGELO PATRI

Smiles and open laughter are essential to the healthy growth of all children from infancy upward to the college student. Mothers and teachers do well to use laughter to relieve the tensions that daily routine imposes on their charges.

The baby loves to play peek-a-hoo, pat-a-cake, chuckling all the time he is engaged in such games with his mother. He needs this relaxation as much as he needs his bath. The six-year-old has a rough way of expressing his humor and often gets into trouble about it but if one understands his feeling of need for rough games and his loud hoots of laughter, one can suffer it for the time.

LAUGHTER and tears and tensions are all tied together in an emotional bond. "I didn't know whether to laugh or cry," indicates this and the child who comes to his mother, half crying, half laughing is making an effort to relieve tension caused either by fear or hurt. For the moment he needs to be met with a pleasant, smiling calm and if possible, a family joke.

The teacher is likely to meet this need many a time and fortunate indeed is the one who has a keen sense of humor balanced by sound common sense.

A class in mathematics preceded a class in art and the class entered the art room in a gale of giggles. The experienced teacher said, "Rolly, open the windows wide. We'll do physical exercises to get the accuracy out of your systems." The giggles changed to chuckles — there is a great difference between them — because the math teacher's watchword was "Accuracy and more accuracy." These students had been under a strain and their giggles indicated tensions that had to be released lest a worse state follow.

IN THE OLD days when rigid classroom discipline was the order of the day the inexperienced teacher often had trouble with giggles. Now they are likely to occur only after a session of strained concentration. This must be relieved in the way the teacher knows best.

These giggles often annoy mothers of younger children. They indulge in gales of causeless laughter that irritate grown people who do not understand the need the youngsters have for such relief. Laughter is therapeutic for people of all ages and it is especially valuable to children.

Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Sheriff 'Books' Recipe; Locks Roast in Foil

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L. P. T. Food Editor

Meet the Sheriff!!! ... 'cause once you do, you'll never forget him—and the memory will be a pleasant one. That even goes for those with whom today's Chef of the Week, Sheriff Peter J. (Pete) Pitchess, has "official" business.

He knows no stranger—has a fashion for easing one's self consciousness—yet, he can be adaptably persuasive. He does, however, find it important to be impersonal part of the time. You see, he presides over some 3,800 employees in the fifth largest sheriff's office in the United States.

PITCHESS was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, and into a "traveling" family; but he eventually stayed-put long enough to capture a bachelor of law degree from the University of Utah. He was an authoritative debater on his high school team and lettered in basketball, football and baseball in college. Starting U. U. in 1931, he graduated with his law degree in 1940, but in the interim he had a "million jobs"—mostly in the copper mines in Bingham, Utah. He also played professional baseball on the Bingham team.

With his degree came an appeal from the FBI for help, and for the next 12 years, he did just that. From New York, to Washington, D. C., to Florida, to Texas, and to Los Angeles, he traveled. Realizing full well that moving from pillar to post was not the best for two growing sons, he resigned and accepted the position as chief of security for Richfield Oil.

DURING the two years which followed, former "Chef of the Week" Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz became completely impressed with his performance. He petitioned the president of Richfield for his release. It eventually was granted, and in 1953 Pitchess became undersheriff of Los Angeles County. Upon Biscailuz' retirement, he became full sheriff.

His logic, coupled with his progressiveness, have wrought changes worth noting. The former "mortuary-appearing" sheriff automobiles have been brought out-into-the-open, complete with black 'n' white paint job, for all to see and slow down before. An industrial relations department has been set up with a crew of officers who work with both labor and management should a strike occur or a picket line be formed. "No laws must be broken and no physical destruction take place," say they.

A SUPPLEMENTAL search-and-rescue or lost-and-found department has been inaugurated complete with three helicopters; and staff meetings, attended by the seven major division chiefs are held each Wednesday. They thoroughly discuss all problems pertinent to an individual department and the over-all ones, as well. It might be called the "problem blending department."

A skilled rider, our "chef" owns three horses and a mule. Is a member of the Visitadores Rancheros of Santa Barbara and other riding groups. He shoots a tangible 18 at golf and keeps his "figger" by playing backyard basketball with his teenage sons.

His food choice is beef and here's the way he likes it:

PRIME BEEF CLOD ROAST
1 7-lb. prime beef clod roast.

Place roast on large piece heavy duty aluminum foil. Oil meat thoroughly, and season to taste with salt, pepper and paprika. Close foil tightly around roast. Place in pre-heated 350 degree oven. Roast at 20 minutes per pound. About 30 minutes before roast is done, tear open foil and allow roast to brown.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Youth Wants Limits Placed on Behavior

By MYRTLE MEYER
ELDRID

Both in the field of criminal law and in the home, attitudes toward punishment have gone through several phases. Before the 20th century a child had no rights and was completely at the mercy of the parents. Parents were strict, demanded complete obedience and used any method of punishment their own emotions inspired.

But the "day of the child" dawned and with it a sense of the indecency of making the child the slave of the parents' whims or demands. Educators, philosophers, parents in general were ripe for the ideas that a child had a right to self-expression, even if this ran counter to the wishes of the parents.

The exuberance of this idea, exemplified in education by schools which encouraged self-expression, ran its slow course. The absurdity of allowing a child to do just as he pleased, soon became apparent, even to the most fanatical converts.

Leniency was no virtue, any more than strictness had once been. Parents, being human, had long before refused to allow their children self-expression and well it is that they did.

BUT IT TOOK years of such foolishness to convince everyone that children wanted to be guided and limits set to their behavior. If they could do as they pleased, it was no fun doing it. Parents are needed as necessary brakes to a child's uncontrolled nature.

Even if a child grumbles a little inevitably he is happy to say, "My parents won't let me," or, "I can't do that." This takes the burden from him and puts it where it belongs—on the parents who is capable of bearing it. Children do not have the experience or the judgment to make the decisions called upon them to make, they need older and wiser heads.

THE QUESTION of punishment has not come quite full circle since the days when it was smart to be strict. But parents are again taking upon themselves the necessity to control their children and to punish undesirable behavior.

Many have so long been steeped in the idea of leniency that it isn't easy for them to again mount the throne of authority; but they are coming to it.

Spanking is once again permitted by "authorities" though they counsel moderation in punishment; just as in legal circles, harsh punishments and death sentences are frowned upon for even vicious law-breakers.

The parent can now act as she feels she should act when the child deserves punishment—without feeling the weight of criticism and guilt she once felt.

Both three and four-bedroom homes with family rooms are on display from $16,350 to $16,950, with FHA 30-year financing.

Realty Honors Given Two Men

Delwin M. Clawson, Mayor of Compton and Arnold Robles, recreation director of Lynwood, have received outstanding awards from the Compton-Lynwood Board of Realtors. Mayor Clawson was named Mayor of the year for his wide activities in civic and church affairs for many years. A distinguished service award was made to Robles for many activities aiding both youth and music groups in that city.

Westmont Homes Previewing Today

A complete selection of both 3 and 4-bedroom and family room plans will be available today at George M. Holstein and Son's Westmont development, where the builder is previewing the latest unit of the homes.

All five of the Westmont model homes will be open today, Easter Sunday, sales agent Tom Key assured. The new unit will feature the popular homes at the same price range from $16,360 to $16,950, Key added. Westmont down payments start at $950 with FHA 30-year terms being offered.

ALL THE WESTMONT homes include the big open family kitchens or family rooms with tile eating bars, mural in family room area, sliding glass doors, paneling, silent light switches, luxury baths, and fireplaces. Forced-air heating and built-in miracle gas kitchens with choice of custom cabinet finish have also been popular with the nearly 200 Long Beach area buyers who have purchased in the initial unit.

The Westmont model homes are located a few minutes from the Pacific Coast

Hwy., Seventh St. intersection and can be reached by driving East, past the College, down Garden Grove Blvd. to Bolsa Chica. The models are on Bolsa Chica off Garden Grove Blvd.

Las Vegas Wedding, Honeymoon Provided Couple by Eastgate

Seaman Robert Connell of the USS Turner Joy stationed at Terminal Island, and Trudy Lettner, attractive German-born divorcee, fell in love and decided to get married this month at the famous "Little Church of the West" in Las Vegas. In anticipation of the event, they paid a visit to Eastgate, popular new Garden Grove residential community, to look for the home of their dreams. While there, they registered for a free vacation trip being offered by the developers to a lucky couple visiting Eastgate that week.

People in love are lucky, they say, and the young couple won the trip—an expense-paid holiday in Las Vegas! So last week Bob and Trudy were flown to the resort city where they were married in the church they had chosen and spent their honeymoon in the famous Tropicana Hotel as guests of the Eastgate management.

EASTGATE PLAYS CUPID

Seaman Robert Connell of the USS Turner Joy and his bride, Trudy, leave the wedding chapel of the famed Little Church of the West in Las Vegas following their marriage there last week while on a visit to the resort city as winners of an expense-paid trip sponsored by the Eastgate residential development in Garden Grove.

With 18 of the 20 units of homes already sold and no more land available for additional homes, scores of families are visiting Eastgate to sign up for the remaining homes still available, McFarland said.

Wall-to-wall carpeting, deluxe built-in gas range and oven, and Formica bath vanities with wall mirror are added features in many of the Eastgate homes.

FINANCING TERMS on the homes are liberal with down payments as low as $295 plus $90 costs and modest monthly payments without due dates or balloon payments. Five furnished model homes are open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Eastgate main entrance on the corner of Knott and Chapman Aves. in Garden Grove, just west of Highway 39.

WINNER CONGRATULATED

Robert C. Westmyer, vice president of Rex L. Hodges Realty Co., is shown congratulating C. O. (Doc) Givens, manager of the firm's North Long Beach office, on his receiving the Long Beach Board of Realtors 1959 Multiple Listing Trophy which was recently awarded Givens by the Board of Realtors.

Capturing awards for outstanding sales ability and community work is becoming a habit with C. O. "Doc" Givens, manager of the Rex L. Hodges Realty Co., North Long Beach office. Givens' latest triumph was to receive the Long Beach Board of Realtors Multiple Listing trophy and he was given hearty congratulations by Robert C. Westmyer, Hodges vice president.

Givens earned the award by producing the highest dollar volume of multiple listing sales of the members of the Long Beach Board of Realtors for the second half of 1959. Westmyer said: "A large portion of Givens' sales volume was attributed to the company guaranteed sale and short term loan programs, which helps families transfer the equity in their present home to a larger home of their choosing without necessarily investing additional capital or increasing the size of their monthly payments."

WESTMYER SAID that in 1958 "Doc" Givens was

Accountants Meeting Set

The Long Beach Chapter of the National Assn. Of Accountants has invited William M. Berry to speak on "Profit Improvement Through Management Controls," at a dinner meeting Wednesday, at Lafayette Hotel.

Berry is manager, management controls department, Peat, Marwick, W. M. BERRY Mitchell & Co., CPA firm of Los Angeles.

According Mr. Berry, aiding the executive in his decision making responsibility results from identifying problems associated with activities not measuring up to realistic and attainable goals.

Effective management control requires a strong belief in an economic system on the profit motive with the supposition that all decisions and activities have objectives related to either immediate or future profit improvement.

By 1980 Orange County will have a population of 3,100 per residents square mile—a 400 per cent increase over 1960—and will add a city of 65,000 persons each year during the 60's.

That's the prediction made by Richard Taylor, division manager, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., at a Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce luncheon devoted to a progress report on Orange County.

Taylor was one of five speakers from the Orange County area who discussed growth patterns before members of the Los Angeles Chamber's industrial development committee.

TELEVISION LOG OF THE SUNDAY INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM, LONG BEACH, CALIFORNIA

Religious Theme Dominates Dial

By TERRY VERNON

Easter Morning bursts forth in all its glory with a profusion of religious telecasts and the theme prevails throughout the day all over the dial.

Divine services begin at 8 a.m. on (2) with an hour-long Solemn Pontifical Mass from Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D.C. Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the U. S., will be celebrant, choir will be from Seminary of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. This will be the first Easter service in the recently completed national shrine.

Also from 8 to 9 a.m. on (4) will be a COLORCAST of the Easter High Pontifical Mass from St. Peter in Chains Cathedral, Cincinnati. A 615-voice choir will sing.

FROM 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., channel (11) will televise the 40th annual Hollywood Bowl Easter Sunrise Service. Big names in the musical world will join Art Linkletter, Bill Welsh and the Rev. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, as featured personalities at this year's service.

KTTV has scheduled the special delayed showing of the Bowl services at 8:30 a.m. as a more convenient hour for Southland viewers. Actual Bowl service began at 4:45 a.m.

Back to (2) again at 9 a.m. for the Protestant Easter Festival Service from the National Cathedral in Washington. Cathedral choir of men and boys will be heard on hour show.

From 10:30 to 11 a.m., channel (4) presents "Frontiers of Faith," featuring "From the Dark Source," drama with an Easter theme in which a young Hungarian freedom fighter who has lost everything finds meaning for his life in the act of communion.

At 11 a.m. channel (11) takes the spotlight with the Great Churches of the Golden West telecast live from First Presbyterian Church, Santa Monica. Sermon theme will be: "I Believe in the Life Everlasting," last in a series by Dr. Robert Palmer on the Apostles' Creed. Chancel choir will present two anthems accompanied by organ, trumpets and timpani.

CHANNEL (2) comes into the foreground from noon to 12:55 p.m. with a Biblical drama on the CBS Television Workshop. Title is "Tobias and the Angel" and story revolves around a blind man of 600 B.C. who has fallen on evil days after knowing wealth and social position. He recalls that once he had loaned some money to a friend in a distant part of the country, so he sends his son, Tobias, to collect the debt. The Archangel Raphael, disguised as a porter, appears and accompanies the lad on the exciting journey.

The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Protestant Episcopal bishop of California, will offer his traditional "Easter Meditation" on the Bishop Pike program from 12:30 to 1 p.m. on (7).

Channel (11) takes over again with a big telecast from 1:15 to 2:45 p.m. featuring the annual Beverly Hills Easter Parade. It'll be a colorful affair with nine bands, motorcycle units, equestrian groups, drill teams and drum and bugle corps. As usual, there will be plenty of celebrities and their families. Bill Welsh will handle the commentary and Art Linkletter will be grand marshal.

FROM 3 to 3:30 p.m., channel (7) will present a dramatization of the imaginary dialogue between Pontius Pilate and Jesus Christ. Entitled "To Win a Crown," the feature is adapted from George Bernard Shaw's preface to "On the Rocks." Hurd Hatfield will appear as Pilate and Charles Hohman will portray Christ in the dialogue that was written as if Christ had put up a defense at the time of his trial.

Then, winding up the specials for the day, from 8 to 9 p.m. channel (4) will present the "Easter Evening Hour." Victory Jory will narrate the program of traditional Easter music and ballet from Salt Lake City. Elaine Malbin will be soloist and program will feature the Utah Symphony Orchestra, Virginia Tanner Dancers, University of Utah Corps de Ballet, University of Utah Mixed Chorus of 200 and world-famous 375-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

BEAVER, DENNIS AND DANNY'S GIRL FIND PRODUCTION 'EGGS-ACTING' WORK

The Kids—200 of 'em—Taking Over Chevy Show Colorcast

By TED KREC
TV and Radio Editor

Without a doubt, the merriest "egg roll" in the history of Easter will be colorcast at 9 tonight on channel (4) when 200 professional small fry take over the "Chevy Show."

Unique feature of this "bunnycast" is that for the first time on TV kids are going to handle the whole works—and when I say the whole works, I mean it! The all-children motif will not be limited to the performers; announcing will be done by the young folk and so will commercials! Even the cross-plug at the end of the show when Loretta Young's niece, Anita Montalban—Ricardo's daughter—will remind viewers that her aunt's program follows.

ENTITLED "Children Are People?", the historic program will be co-hosted by three young TV stars: Jerry (Beaver) Mathers, Jay (Dennis the Menace) North and Angela Cartwright, television daughter of Danny Thomas.

The small performers—all under 12 years of age—will appear in a succession of scenes. Biggest of all is a circus number that will take up half the show. Others will include a day at the playground and a sequence called "Big Little World," which will present some top talent of the younger generation. A boys' choir number leads into an Easter finale to round out the show.

BUT WHAT'S it like—producing a show with all juveniles? Isn't it a headache? Not at all, says the producer, bachelor Tony Charmoli, who is quick to point out that the kids are a lot less trouble than their adult counterparts. They're gems in rehearsal, whizzes at memorizing lines and never argue about the script!

The only trouble Tony has had is in getting them to quit. This posed such a problem that one time the mother of one of the performers had to call Daddy to the studio in order to get Junior to go home!

Role for Morgan

Harry Morgan, the sour-faced neighbor of the defunct "September Bride" TV show, has been signed to star in a new situation comedy series tentatively titled "Pete and Gladys."

Sponsor Found

A sponsor has been found for the "Barbara Stanwyck Theater" which will make its debut on NBC-TV next fall. The actress will appear in four of every five half-hour segments.

TV's Happy Family Splitting Up

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—After six long, happy years together, the Jim Anderson family is splitting up. By about July 1, all of them—mother, father, two daughters and son—will be going their separate television ways.

"Father Knows Best," the Robert Young-Jane Wyatt family situation comedy which is one of the best loved, most respected shows in television, joins "I Love Lucy" in TV's limbo. Like "Lucy," it will stay around in repeats and re-runs, but the actors and crew will move on to fresh, if not greener, pastures.

The decision to wind up the series came from neither net-choice to preside over "Woman's" forthcoming consideration of "The Troubled Teens."

She is the wife of an investment broker and has two sons. One will be graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and almost immediately married in June. The younger boy attends an eastern private school and is a promising music student.

Because of her long association with "Father Knows Best," Miss Wyatt invariably responds to questions about her family with: "Do you work nor from sponsor, but from Young and his production partner who decided that six years were enough. Again like "Lucy," the first re-runs will take place in prime evening time next season.

JANE WYATT

"I HAVE MIXED feelings about it," confessed Jane Wyatt, who has played Margaret Anderson, wife and mother, for so long. "I do know that I didn't want to do another series. It would be impossible to top—even to equal—'Father Knows Best.' We've had perfect production, fine scripts, and a wonderful working relationship."

Miss Wyatt, in New York briefly to appear as hostess on the April 28 CBS daytime special, "Woman," thoughtfully sipped a pre-luncheon glass of clam juice and reflected on her recent acting career.

"Six years, working five days a week from 7 in the morning until at least 7:30 at night, sometimes later," she recalled. "It has been tiring, and one result from the pressure has been that your social life suffers—if that's important to you. Weekends you rest up."

"I found that I was seeing fewer and fewer people, and beginning to live too small a life. And just because our working hours have been so long."

NEXT SEASON, Jane would like to pick up where she left off before the popular CBS series started.

"I'd like to do a Broadway show—of course," she said. "I'd like to do some dramatic shows on TV. And motion pictures."

As a woman with two families, both highly respectable, Jane Wyatt was a logical mean my personal family or the other one?"

The other one consists of Lauren Chapin, who has been growing up on the show and is just now emerging as a teenager, Elinor Donahue and Billy Gray.

"WE ALL HAVE had an extraordinarily close relationship on the show," said the actress. "People always are asking me if I don't really feel like a mother to them after playing their mother for so long. The answer is that I don't. I feel more like an aunt—someone who can talk freely with them, enjoy them—but someone who does not have any real responsibility for them."

While the long-playing series is a family situation comedy, it is not a burlesque of American home life. Father—Robert Young—has not been portrayed as a bumbling idiot, the children are identifiable and so are the family's problems.

"That has been one of the problems of the show," said Miss Wyatt. "You'd think that as the show grew older, we would have been able to turn the shows out with greater ease. Actually, it has been growing more difficult as the time went on—finding new situations, exploring new areas."

Maria Schell Walks Where Garbo Trod

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Maria Schell is too polite to say so, but obviously she feels that anyone who wonders if she has qualms over portraying a role indelibly identified with Greta Garbo by a certain generation that shall be undated doesn't know actresses.

"It is a wonderful part in a very fine comedy that has something to say," the pretty Austrian-born, Swiss-citizen star said of her latest TV project, the title role in "Ninotchka."

"I admire Miss Garbo greatly, but it is getting now to be quite a long time since she made the motion picture. I know that the picture still is shown from time to time on your own television screens, but there must be countless thousands who never have seen the movie at any time.

"FOR ONE, I never have seen it. Now, I am glad of that. I have freedom to play the part my own way without any ideas about Miss Garbo's interpretation.

"And, you know, it seems to me that this story about a strictly trained Russian woman functionary whose first experience out of the Soviet Union is a trip to Paris is more apt today than it was when it was first written. Because now you have all of these Russian personalities, including women, making trips out of their country to many other countries for the first time.

"I think people who see our television version will think that this story now is very timely. But, of course, we do not change anything to try to make it have current political significance. It is just a little love story."

ABC presents "Ninotchka" Wednesday, 8:30-10 p.m., on (7).

THIS IS not Miss Schell's first TV experience in risking comparison with a notable screen portrayal. Last season she was the heroine in that famous two-part telecast of Hemingway's "For Whom The Bell Tolls," a role long identified with Ingrid Bergman. Miss Schell had no reason to regret that job.

"I do not think people make such comparisons as often as you might expect," she remarked. "An actress brings her own personality and skills to a role. After all, she is not trying to imitate the way someone else played a part. If you have enough to offer, you are accepted for your own work.

"I really do not give this sort of a thing a thought unless someone brings up the question. When I am working, it is just me and what I can do with the assignment I have. Nothing else matters."

Miss Schell has grown fond of working in the United States since she first came here for the movie version of "The Brothers Karamazov" some three years ago.

What Can Viewers Expect Next Fall?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What's in store for TV viewers next season?

A good man to ask is Tom McDermott. This bright fellow, who looks like a Madison Ave. Red Bttons, has been responsible for as many top shows as anyone in TV. First as TV buyer for a leading ad agency and now as seller for Four Star Productions, he has viewed the trends from both sides of the fence.

With the network programming pretty well set—sponsors do their fall shopping early—McDermott paints this picture of the 1960-61 season:

1. A sharp turn toward situation comedy.

2. Just about as many westerns, but fewer new ones.

3. A slight decline of the private-eye epics.

4. Fewer dramatic shows and specials.

5. Scant hope for more varied programming, including better public service shows.

"The trend toward situation comedy shows is marked, but inexplicable," said the transplanted New Yorker. Four Star itself has at least two new ones.

"Otherwise the Congressional investigations and other criticisms of TV has brought little change in programming. If anything, the situation is worse today. The trend has been for the networks to gain more and more control over their shows. This creates more of a monopoly situation than before, so that three men virtually dictate what is seen on the nation's TV."

"THE NETWORKS" volunteering—after FCC pressure—to set aside a half-hour of prime time weekly for public service shows will not improve matters, McDermott said. He observed that when network A announces Sunday at 10:30 for its public show, networks B and C move their big shows to oppose it, figuring to pick up apathetic viewers.

"Most public service shows are dull," the executive said bluntly.

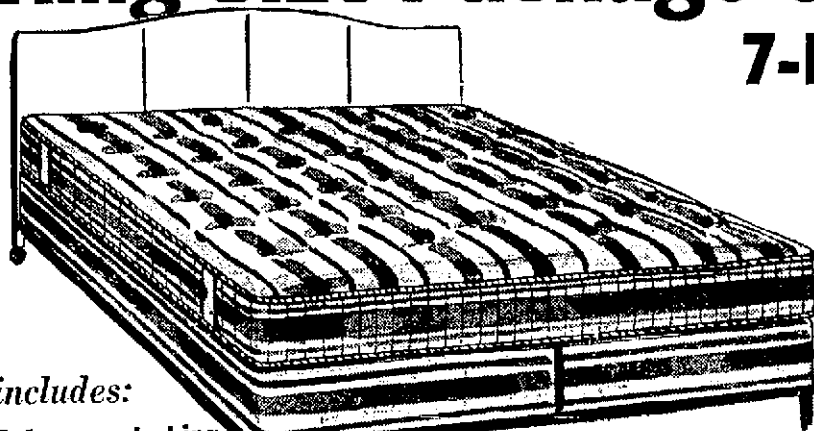

"There is no reason why public service shows can't be interesting."

Betsy IS Nicest Lady!

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Isn't she the nicest lady?" said my wife.

"I don't know," I said. "I haven't interviewed her yet. What makes you say she is? Have you met her?"

"I see her on television, and I can tell. She's a lovely lady."

You know, that's absolutely right. I found out the easy way—by having a leisurely lunch with her. The name is Betsy Palmer when she's acting on television or appearing on the regular panel of "I've Got a Secret" on CBS-TV.

SHE WAS BORN Patricia Betsy Brunck, in East Chicago, Ind. Her father came here at 18 from Czechoslovakia. He's an industrial chemist. Her mother founded the East Chicago Business College 36 years ago ("even before she met Daddy") and she still runs it and teaches.

Although Betsy Palmer says "I'm just Betsy a Hoosier," by virtue of being born just over the Indiana state line, she is the only woman in history to be named "Man of the Year" by Sons of Indiana in New York. They had the title lying around ready for annual disposition, and that year, 1958, they knew where they wanted to bestow it. On Indiana son previously so honored was the late Wendell L. Willkie.

"I kept saying to them, 'I don't know why'—but they were proud of me," she said. "They gave me a gold bracelet with 'Man of the Year' inscribed on it; but it also says 'Talented Daughter of Indiana' under my name."

Miss Palmer's well-scrubbed look and natural charms keep jumping from panel to play (the next drama for her will be "The Withered Look of Summer" on the U.S. Steel Hour June 1) but between all this TV work she is a demon housekeeper and cook for her husband, Dr. Vincent J. Merendino, obstetrician and gynecologist.

DOESN'T THE NATURE of his work tend to keep her up all hours of the night with his comings and goings? "Yes," she said, "but then sometimes I keep HIM up all hours because of this crazy business I'm in."

Miss Palmer is a chatterer who can, and does, listen; she likes jokes and gossip, and she puts on no airs; she likes to cook complicated Italian dishes, and she has onions and things hanging from her kitchen ceiling over in New Jersey; she doesn't mind blurting out her age (33) or her height (5-feet-8) or her opinions ("We had a doctor in East Chicago who looked like you—his bedside manner was kind of gruff." "Basically, anybody who can read can cook.")

She was altogether charming. And she paid for the lunch. What more can you ask?

Ask Funds to Test UHF

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has asked Congress for money to build two ultra-high frequency (UHF) television stations in New York to find out whether UHF TV will work in big cities.

One station would be located atop the Empire State Building and another about 15 miles north.

Under the plan, disclosed in Congressional testimony made public, the FCC would supply about 100 UHF sets, more advanced than those now on the market, to homes and apartments scattered strategically throughout the New York metropolitan area.

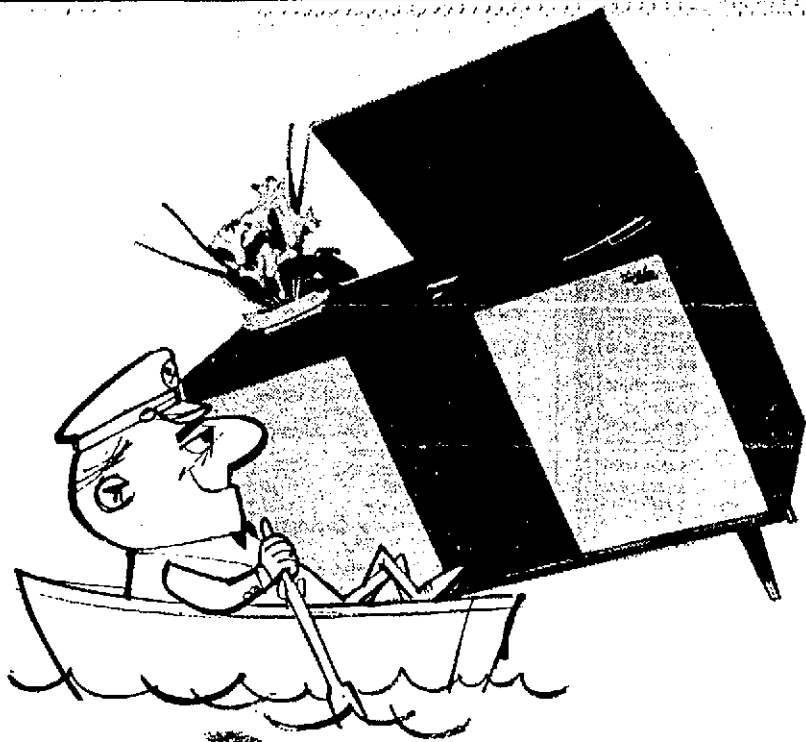

Viewers would compare UHF reception with that of existing very high frequency (VHF) stations.

The proposed experiment would cost $2,250,000 and run for two years. The TV networks would supply programs for the UHF stations.

The FCC told a House appropriations subcommittee the project would help determine whether unused UHF channels are capable of providing a nationwide television service.

Forms Own Firm

John Smith, star of TV's "Taramie" series, has formed an independent company, Carma Productions, and acquired film rights to "The Last Stockade," which he will produce as a movie next year.

Don't miss the BOAT!

Stereo is here to stay

And if that's a secret, it's the worst-kept one in history! Just look at the rising ratio of stereo-to-monaural sets (and record albums) being sold today! Yes, stereo is here to stay... but that doesn't mean you should rush out and buy before investigating the market thoroughly. You really ought to compare the best sets side by side, and the logical place to start is a well-stocked music store. At Humphreys, you can take advantage of easy, "instant" shopping and see them all at one time and place.

Not the cheapest... but the best!

We at Humphreys Music Company believe we have the best self-contained stereo instrument to be found anywhere. It's not the cheapest (you can find that kind in dime stores now) but it's the most economical... and the best value-per-dollar bargain today! We mean, of course, the Fisher 420 Custom Electra Stereophonic Phonograph (above) or the Model 440 with AM/FM radio. It's the best thing we've seen, and we've been in the stereo business since it was in knee pants.

FISHER STEREO AT HUMPHREYS $55 DOWN

What makes Fisher so good?

Superior design and construction are quite naturally demanded of the Fisher Radio Corporation. Fisher makes 1) precision stereo components for audio experts who build their own extensive systems; and 2) a full line of magnificent consoles and stereo systems priced as high as $2,795. Yet this same Fisher know-how is yours in the economy set above and the slightly-higher Coronet Provincial (right). You enjoy top quality and performance at budget prices!

The real "inside" story

The "Custom Electra" model 420, shown at top, has 70 watts of peak power to reproduce any sound from a whisper to full auditorium level... two separate 3-way speaker systems... imported Garrard 4-speed auto. record changer... and it's available with extremely sensitive AM-FM radio! Many more extra-value features!

Sheep Get Fat Doing Fire Duty

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Only in Crazyville, U. S. A., will you find a flock of fire-fighting sheep who double at working in movies and television shows.

Sounds zany, but the woolly brigade can be seen any day at Revue-Universal International Studios, lounging around the back lot.

Five-hundred strong, the sheep are imported from a Bakersfield ranch each spring to crop the tender young grass shoots along the studio's slopes and hillsides.

A BASQUE shepherd tends the flock which is free to roam over some 50 acres of scenic Southern California real estate.

Their principal service is to prevent brush fires.

Capt. Joseph Karol of the Los Angeles County Fire Dept. is one of those in charge of the sheep. He says they are doing a fine job, and have a spotless record in fire fighting on the lot.

"See, they graze here for three months every year," Karol explained, "and by doing that they keep the grass chewed down real close. This keeps the hillsides photogenic. If it weren't for them we'd have to burn the hills ourselves during the dry season to prevent fires."

"Now if the lot was all blackened by the burning, the studio wouldn't be able to use its own facilities for movies. They'd be forced to go somewhere else for location sites."

"ONCE IN A while when a script calls for a flock of sheep, they just herd this bunch up and run 'em in front of the cameras. It works out very nicely for all sides."

Only serious drawback to the arrangement is the effect on motorists driving the Hollywood Freeway.

"He'll go far—he likes the same TV shows I do."

Success Formula: Respect

NEW YORK (NEA)—What is there about "Have Gun, Will Travel" that makes it liked, even by die-hard anti-western-show fanatics?

Richard Boone, the star and guiding spirit, thinks it's a question of respecting the actors.

"That's the first step," he says. "A program that doesn't use good actors and respect them isn't going to be very good. And I must admit that a majority of TV series are that other kind—the star is just after the money."

One way an actor is shown respect is to give him enough rehearsal time. Boone says that "Have Gun, Will Travel" adheres rigidly to a schedule—one day of rehearsal, three days of shooting — which offers more rehearsal time than most series.

"I HAD to lie down on the floor in front of the producer's desk," he says, "to get that schedule. I really did. I stayed there on the floor until he agreed to give me that full rehearsal day."

RICHARD BOONE

Boone is bitter about crit-ics who lump all westerns together and knock them as a class.

"Have Gun, Will Travel," he says, "is as hard a job of acting as that Lincoln play I did on Broadway or any-thing else."

OUR COVER

Easter is a time of joy, a time of praise and renewing, a time of great peace within the soul of man . . . whatever may be the ultimate word to describe the day of the risen Christ . . . the symbol is the same for each one who touches the garment of the Saviour in Easter prayer. A modern pundit has said that one picture can tell the story of 10,000 words. And so it is with the serenely beautiful cover illustration with which Southland is pleased to pay tribute on this day of jubilation throughout all Christendom. In this simple but devotional photograph Don Knight has assembled the Easter elements—the word, the colors and the light of peace, compassion and purity.

Ron's giraffe is happy to double as clothes horse.

money and raisin' kids. Unless we're careful, these are the activities that start raisin' the blood pressure.

One of the things we've got to remember is to train the kids while they're young.

The little giraffe clothes tree you see pictured here with NBC's young television actor Ronald Scott Williams is one of the best training devices you ever did see.

Any inexperienced amateur can easily build the clothes tree when he (or she) uses the full size pattern. All you need do is trace the full size pattern on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. Painting is easy, you simply trace the giraffe's features such as the eyes, nose and spots on the tracings. The pattern lists the required materials (scrap wood is all you need) and gives easy-to-read directions which any one can understand.

To obtain the full-size giraffe clothes tree pattern No. 113 send 50 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Pattern Dept., 15155 Saticoy St., Van Nuys, Calif.

are installing Sun-Lite Pools

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT you would like to own a swimming pool of your own custom tailored with all the luxury, beauty, fun, entertainment and pride that comes with pool ownership? Certainly you have, so has everyone who owns their home. Like many you probably have investigated the cost and either given up the idea or felt the pressing demand of the necessities has left you in a position where a pool would become more of a liability than an asset. Until now a pool has truly been a luxury when priced between three and five thousand dollars. The average pool company has advertised pools from $1995 through $2600, however the extras which have to be bought to complete them usually cost from $1000 to $2000 additional. We at Sun-Lite Pools have been more than usually concerned about this problem, for like you we have to work hard for our money. In the background of the pool industry Sun-Lite Pools has been quietly developing a production method to make possible to offer a beautiful swimming pool completely installed, ready to use, in all popular sizes, constructed of steel reinforced concrete with the sensational vinyl finish, all copper plumbing, diatomaceous earth filter, beautiful pastel concrete coping, surface skimmer, chrome plated brass ladder, colorful blue and white polyethylene safety line. All completely installed and fully guaranteed. (No electrical hook-up.) Compare these sizes and prices.

SUN-LITE'S TREMENDOUS POOL VALUE IS ATTRACTING BUYERS FROM THROUGHOUT SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TO OUR ONE AND ONLY EASY TO REACH LOCATION.

WITH ALL THE CLAIMS MADE BY OTHERS in the pool industry, you will probably be skeptical of this offer. Therefore, we make this challenge: To anyone who investigates this offer and finds it is not as represented, Sun-Lite will build their pool FREE of charge. Prove it to yourself.

Ride to Glory

By Vera Williams

LIKE TO SEE the Garden of Eden, Rome, Egypt, Ur, Israel and Babylon?

The Tower of Babel, the Pyramids, King Solomon's Temple, the Colossus of Rhodes, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the Circus Maximus and the Ziggurat of Ur (ancient city of Abraham)?

How about a ride to glory? And/or a look at Dante's Inferno?

All this will be possible when Bible Storyland, a 15-million-dollar park and amusement area dramatizing Biblical lore, opens on Easter Sunday 1961 in Cucamonga, San Bernardino County. Specifically the location will be Foothill Blvd. and Rochester Ave., a 220-acre site against the backdrop of Mount Baldy.

SIXTY ACRES will comprise the park proper, with 100 acres set aside for parking, and 60 acres are earmarked for a Bible Storyland Hotel.

Officials of Bible Storyland include Donald F. Duncan, formerly of the Duncan Parking Meter Corp., chairman; Jack Haley, stage and screen star, president; Nat Winecoff, former vice president and secretary of WED Enterprises, Inc. (Walter E. Disney), which designed and built Disneyland, vice president and general manager; A. A. Mercola, owner of A. A. Mercola Real Estate and Investments, Beverly Hills, vice president; Nathan Miller of the Chicago accounting firm of Miller, Mandell & Co., secretary and treasurer.

Project designer is Bruce Bushman, son of Francis X. Bushman, and also formerly associated with the Disneyland project.

Heart-shaped (symbolic of God's love for humanity), Bible Storyland will be divided into six principal areas—Garden of Eden, Rome, Egypt, Ur, Israel and Babylon.

Each area will contain its own colorful streets, bazaars, eating places, museums, shops, artisans' quarters, animated displays, and dioramas as well as Biblically and historically imported architectural and geographical features.

Each area will dramatize its own stories from the Bible.

Amusement rides will be keyed to geographical areas as well as to Biblical lore, among them, chariot races in Rome, Noah's Ark carousel in Israel, and the King Tut Tomb ride in Egypt.

Architectural wonders of the ancient world to be reproduced or represented are the Tower of Babel, the pyramids of Egypt, King Solomon's Temple, Colossus of Rhodes, Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the Circus Maximus in Rome, and the Ziggurat of Ur.

EGYPT WILL have its Nile River, Rome its Mediterranean Sea, and Israel its Dead Sea. The Euphrates River will flow through the Babylon area and Noah's Ark will be perched on Mt. Ararat.

Water craft—hollowed logs in the Garden of Eden, reed boats on the Euphrates, and Roman grain ships in the Mediterranean—will carry visitors.

Camel caravans will provide transport to the Pyramids of Egypt, and donkeys will carry visitors on the road between Jerusalem and Nazareth.

There will be a Ride to Glory. A gold litter, drawn by three cherubs, will pass through clouds and star dust, brush satellites and comets, race into outer space as the earth recedes below, and be escorted to St. Peter and the Pearly Gates in the home stretch by an angel.

Signposts along this ethereal way will point to alternate routes . . . and to Purgatory. It will be no surprise to Angelenos that one sign will read: "Los Angeles City Limits."

COMPANION PIECE to the Ride to Glory will be the trip to Dante's Inferno.

This excursion via Charon's Ferry across the River Styx will be a dark, tingling encounter with monsters, devils cooling off in showers of steam, festering volcanoes, and sulphurous fire fountains. And there, too, will be the integrating host of this lugubrious place—Lucifer himself.

Noah's Ark carousel will enchant children who will ride pairs of animals rotating around and through the Ark and in the Jonah and the Whale

When Bible Storyland opens its gates—set for Easter Sunday 1961—a Ride to Glory under the escort of three cherubs will be an attraction.

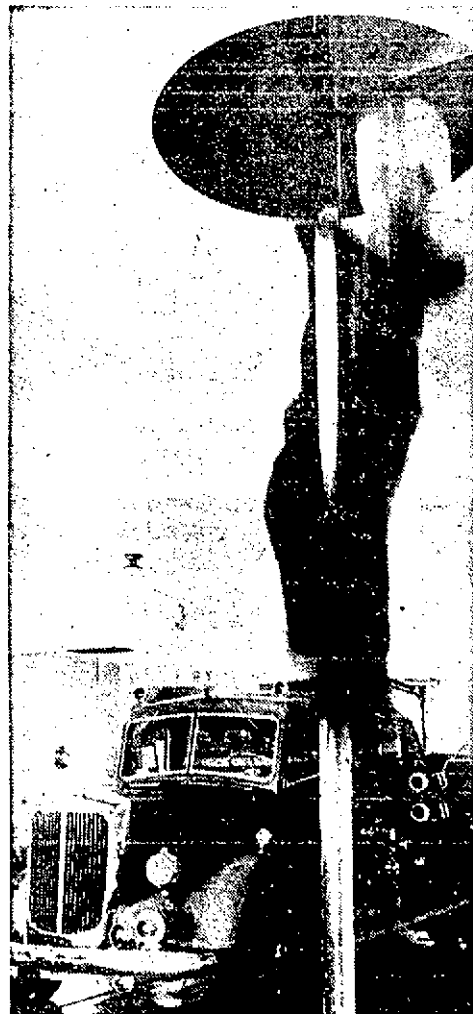

Prehistoric monsters will rear their heads in Bible Storyland's depiction of the Garden of Eden. Log boats will ferry passengers through area.

This artist's sketch of the main entrance to Bible Storyland gives impression of the lands of ancient times.

Boots and turn-out pants stand ready by a fireman's bed for a fast call to a blaze.

Familiar sight in a fire station is pole down which men slide in dash to answer a call.

*What kind of a life
does a fireman lead?*

Alert for Alarm

By Stella George

SCENE: ANY ONE of the 22 fire stations in Long Beach.

Time: 12:50 a. m.

Firemen are asleep in their beds. Without warning, all lights in the fire station go on at once. Bells clang loudly. A voice on the loud speaker announces the emergency. Roused into consciousness, men get ready to put on uniform and boots. The voice finishes speaking. Men climb back into bed after recording the details of the incident in the daily log. The emergency is not for their station.

Scene: 1:35 a. m.

Again the lights go on. The bells ring. The voice speaks. Awake again, the men prepare to get ready. Again they record the incident and climb back into bed. The emergency is not for their station.

Time: 4:55 a. m.

Once again the lights go on. The bells ring. The voice speaks. In a matter of seconds, the awakened men pull on their boots and turn-out gear and head for their stations. The call is for their unit. Within 15 seconds, they board the apparatus and speed into the night.

Scene: Home of one of the firemen.

Time: 8:35 a. m.

A fireman returns home after a 24 hour shift. He pats the head of his son as the youngster prepares to leave for school.

"Anything interesting happen last night, Dad?" asks the boy.

"Just routine, son. Just routine," says the fireman. "Some character smoking in bed caused quite a blaze about 5 o'clock this morning. Almost burned himself up before we got there."

"Gee, Dad, you sure get a lot of excitement in your job, don't you?" the boy says as he goes out the front door. "Maybe I will be a fireman like you when I grow up!"

PROBABLY EVERY young boy at one time or another has voiced the desire to be a fireman, picturing the life of thrills and excitement which, on many occasions, it is. Paradoxically, there are the long hours of fire training; inspections of buildings, testing of water systems, testing of hydrants and equipment, hypothetical fire problems to be solved, all directed toward efficiently fighting that BIG FIRE when it happens; and the interrupted, sleepless nights. But then, again, there is the security resulting from a good substantial job. A serious-minded, prospective young fireman takes everything into consideration.

The initial step toward the goal of being a fireman entails passing the Civil Service tests required for such a position. Then, if the applicant places high enough on the list to obtain an appointment with the personnel officer (chances are about 1 in 300), another test is forthcoming, that of being psychologically suited for the job according to specifications set down by those in authority. Tests and interviews proving satisfactory, the young fireman purchases the necessary wardrobe (with the exception of dress blues) at a cost of about $300, and is ready for six weeks training at the Drill School.

IN LONG BEACH the Drill School is located at 1445 Peterson Ave., and offers an indoctrination course encompassing almost every phase of a fireman's duties and knowledge of the job. The course is strenuous and demanding, but provides excellent background instruction, mandatory for the difficult and specialized work ahead. The young fireman learns, among other things, how much he doesn't know about the organization of the fire department itself. For example:

Long Beach is set up like many other large cities. There are the chief (in Long Beach, Chief Youths of yesterday will recall stirring runs of dobbin-drawn fire units.

Frank S. Sandeman heads the Fire Department and all of its facilities, the deputy chief, assistant chief, and three battalion chiefs—one for each of the three districts. A captain commands each station.

Firemen advance in rate on a merit basis, although many choose to remain firemen for one reason or another. The age for retirement is 65; or permissible at age 55 if a 25-year period of service has been completed.

ALONG WITH the six-week Drill School course, the new fireman must undergo a probationary period which lasts six months, and during which time he performs the duties of a full-fledged fireman. Each month, however, he returns to the school for a new examination, taking a final exam at the end of a five-month period. The probationary period entails all the workaday duties which will become a regular part of his life later on.

Firemen are on duty for 24 hours, then off duty for the same length of time. There is no such thing as a "typical" day. No one knows when an emergency will arise or how serious and long-lasting it might be? However, an every-day schedule for certain basic duties is on the agenda, and follows a given pattern.

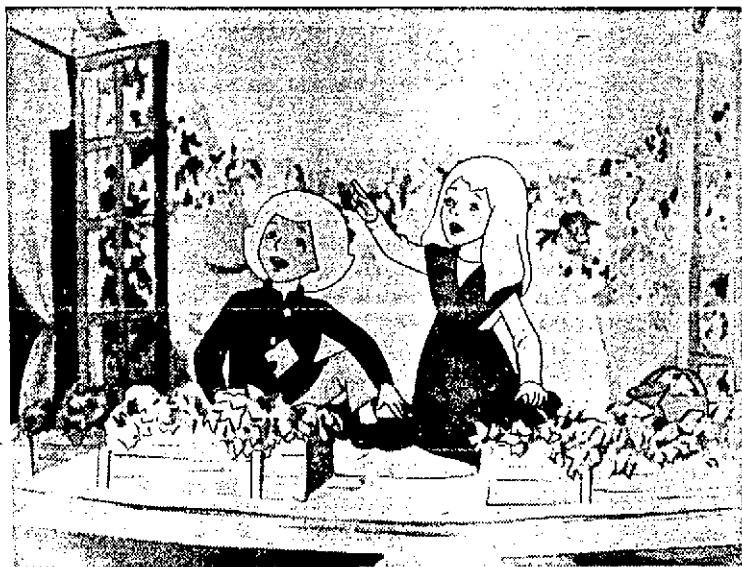

Arriving on duty between 7:30 and 8 a. m.

Fifteen seconds after an alarm, good firemen will be aboard trucks, ready to roll.

Many years ago, in a very old town, lived the boy Kay and the girl Gerda. They were inseparable, playing and singing together; watching the flowers grow and listening to tales by Gerda's grandmother.

One wintry day, when grandmother was telling the story of the wicked Snow Queen who lived in an ice palace in the far north, the children saw the Snow Queen herself outside the window and ran closer to look.

SOUTHLAND'S MOVIE PREVIEW

'The Snow Queen'

HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN'S most popular fairy tale, "The Snow Queen," soon will come to the screen as a feature-length animated cartoon in Eastman Color by Universal-International.

The beloved Andersen story has been enhanced in its transition to the motion picture screen by the addition of a brief and clever prologue headlining Art Linkletter, television favorite, and a group of young children.

Such established young film stars as Sandra Dee, recently named No. 1 Star of Tomorrow in a nationwide poll conducted by a film trade publication, Tommy "Shaggy Dog" Kirk and Patty "Peck's Bad Girl" McCormack, provide the "voices" for Andersen's fairy tale personalities.

Sandra and Tommy are heard as Gerda and Kay, the two devoted companions who became separated by the wicked Snow Queen.

Miss Dee also makes her debut as a singer in "The Snow Queen" with her delightful rendition of "Do It While You're Young." Other songs in the new animated feature-film are "The Snow Queen" and "The Jolly Robbers," both sung by groups.

Suddenly and without warning, the Snow Queen hurled ice splinters into Kay's eyes and heart, making him an evil boy.

Kay leaves home and goes with the Snow Queen to palace, leaving Gerda unhappy and longing for him to return.

When spring comes, Gerda sets out to find Kay. After traveling a long way, she meets a raven who says he heard that a boy resembling Kay is at another palace; but he's not Kay.

Gerda's adventures include obtaining a reindeer to ride toward the north, but the deer becomes exhausted. Gerda goes on alone on foot, finally reaching the Snow Queen's palace.

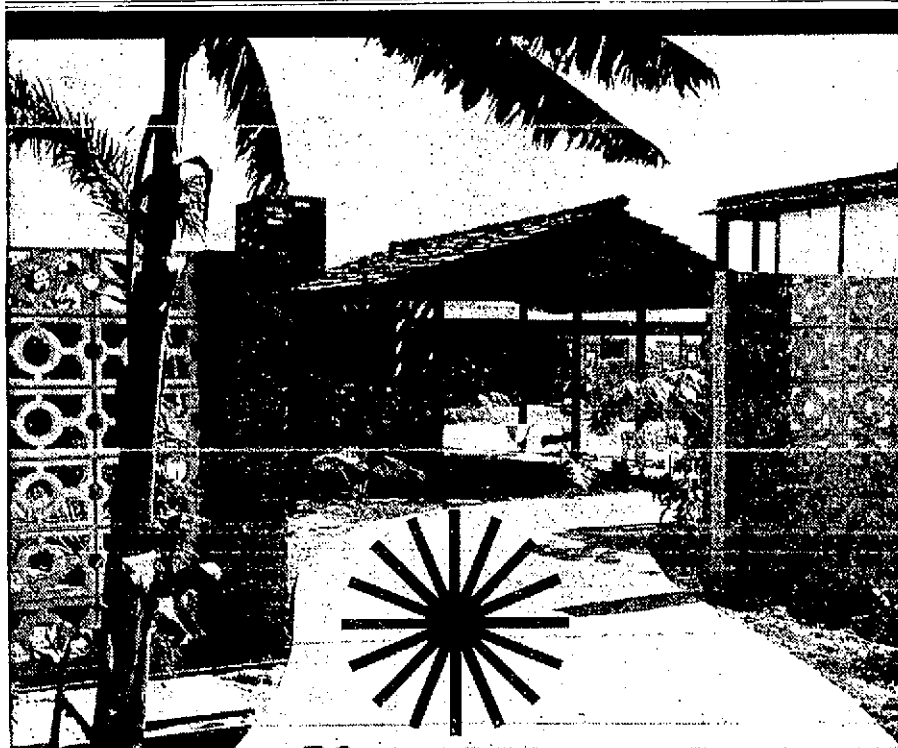

Gerda's love melts the ice in Kay's heart. They leave Snow Queen to return happily home.

By Caroline Coleman

WHOMEVER heard of a bank giving away $500,000, with no strings attached? Yet this is the amount which the Bank of America has through its Achievement Awards program given to outstanding high school seniors throughout California since 1948.

Approximately $60,000 will be awarded in the state this year. Cash awards of approximately $3,000 will be awarded April 21 to second and third place winners of nine Southern California zones, from Santa Barbara to San Diego. Local judging will be at the Long Beach City College campus.

Then, approximately $10,000 will be awarded in the Southern California finals in May in Los Angeles.

First place zone winners are assured of $100 when they go into the finals. Top final winners in the four divisions: liberal arts, fine arts, vocational arts and science and mathematics, each receive $1,000.

Los Angeles students have a separate contest and are not included in the general Southern California competition.

Limited in its infancy to the Los Angeles city schools, the program was extended in 1950 to include the San Francisco-Oakland area and by 1951 was made available to all high schools, private, public and parochial throughout the state. Although the program is purely optional, more than 95 per cent of these schools participate.

IN ORDER to insure a fair distribution of prize money, the state has been divided into five separate non-competitive areas; three of which are in Southern California. Winners in each of these regions receive cash awards ranging from $25 to $1,000 in addition to trophies and certificates. The Southland's share in 1959 amounted to $32,100.

Second and third place prize money has been won by Long Beach students on three occasions. In 1951, Geoffrey Ball of Polytechnic High was awarded $500. The next year the same school had a $250 winner in Duane Stanfield. In 1958, Arthur Lederman of Woodrow Wilson High took second honors.

This search to aid "the leaders of tomorrow" begins with each school awarding a certificate to its most capable senior in several specific fields such as English, music, mathematics, laboratory science, etc. From these certificate winners the school chooses one outstanding student in each of four general fields—fine arts, science and mathematics, liberal arts and vocational arts. The size of school student bodies then determines the number of general field winners who may receive trophies and how many of the latter may compete with other schools for cash prizes and a chance at the finals.

"WE DIVIDE the five areas within the state into several zones," explained Glenn E. Carter, assistant vice president, "with trophy winners competing within each zone. Up to this point all the judging has been done by school personnel. Now we call on the community to help us evaluate what personal qualifications for leadership these young people possess."

ONE OF THE HOPES of the founders of the program has been that the winners might be spurred on to greater achievements both in the field of personal success and in service to society. "We haven't been disappointed," declared Carter, "here are just a few examples of what our young people have accomplished to date.

"One of our top award winners was graduated from Annapolis, 17th in a class of 750. Another received an assistantship at Princeton soon after he was graduated with honors from the California Institute of Technology. Russel Erickson, who like so many of our winners wears a Phi Beta Kappa key, was given a full medical scholarship to Johns Hopkins. George Moss, a Southland winner, became a Rhodes scholar. Then there is John Browning who received the Fine Arts Award in Los Angeles. John specialized in piano at the Julliard School of Music and early in 1957 won second prize at the Queen Elizabeth Concours International Music competition in Brussels.

"Where could you get a better investment on your money?" asked Carter. Where indeed?

Designed to Grow--And It Did!

—Photos by Joe Risner

Informal charm of this room is enhanced by the lack of living-dining separation.

By Stella George

FIRST IN THE neighborhood, a "first" in beauty and first in the hearts of the family that calls it home, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Rexford L. Welch, 5380 El Prado Rd., has fulfilled its original assignment and expanded to meet new demands.

When the Welches began their home a few years ago, the house was the first in the now exclusive Park Estates and the construction was viewed with interest by passers-by watching the result of its building. Many speculated on the answers to these questions: How many more homes would be forthcoming? Would the area really develop? Might the home be one of its kind in a fairly isolated spot? What was the home itself going to be like?

Today, the home is situated in one of the finest residential sections of Long Beach. It has an individual, unconventional beauty which probably still ranks it as a "first" among its kind.

It started as a luxuriously livable home, well suited to the family who built it. Structurally and otherwise, it was tailor-made for the needs at the time. But it had a remarkable distinction from most homes, custom-built or otherwise: it was designed to grow with the family, a feat accomplished with ease and flexibility.

TO BEGIN WITH, the home was built on two large lots, allowing ample room for future additions. As it is now, the house almost encircles the patio and swimming pool.

The living room, once long and narrow, has been enlarged into what appears to be twice its former size. There is a large, center fireplace of stone flanked on either side with hassocks the size of small beds—large, comfortable and inviting. Facing the fireplace is a couch with end tables and lamps. The latter, high and cone shaped, are made of brass, a key to the unconventional but extremely attractive decor of the place.

One entire curved wall of the living room (which faces the patio) consists of floor-to-ceiling windows, with an indoor planter running along the lower ledge. Filled with carefully tended tropical plants, the effect is a living picture of indoor-outdoor beauty.

A large, round dining room table is situated to obtain full view of the patio. With no separation of living and dining room area, the room has an informal charm, highly conducive to entertaining a small or large number of guests. A large, well-equipped bar is cleverly and completely concealed when not in use as it slides back into a wall partition.

LIVING PLANTS are used in profusion, not in place of but in the manner of fine accessories. Even the hall which leads from the living room to another room (which might be called a library or informal drawing room) features the same ceiling-high windows, with a planter both on the inside and outside.

A winding hall leads around to one smaller bedroom and bath; then on to the master bedroom, dressing room and bath. The main bedroom also has floor-to-ceiling windows, affording an unobstructed view of the patio and pool.

A recent addition is the men's dressing room off the master bedroom, complete with closet and cupboard space for every item. Good looks and comfort were merged in the planning.

Across the patio and pool area from the main part of the house, the former lanai has been magically transformed into a bedroom suite, complete with private bath and dressing room. The bedroom is furnished in a tailored fashion, giving it more of a den-sitting room look. Two twin beds are covered with gray slip covers and placed in front of the two "couches," and the whole effect is smooth, smart and modern.

AN ORIENTAL bead curtain separates the bedroom area from the dressing room. Every convenience is at hand: built-in dressing table, chest of drawers, and long, spacious closets.

The bath at the other end is easily accessible to the swimming pool nearby. Picture windows in the bed-sitting room face the patio and pool, and the entire addition forms one end of the U shape of the house itself.

Because of the size of the lots, the patio and pool are large, and expert planning gives the play area a look and feeling of real luxury.

Alert for Alarm

(preferably no later than 7:45), a fireman signs a relief sheet, thus relieving his predecessor of his responsibilities. He makes his bed for that night, puts his canvas coat and helmet in the proper place on the apparatus, and checks the work schedule for the day. Duties are outlined: equipment is to be cleaned; drill for hose-laying and ladder operations; first aid and emergency disaster operations; checking street hydrants; driving and pumping apparatus to be checked; inspection of homes; washing windows; polishing brass; caring for the lawn.

FIREMEN on duty are, of necessity, self-sufficient. They cook their own meals, do their own housekeeping. Trivial chores, familiar to every housewife, are part of every-day routine—defrosting the refrigerator or scrubbing the floors, for example. It's a fortunate unit that boasts of a good cook among its men, although the emergency bell might ring just as they sit down to the specialty of the day.

There are minutes, even hours, when nothing happens; when the duties of the day are finished, and no emergency has arisen. Peter Gunn might provide relief and recreation, but it may be interrupted at a crucial moment. For reasons such as that (as well as for altruistic objectives), firemen devote a great deal of time working on projects which help other people. Approximately 20,000 man hours per year of off-duty time are contributed to such community undertakings as the Community Chest, Salvation Army, Heart Fund, to name but a few. At Christmas time, particularly, their efforts along these lines are well known and highly appreciated by the recipients.

Of necessity, firemen have to maintain excellent physical condition at all times. Heart disease is not uncommon among some of the men (the constant pressure of emergency always at hand), but, generally speaking, firemen adjust to the up and down existence within a short time. They learn to take emergencies in stride.

IT TAKES a good fireman about 15 seconds to leap from his bed at night, pull on his uniform, and board the apparatus. With sirens screaming, the trucks roar out of the station and head for the scene of the fire. When the trucks reach their destination, hose and ladders are taken off, and the firemen split into groups as each man performs his special job. The emergency may be a huge dock fire, an oil blaze, or a kitchen stove. To the fireman it is an important job which must be well executed without delay.

Desert Sand Witches

By Ellen Saunders

THAT OLD maxim that seeing is believing just isn't so as the Sand Witches—a group of Desert Hot Springs housewives who are gleaning gold from desert sand—have discovered.

"Wherever we exhibit in Bellflower, Los Angeles or Santa Monica there are always some people who must touch our paintings before they can believe that they are made of sand," says Lillian Kleinjung, president of the group whose mastery of the ancient art of sandpainting has upped their status from that of hobbyists to professional artists and lecturers within three short years.

"Even after we have demonstrated our techniques, some people just shake their heads and mutter it doesn't seem possible," says Mrs. Kleinjung.

"Actually that's the way it seemed to us one very windy day in 1955 when Bet Addington, a former Desert Hot Springs resident, silenced our tirade against the sand which blew in everywhere by challenging us to do something constructive about it. We hadn't the slightest idea where to begin, but since the majority of us had had some formal art training we decided to emulate the Navajo sandpainter. We differed in one important aspect, however, we made our paintings in permanent form."

"THREE MONTHS later the group gave their first exhibit before a responsive audience and one of their members sold a painting for $100. During the next two years, Women's Clubs and civic organizations from the high desert to Cal-exico, snowed them under with requests for exhibits. Then, in June 1959, they turned professional and signed up with the Mae Norton Lecture Bureau of Hollywood for 15 engagements during the 1959-1960 season."

Through the trial and error method the group developed techniques which are used with some variations by each of their members today. The tedious work—a picture can never be completed under 40 hours—has resulted in the loss of some members. Others relinquished their membership when they left the community as the group is restricted to residents of Desert Hot Springs. Those who remain have developed an individual style which characterizes all their work. Dorothy Chester's paintings, for instance, have been likened to bits of tapestry.

Paintings range from portraits, both in color and black and white, to landscapes, flower arrangements, desert scenes and fantasies.

"Very few members sketch original subjects," continued Mrs. Kleinjung, most of us copy well known paintings. After the subject is sketched on masonite or canvas board, glue is applied to a small portion and colored or natural sand, as the requirement may be, is sprinkled on. Then comes the waiting period for the sand must dry completely and the excess be shaken off before any other portion can be worked on. We experimented with a lot of "goop" before we finally settled for a milk base glue which is very satisfactory."

"Coloring is still often experimental," says member Karen Thompson. "I blend sand with India ink, bluing, vegetable coloring or water colors, sometimes combining three or four colors to get the exact shade I want."

MRS. THOMPSON, one of the very few members who has had no formal art training, has become an expert in executing paintings which call for very detailed work. Her subjects, frequently Indian motifs brilliant with color, are usually portrayed against a background of monotonous,

She Gives Years the Brush-Off

By Anna Mae Murray

WHEN Edna May Phillips surveys the 85 candles on her birthday cake May 2, she'll wish for the traditional "many happy returns of the day" only if she can go on painting. "That's my life now," she says, and her friends join in her wish with the hope that all of those many candles will black out on the first puff.

The walls of Mrs. Phillips tiny cottage at 215 E. Morningside, where she lives alone with her dog, Chihuahua, are covered with some two dozen oil paintings, including copies of the Blue Boy, the Mona Lisa; of animals, birds, and flowers copied from magazines and newspapers. Among them is an original landscape and a portrait of herself made from a photograph taken in 1896.

Grandma Moses, 99-year-old artist who is still going strong, had a head start on the Long Beach woman who is a fellow New Englander, a native of Boston, and hopes some day also to achieve recognition.

"I'd have many more pictures if my art ambitions hadn't been thwarted 70 years ago. I've only been painting since I was 83," she says.

SHE HAD YOUTHFUL ambitions for an art education and an uncle who was professor of geometrics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology was willing to finance her schooling. But it all "went by the boards," literally.

In a tent near her school a road show was playing "The Fall of Babylon" the students had been excused to attend a performance and upon returning to the building, Edna May picked up a piece of chalk and hastily sketched a ballet dancer on the blackboard. For this she was severely reprimanded by the teacher and was sent home and told not to return without her mother.

"Watch that girl!" the principal warned, "she has a depraved mind." And her mother being a very proper Bostonian slammed the door shut on the proffered schooling.

MRS. PHILIPS has lived in Long Beach 35 years, for many of them operating a dress shop where she designed and made smart gowns and evening wraps for the wives of Navy officers.

SHE HAS LIVED alone for 50 years; she has no children. "My pictures are my children; to sell one of them would be like giving a child to a stranger," she says.

"I'm never lonely; I've always been busy with my hands, never had time for clubs or organizations. For good health, good friends and neighbors and a life full of interest, I have so much to be grateful for." She has had occasions in her life for tears, but she says she's "not a crier." "I just don't have time for that; I brush my tears and years away!"

She does her own housework, cooking and marketing, drives a little electric "three-wheeler" and takes care of her own business affairs.

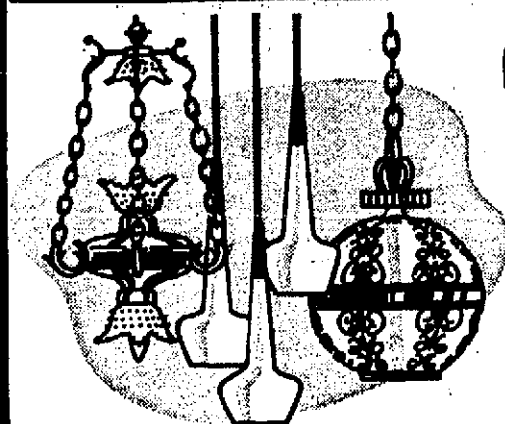

"I DON'T HAVE television and I don't read as much as I'd like to because I want to save my eyes for my painting. I've always done things with my hands, braiding rugs, gardening, and making stuffed toys."

One of her paintings is of a ballet dancer. Another ballet dancer pirouetting on a white horse is modeled from clay.

"He's full of spools and wire," she says, adding with a smile: "The workings of a 'depraved mind.'"

Americana takes you through two centuries of lore, by buggy, by boat, by bicycle and wagon train, from East to West coast. AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"For a long time we have wanted to go to Central America but can find little written on it..."

YOU CAN DRIVE the five Central American countries now from Mexico south. They are not geared to high tourist standards. But comfortable enough. I was there recently with Robert de Roos, the magazine writer. I came home and he stayed on for two months.

"This is what de Roos says: 'The Inter-American Highway is open all the way to San Jose de Costa Rica—during the dry (winter) season only.

"For a complete rundown on this trip write to Richard Dyer, Compania de Bananera de Costa Rica, Apartado 2241, San Jose de Costa Rica.

"Dick has made this drive twice recently with family. He has a mimeographed bulletin on it."

About driving inside the countries off main roads, de Roos reports:

"A 4-wheel drive vehicle is a must. There are a lot of Willys, Austins, Landrovers and Auto Union jeeps around. I found the best is the Japanese Toyota jeep. More power plus some needed weight."

On hotels: "Some hotels I liked. Guatemala City: the Palace is best, old and slow-paced. The Biltmore is newer but out of town near the airport. The Maya Excelsior is new but a little on the chrome side.

"In San Salvador: The Hotel Inter-Americana. A little expensive ($12 a day) but very modern. Swimming pool and a good dining room.

"Tegucigalpa, Honduras: The Gran Hotel Lincoln is passable and the only major hotel in town anyway.

"Managua, Nicaragua: The Gran Hotel is unbelievably noisy. Stay at Hotel Nicaragua. Air conditioned and quiet.

"SAN JOSE de Costa Rica: I stayed at the Gran Hotel Costa Rica and had superb treatment. Good rooms, good food, nice people.

"The Europe looked good. Supposed to have the best dining room.

"Not many people stay in Puerto Limon. In the Park Hotel. With the worst bed since I made my own out of pine boughs at a B&B South.

"But the afternoon ride on the Pachuca train from San Jose to Limon is spectacular.

On fishing, says de Roos: "The worst fishermen in the world cannot miss on the Pacific Coast.

Yellow tail, rooster fish and, farther out, marlin and sailfish. Boats for rent at Puntarenas.

"On the East Coast, tarpon are so thick you can't believe it."

Transportation: "Pan American's Flights 501 and 502 fly daily and stop at each capital. Aviateca flies into the jungle ruins in Guatemala. Salty DC3s, but they get you there. In Costa Rica LACSA delivers you anywhere in the country in half an hour."

GOING PLACES — —with the Sloanes

THERE IS a vast meadow spread out before the Bavarian parliament building in Munich, West Germany, where each October, for two weeks, huge tents are erected.

The sole purpose of these tents is to unite the entire 1,000,000 population of Munich plus an equal number of tourists in an orgy of beer drinking that makes the beer drinking that goes on the rest of the year — formidable enough for outsiders — seem like English high tea.

Throughout the day, and the night, and the next day and the next night and so forth, the Oktoberfest goes on to the stirring sounds of the Bavarian national anthem.

"Ein prosit, ein prosit, gemuetlichkeit! Ein prosit, ein prosit, gemuetlichkeit! Eins! Zwei! Drei! G'suffe!"

Inadequate translation: "A toast, a toast, gemuetlichkeit! One! Two! Three! Down the hatch!" (Gemuetlichkeit is one of those untranslatable German words that means, sort of, that-good-feeling-all-over.)

DURING last year's Oktoberfest some 22,000,000 quarts of beer were g'suffed, or enough to unsink the Bismarck.

As may be expected of the only city in the world where you can get a university degree in brewing, it is not necessary to wait for the Oktoberfest for a little beer.

FOR A 45-CENT litre of schwarzbiere you can sit and sing all night, bouncing up only occasionally to respond to the band's periodic rendition of "Ein prosit, ein prosit," etc.

Shirley and Bob Sloane will aid readers with travel problems. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply, and keep questions specific. Address the Sloanes, care Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th & Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

That Amazing Land of Hawaii!

By Fred Taylor Kraft

Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

IF YOU GO to Hawaii this spring — and many many more Southlanders are headed in that direction than ever before — you're going to be amazed at building activity in the vicinity of Waikiki beach.

There's scarcely a vacant lot without a construction crew hard at it. Some of these new building will be apartment hotels and some—hold your seats—will be co-operatives.

Actually, some of these coops are what we in Long Beach call own-your-owns. Mostly of the one or two-bedroom type, and very compact, they are being marketed at an average of $20,000 to $25,000 per unit with monthly maintenance expected to run from $60 to $80. This, of course, includes swimming pool and well-gardened grounds.

The "big sell" of these coops is proximity of Waikiki sands, unexcelled view of the Pacific, volcanoes, mountains and palm-lined canal that bounds Waikiki. And don't forget the year-around sunny climate.

Another draw is the investment potential. Both Hawaii residents and visitors are buying, either with a view to calling them home, renting them during peak seasons, or sub-leasing altogether.

Most luxurious of the new cooperatives to date, say the Hawaii Visitors Bureau, and the only one being sold on the fee simple basis (others are on leasehold land) is the Ilikai, launched in February.

CLOSER TO HOME will be many sights worth seeing in the next few weeks, among them the Julian Wildflower Show, May 7-22. We mention it at this time because we think you should make plans to see it. Colorfully named mountain ranges such as the Volcan, the Oriflamme and the Tierra Blanca surround Julian. Wildflowers bloom later in the valleys. These the townsfolk gather—some 2,000 varieties—and exhibit them in the Town Hall, and members of the Women's Club in garb of the Gay Nineties will be hostesses. Hwy. 78 from Escondido.

PUT THIS ONE in your date book, too: The 10th annual Grubstake Days in Yucca Valley (near Joshua Tree National Monument). Dates on this one are May 13-15 and, in addition to getting out in the desert at this beautiful season, there will be all kinds of fun. Contact Gladys Stiff, secretary of Yucca Valley Chamber of Commerce for a brochure on the event.

Travel Book

Slanted for sightseers who are off to Europe on a tour, a new book, "The Grand Tour of Europe," by Thomas B. Lesure, wraps up the subject in 65 interesting and informative pages. The expression "grand tour" refers to the 11-country tours of Western Europe that now are in high favor with travelers. The author says this is still the best way to sample Europe and describes in detail his experiences on a grand tour operated by Caravan Tours of Chicago. The book (Harlan Publications, $1.50) is available at many travel agencies and book stores.

For Tour Haters

What might be described as "a tour for travelers who don't like tours" is the 47-day tour of Europe offered by the American Tourist Bureau.

The size of the tour is limited to permit greater freedom and flexibility. Planned by tour members, the itinerary includes 15 countries, a cruise across a Norwegian fjord, visits behind the Iron Curtain in Berlin, and to the ruins of Pompeii. A performance of the Passion Play also may be worked in.

Departure is June 21 from Los Angeles International Airport and deadline for reservations is May 1. Eunice Loseff, group leader, may be reached at 3820 Chatwin Ave., Long Beach 8; telephone HA 3-1733.

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

DEAR MISS RULE: I'd like a quick analysis of DALGLEISH. — A.S., Torrance; Mrs. A.N., Long Beach.

A.S., A.N.: DALGLEISH, an ancient Scotch surname, was taken from the Gaelic "Dail-Glaise" which translates into English as "Brook-field." Owners of the brook field used its Gaelic terminology as their surname. The Dalgleish coat-of-arms has a green tree lying crosswise between three blue javelin heads on a silver shield. The family motto "Deliciae Mei" from old Latin, means "My Delight."

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the meaning of HALEY or HEALEY. — F.W., Buena Park, R.H., Lakewood.

F.W., R.H.: The distinguished Irish ancestor of the HALEYS and HEALEYS was christened Ealadhac meaning "ingenious, scientific one." Descendants assumed the clan name O'Heilidhe, a derivative of his name, later Anglicized O'Healey and O'Haley. The clan originated in County Sligo where they held a large baronial estate. The Healey coat-of-arms has three silver heads placed one above the other in the center of a blue shield. The Haley shield is silver, with a gold collared, rampant tiger centered on it.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on HORNEY. — Mrs. H.H., Torrance, C.H., Lakewood.

H.H., C.H.: History reveals HORNEY was originally a French surname meaning "rebellious one." Members of this independent, rebellious lineage migrated to England many centuries ago. The Horney coat-of-arms has a red chevron between three blue unicorn heads on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give genealogy on ALLISON. — S.A., F.A., Long Beach.

S.A., F.A.: ALLISON is one of the rare English surnames derived from a female given-name. In its first form in the royal Patent Rolls parchments it was "Alice-son," (Alice's Son). By the late 1300s it was Alysso, later Allison. Alice, an ancient Greek name, meant "truthful." The Allisons were natives of Cambridgeshire, where their ancestral manor house was called Yardsley Hall. The Allison coat-of-arms has a red stripe between three black, heraldic birds on a red-bordered, silver shield. Among American descendants were William, Gain, Joseph and Thomas Allison, landowners in York County, Pennsylvania in the 1770s.

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

Ride to Glory

trip youngsters of all ages will be fascinated by the boat ride through the whale climaxed by a plunge down the giant mammal's tongue.

As they pass through the main entrance, visitors to Bible Storyland will be projected from a modern civilization of jet transportation, atomic energy, and space rockets into the world as it was 5,000 years ago. The main entrance, flanked by a 100-foot tall minaret, will lead direct to Ur, the oldest walled city on earth, the center of caravans, commerce, and learning for thousands of years and—the starting point of Abraham's journey to the Promised Land.

Dioramas will depict the story of Christ and here, too, will be reproduced the inn where Mary and Joseph tried to find shelter and the stable where Christ was born.

In the Israel section, too, will be the Dead Sea ride—in glass-bottom boats. In the depths, travelers will muse over a ruined city—Sodom and Gomorrah — destroyed by the wrath of God for its wickedness.

The visitor will pass two giant statues of Rameses II and walk down the Avenue of Sphinxes toward the Great Pyramid.

BEYOND THE NILE, boats propelled by costumed attendants will carry patrons past the fabled Valley of the Kings, the palace of Rameses II, Potiphar's palace, the Lighthouse of Alexandria, the pyramids, and in the marshes at the Nile delta the place where Moses was found by the Pharaoh's daughter.

Off to one side will be the Circus Maximus and the chariot races. Here, also, a diorama of the burning of Rome, and many rides, among them the Mount Olympus, Labors of Hercules, Pegasus, and Carousel of Mythical Beasts.

Near the Circus Maximus, where Christians were fed to the lions, will be a restaurant featuring . . . Lionburgers.

The Garden of Eden area will be covered via log boats. The boatman, attired like Adam (more but not less), will guide the craft through a primordial wonderland of flowers and lush vegetation, inhabited by exotic birds, wild animals, and . . . Adam and Eve.

Ordeal for Great Bard

By Mary Cox

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE'S magnificent works might have been forever lost to posterity. This seems inconceivable, but it could have happened, had it not been for two of the poet's faithful friends, John Heminge and Henry Condell.

There is no evidence that Shakespeare himself ever intended to publish any of his writings but after his premature passing on April 23, 1616, Heminge and Condell commenced the laborious project of sorting, selecting, assembling and arranging the original manuscripts for publication. These miscellaneous works had been accumulated over a period of 35 years of writing effort on the part of Shakespeare. No two men then living were so eminently qualified to undertake such an arduous task, for they had been closely associated with Shakespeare for many years, as co-partners and as actors in all of the bard's activities in the historic Globe Theater in London.

TODAY IN THE SMALL churchyard surrounding the Church of St. Mary, The Virgin, Aldermanbury, London, there stands a memorial to Heminge and Condell, bearing the following inscriptions from the introductory pages and preface, respectively, of their first folio:

"Mr. William Shakespeare's Comedies, Histories and Tragedies, published according to the true originall copies, London, 1623.

"To the great variety of readers. It had bene a thing we confesse, worthe to have bene wished, that the author himself had lived to have set forth and overseene his owne writings; but since it has bene ordained otherwise, and he by death departed from that right, we pray you do not envy his friends the office of their care and paine, to have collected and published them; absolute in their numbers as he conceived them . . ."

The monument further records that to the disinterested affection of Heminge and Condell, "the world owes all that it calls Shakespeare. They alone collected his dramatic writings, regardless of pecuniary loss, and without hope of any profit, gave them to the world."

BOTH JOHN HEMINGE and Henry Condell lived in the Parish of St. Mary, the Virgin, for 30 and 42 years, respectively. Both are buried in the churchyard, and both had large families. Heminge having had 14 children, and Condell, 9. Fortunately, although it was badly damaged in World War II, this old church still stands, on its hallowed ground, and the monument to Shakespeare's copartners, unscathed by the enemy's devastating fury from the skies, remains to remind the thoughtful visitor of the devoted loyalty of two dedicated friends, and the noble crown of achievement which their humility vouchsafed to them, through the merited gratitude of mankind.

Davy Jones Apple Salad in Apple Cups is a pleasant combination for a party luncheon. It has eye appeal, flavor blend.

FOOD

Salads Go A-Partying

By Mildred K. Flanary

Independent Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

SPRING LUNCHEONS present the hostess with an easy and pleasant way of entertaining, particularly when she features an eye-catching salad.

Apples are the principals in two tasty, eye-catching salads —particularly suited to party luncheons—that are selected for this article. They are Davy Jones Salad in Apple Cups, which is refreshingly pretty and has a medley of flavors, and Spiced Apple Cups.

Here are the recipes:

Davy Jones Salad in Apple Cups

- 4 Delicious apples
- Lemon juice
- 1/2 lb. cooked prawns
- 3/4 cup sliced celery
- 3/4 cup diced avocado
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice

DRESSING:

- 6 tbsps. mayonnaise
- 6 tbsps. sour cream
- 1 tbsp. finely cut onion
- 1 tbsp. finely cut parsley
- Sherry, salt, sweet basil, summer savory

Cut tops from apples, then hollow out to make cups about 3/8 inch thick. Brush top edge and inside walls lightly with lemon juice. Dice unpeeled tops of apples and apple removed from cups. Reserving one or two prawns to garnish each cup, dice remaining prawns. Add to diced apple along with celery, avocado and 1 tbsp. lemon juice.

Very lightly toss to mix. Fill cups. Blend mayonnaise and sour cream. Add onion, parsley and sherry (as desired to taste), then season to taste with a touch of rubbed sweet basil, summer savory and salt. Serves 4.

Spiced Apple Cups With Cheese

- 4 Winesap apples
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 cups water
- 6 drops mint extract
- 12 drops green food coloring
- 2 3-oz. packages cream cheese
- 1/4 cup finely chopped nuts
- 6 tbsps. cream

Peel, core and halve the apples. Combine sugar, water and boil five minutes. Add flavoring and food coloring.
Simmer apples in syrup until tender, but not mushy. Remove to a platter, drain and chill. When chilled, place on crisp lettuce leaves or a bed of mint and fill centers with cream cheese mixture.

Cream Cheese Mixture:
Soften cheese with cream, whip with rotary or electric beater until fluffy. Gently stir in nuts.

Eating People Just Isn't Right

NOT OXFORD and not Cambridge, but a smaller, much less distinguished university, with an academic groove whose worth is measured more in board feet than in the shelter and shade it provides for peripatetic scholars, is the scene of "EATING PEOPLE IS WRONG" (Knopf, $4), a highly seasoned first novel by Malcolm Bradbury. The story itself is about teachers, pupils, ambition, love and its satisfactions and frustrations and misfits.

The central figure is Treece, nearly 40, bachelor, head of the English department, who clings fast to sound and tried ideals though he has moved automatically into a tougher, more cynical, less scrupulous time.

Treece has a faculty of sorts in his charge. He meets with students, he dutifully attends teas, lectures, dances and other functions, but he lives as much out of this world as in. He can fall in love with a teacher or even, indiscreetly, with a pupil. But if Viola is glad to accept what it suits him to offer, Emma is not; she thinks love includes the amenities, like talk, and that thoughtfulness and consideration are parts of it. Poor Treece is so aloofly Treece that he doesn't even know what she means. Emma is the unfortunate one, for the men she arouses are far short of the perfect answer to her dreams.

While nobody really lives up to anybody's expectations, the one who is let down the most, and the only one to love it, is the author.

"Eating people is wrong" according to a popular song, but Bradbury doesn't think badly of the idea, though he'd surely save his hapless but independent Treece for his last meal.

Bradbury cuts loose every now and then with a broad wit, and there are very funny incidents: the lecturer who must take off his shoes and socks; the Nicholsons who bake bread that tastes very women and weave curtains that looked baked; and Treece's wretched but hilarious time in the hospital where he is so worn out with attentions that he wants to go home and rest. Treece is a treasure; the ideas are ever so sprightly, and the fun and frolic have a bite to them.

Thumbnail glimpses at some new books:

"CABINS AND VACATION HOUSES" (Lane Book Co., $1.95): A Sunset book which contains plans, photographs, construction ideas, of practically all types of cabins and vacation homes; 252 plans and drawings illustrated with 250 photographs. Includes cabin planning construction; cabins for mountains, lakes, snow, beach and desert. Ideas for

WALT ALSTON

The thrill-packed story of the 1959 World Series—between the tree that grew in Brooklyn which now flourishes in Los Angeles, and the "Go-Go" Chicago White Sox—is retold by Paul Zimmerman, sports editor of The Los Angeles Times in "THE LOS ANGELES DODGERS" (Coward-McCann, $3.95). Also reviewed is the entire 1959 season, including the two down-to-the-wire series with the San Francisco Giants and Milwaukee Braves, the inside on how the Dodgers came west, Chavez Ravine, sidelights on individual team members and Dodger Brass—all these things plus scores of illustrations and Dodger records from away back, make this a book baseball fans won't want to miss. The preface is by Dodger Manager Walter Alston, the introduction by Mayor Norris Poulson.

built-ins, interiors, site improvement, financing.

"THE FIRST FIVE FATHOMS" by Arthur C. Clarke; introduction by Capt. Jacques-Yves Cousteau (Harper, $2.75) Skin-divers, bathers, and others who find the sea fascinating will cherish this book about the first five fathoms (30 feet) beneath the ocean. Well illustrated with photos by Mike Wilson.

"THE SKIPPER AND THE EAGLE" by Capt. Gordon McGowan (USCG, Ret.); foreword by Alan Villiers (Van Nostrand, $5.75): How the author transformed a German prize of war, the Horst Wessel, into a well-found Coast Guard ship, the Eagle, at the close of World War II. Well illustrated, this one will appeal to Long Beach's ever-growing sailing fraternity.

"HORIZON: A Magazine of the Arts" between hard covers (Horizon, $3.95): In "From Salon to Cellar and Back?" one of 18 beautifully illustrated articles, John Canady, art editor of the New York Times, suggests that many museums' basements might yield some buried treasure; that there is cause to look again at salon painting; accompanying the article is an all-page portfolio of salon art, reproduced in all its stunning shallowness.

"AIR ACES OF THE 1914-1918 WAR," edited by Bruce Robertson (published in England by Harborough and distributed here by Aero Publishers, Los Angeles, $8.50): Excellently illustrated with 350 rare photos of the men and the aircraft of the age of chivalry in air warfare. The large 212 page volume contains complete biographies and histories of the flyers and the air arms of the United States, Britain, Italy, Belgium, France, Germany, Russia and Austria-Hungary. The editor is well known as the compiler of other aviation volumes, including "Von Richthofen and the Flying Circus."

"CORSAGE CRAFT," second revised edition, by Glad Reusch and Mary Noble (Van Nostrand, $4.95): Now that spring is here with its riot of color in the garden, it is appropriate to put the many different flowers and green leaves to use in corsages, even in earrings. The authors help the home corsage-maker with this volume which is carefully and amply illustrated for each step.

"YOU KNOW ME AL," Ring Lardner's baseball classic, portions of which appeared in The Saturday Evening Post in 1916, is reissued for laughs by a whole new generation of baseball fans (Scribner's, $3.75).

"YOUR ACHING BACK AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT" by David Shuman, D.O., and George Staab (Crown, $3.95): Explains how the back is built, how it works, its functions, and presents special techniques which may spare many backache victims expensive, painful surgery.

"THE SAFE & SURE WAY TO REDUCE" by Gaynor Maddox with foreword by Dr. Charles Glen King (Random House, $3.95): A nutrition expert attacks so-called "starvation diets," offers "common sense" diets for losing up to 52 pounds a year. Involves no complex calorie charts.

"PRACTICAL RESIDENTIAL WIRING," second edition, by John F. Nowak (Van Nostrand, $7.95): An important book revised to give complete information on doing every electrical job in accordance with the current National Electric Code. Hundreds of photographs, diagrams and sketches.

Court It Like a Senorita!

"Travel books cry out that Mexico is the enchanted land where time stands still. And we will agree and add that where it stands still particularly is on the telephone."

So remember, caution Stanton Delaplane and Robert de Roos in "DELAPLANE IN MEXICO: A Short Happy Guide" (Coward-McCann, $3.95). "Mexican telephones seldom react to brutality. You must be simpatico. Mexican telephones are courted like a woman. You pretend you are looking the other way and pick them up gently."

"When a Mexican telephone goes temperamental, you put it down and let it cool off. . . ."

"Still, Mexican telephoning is rather fun. You meet so many unexpected people."

If you've been to Mexico, plan a trip, or merely are looking for a rollicking armchair excursion to the Land of Manana, then this book by the world traveler—whose column "Stan Delaplane" appears in Southland each week—is your plato. You travel with Stan, enjoy the sights that only Mexico can offer, you rejoice and suffer with him as his bizarre experiences pile up, you meet interesting people (yes, some on the telephone), and you eventually get back to the States and are sorry you have. Pattie Palmer's line drawings (including those above) add zest to the continuing merriment. Buen viaje!

Francisco, $3.95): Offers a wide variety of background information and insight into the current political scene. The editors, one a Republican and the other a Democrat, are political science professors at University of California.

"BARRON'S TEEN-AGE SUMMER GUIDE" by M. Reinhold (Barron's, 343 Great Neck Rd., Great Neck, N. Y., paper $1.50): Suggestions on solving the eternal teenage problem of "What can I do this summer?" A survey of every type of summer activity for the 12-18-age group: Travel, camps, hostelling, farm work, canoe and wilderness trips, community service, summer jobs, study. Profusely illustrated.

"SUNSET WESTERN CAMPSITE DIRECTORY." Second Revised Edition (Lane Book Co., $1.50): A complete, up-to-the-minute guide to campgrounds in the seven western states and western Canada. Sites keyed to maps. Facilities described.

For the children:

"THE LEGEND OF THE WHITE SERPENT" retold from the Chinese by A. Fularton Prior (Futtle, $2.50): This bewitching Chinese legend about a little white pet snake transformed into a beautiful young woman is one of the favorite tales of the East. This version is particularly adapted to reading aloud to children. It has charming illustrations by Kwan Sang-Mei, Chinese artist.

PAPERBACK ORIGINALS (not previously published in book form):

"THE GOLDEN GARDEN GUIDE," a practical handbook of gardening and outdoor living, edited by John Strohm (Golden Press, $1).

"SO YOU THINK YOU KNOW BASEBALL!" a collection of baseball brain twisters from the Saturday Evening Post series by Harry Simmons (Crest, 25c).

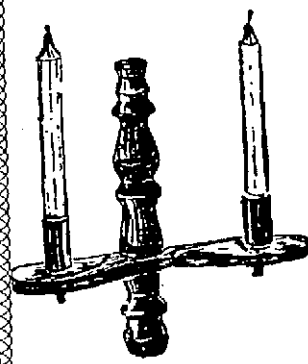

"1 GREAT PLAYS," the complete texts of "Agamemnon," by Aeschylus; "Oedipus the King," by Sophocles; and "Hippolytus," by Euripides, selected by Lyman Bryson (Premier, 50c).

"TEACH YOURSELF PSYCHOLOGY," an introduction to the science of the mind by W. E. Sargent, Ph.D. (Premier, 50c).

"PLEASE WRITE FOR DETAILS," a wicked, wacky story of love and art in Mexico, by John D. MacDonald (Crest, 35c).

Entry fee is $1 for first class, 50 cents for each additional class. There is no charge for spectators. Reliable poodle breeders will judge. phies and ribbons will be given for both unorthodox and show trim. And some fortunate person will win an AKC champagne toy poodle puppy.

Since the standard governing poodles has been changed somewhat, although not drastically, those interested in this breed will find the match instructive as well as entertaining. Questions will be invited. One of the purposes of the Hub Poodle Club is to be helpful, and—who knows?—perhaps your poodle, hitherto not eligible for the breed ring, might now qualify.

CONSTRUCTION has been started on the world's largest animal hospital and research institution. Located in Manhattan in New York City and called Animal Medical Center, it will consist of seven air-conditioned floors and will use only the newest in equipment.

Tips for Towser

Dog-owning tourists will find a new, 48-page directory, "Touring With Towser," a valuable aid in the coming months when looking for a hotel or motel that will accept canine guests along with their masters.

Approximately 5,700 establishments around the country that accept guests with dogs are listed, along with some handy tips on what to take along for a dog, regulations in state and national parks, requirements for entering Canada and Mexico, and etiquette for dogs in hotel or motels.

A copy of the booklet may be obtained by addressing Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Ave., New York 17, N. Y., and inclosing 25 cents to cover costs of handling and mailing.

ENTRIES CLOSE tomorrow for the Santa Ana Valley Kennel Club show and obedience trial set for May 1 at La Palma Park, Anaheim. Entries close April 25 for the Hollywood Dog Obedience Club's trial May 8 at North Hollywood Park. Jack Bradshaw is superintendent of both events.

NOTE TO KIDS: A baby hippopotamus was born at San Diego Zoo on April 9. Mama hippo carries her tiny offspring around on her nose.

Home Movies Now Full of Sound By The Shutterbug

CAMERA ANGLES

Babyhood is full of minor tragedies that produce such scenes as this, which can now be recorded for sound as well as sight.

HOME MOVIES of the 8mm variety are full of talk and music on many levels and from many directions these days.

A few weeks ago we reported on the first 8mm camera to crash the sound barrier, the Fairchild Cinephonic Eight. It records both sight and sound directly on the film.

A magnetic sound stripe can now be added to the regular films already in use. In fact, many believe it is better to edit films first, cutting out the mistakes and uninteresting footage and rearranging the sequences, if necessary, before adding a sound stripe.

THE NEXT STEP, then, is to actually record voices or music, or a combination of both, on the striped film. One way to do this is with a combination 8mm projector and sound recorder. One such unit has been introduced by Kodak, their first in the sound field.

With their Sound 8 Projector, the film is shown on the screen and commentary or actual voices of the subject are recorded with a hand microphone. If the timing isn't correct, the projector can be put in reverse and the sound can be erased and re-recorded as often as necessary.

Music or other sound effects can be added through the microphone or from a tape recorder or record player through a connecting jack. The speaker is mounted in the projector case but provision is made for an external speaker with either or both usable at any time.

IF A MOVIE FAN already has a projector, it can be used in conjunction with new sound units to record and play back sound striped 8mm movie film. One of these units is the Federal Cinesound system and another is the Bolex Sonorizer.

The Sonorizer is a two-piece portable case. One detachable portion contains the loudspeaker which can be located anywhere in the screening room. The amplifier section has a flat top on which the 8mm projector is placed.

STEREO will be the subject of an illustrated talk by Mrs. Elyga Wenger, one of the nation's leading stereo photographers, at a meeting of Long Beach Camera Guild at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Los Altos Library, 5614 Britton Dr.

Guild winners in April competition are Evelyn Richmond, Murray Shaner, Hazel Vosper and Gene Nye, black-and-white prints; Shaner, Roy Ludlum, Elva Hayward, Don Hayward, Clara Watkins and Floyd Wilial Williamson, color slides, and Elva Hayward, award in S4C competition. Ken Sloop judged the guild contests.

Bird of Paradise clumps that need division should be attended to now and replanted.

Now's Time for 'Birds'

By Joe Littlefield

PRODUCING the brilliant beauty of Bird of Paradise is not just a happenstance; these blazingly bright garden specimens need attention as they grow older.

Clumps that have thickened to the point of needing division should be dug up now, divided and replanted in order to have a buffer period of mild weather for rerooting before hot weather sets in.

Keep as many roots on the divided plants as possible. Combine two parts of planting mix mulch with three parts of soil, and replant the divisions in this loamy medium. Plants should be placed in sun, or where they'll get a little more sun than shade. Set four stakes around each plant, keeping the stakes a foot beyond leaf tips, and cover the stakes with burlap or some similar cloth material to form a tent. Keep the cover moist to provide humidity, and to prevent the sun and wind from drying the leaves. Once a week for 6 weeks, when you're watering the plants, add vitamin B-1 to the water.

Bird of Paradise not divided should be mulched and fertilized now. Scrape off old mulch, soak the soil, scatter bone meal around the plants and cover the area with two to three inches of mulch material. Soak well. Keep moist for a day or two, then water when the soil dries. A month or so later, feed plants with a balanced fertilizer; feed again two to three months later.

CAMERON'S NURSERY

16910 WOODRUFF AVE., BELLFLOWER TO 7-2439

By Dorothy Jonson

This is the busiest month of the year in the garden. So many plants can be set out now: dahlias, chrysanthemums, fuchsias, carnations and a host of others . . . almost anything except zinnias and tomatoes. Wait for warm nights before planting these.

Wait until the end of April to transplant bougainvillea and other tender shrubs on account of the danger of frost damage.

When you buy little plants in flats for transplanting into your garden, always remember that the more robust plants are not always the best ones. Many people do not know that the smaller, weaker seedlings are often doubles.

African Violets

African violets will be displayed for public view by Inglewood Chapter, African Violet Society of America, April 22 and 23 at the Professional Women's Clubhouse, 820 Java St., one block east of S. La Brea Blvd., Inglewood. Plant sale and snack bar are planned. Hours will be 1 to 9 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Admission charge is nominal.

They've a Cactus Lawn

By John Ronson

HOW ABOUT a "lawn" that you can plant once and forget? You water it twice a year. It needs no fertilizer. And you never have to mow it.

Gilbert and Pearl Claar, 1975 Atlantic Ave., have such a lawn. It is cactus—succulents, not the spiny kind, because they don't want persons who stop to admire the lawn to get maimed.

"It started five years ago with one cactus in the corner near the front porch," explains Claar, a barber. "People kept giving us more cactus. And we gathered cactus on trips. Now the whole front yard is in cactus."

THE CLAARS estimate that they have 90 varieties. They notice that visitors most admire candlestick, desert cabbage, hen and chickens, pen-wiper and burro tail cactus.

They gathered rocks, largely volcanic, in the Death Valley area and in Mexico to give atmosphere to the cactus garden.

Violet Show

Pomona Valley Chapter of the African Violet Society has scheduled its seventh annual show Monday and Tuesday in the Community Building, 2039 3rd St., LaVerne. Theme of the show is "Violet Parade" and hours will be 1 to 9 p. m. Monday and 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Tuesday. The public is invited.

Sand Witches of the High Desert

The artists use sand colored by nature, such as the black sand of Hawaii and the multi-hued variety from the Painted Desert, whenever it is available. And for the fleecy clouds or a snow-capped mountain crushed marble rock gives the best effect.

For display purposes during their lectures, the Sand

Witches use twelve 24x30-inch paintings in identical frames. Enola Hulbert, the club's official narrator and her two assistants wear the colorful squaw dresses which have become the trademark of the group.

Their three-part program consists of a short history of the club's activities, a descriptive presentation of the paintings which usually ends with Betty Lukomski's Swan scene, an all-time favorite with audiences; a demonstration of techniques and a question and answer period.

1. UNWRAP TREE and spread roots out in normal position to determine size needed for planting pocket. Plunge the roots in a pail of water while you dig. Make the hole a few inches deeper and wider than the root spread. Set tree in the hole at the same depth it grew in the nursery, and spread roots out normally.

2. COVER ROOTS with soil. If soil is a heavy clay, or very sandy, add a conditioner first. Mix in one-fourth by volume of peat, compost, or perlite. Leave a watering basin at top and thoroughly soak the soil to remove air pockets. Add more soil to level after water soaks in.

3. PRUNE TOP while the water soaks in. Remove any crossed branches. Head back strongest limbs to balance shape of tree. Make each cut above a strong bud that points in the direction you want the limb to grow. Water weekly until the end of first growing season.

IT'S NOT really an Easter basket, although from a distance its colors — pink, green, red, yellow and purple — make it resemble one.
It's the super-Louie salad at Welch's restaurant, Atlantic Ave. at San Antonio Dr.
Beyond any doubt, this is one of the most glamorous salads ever created — and it's the perfect answer to appetites jaded by too many Easter goodies.
The super-Louie uses a gi-gantic 13-inch plate for a base. On a bed of fresh, crisp lettuce is arranged a brilliant display of chilled cuts of shrimp, crab and lobster. Artfully exhibited around the sea food are shredded beets, sliced tomatoes, asparagus, shredded eggs and a bell pepper ring. The Louie dressing is as smooth as the cheek of pert chief hostess Anneliese Block. As with the other delicacies at Welch's, the price is quite reasonable — $2 a la carte (with hot blueberry muffins).

FOR EASTER diners, owner
Rex Welch and manager Arnold Vann feature their regular menu of particularly delicious ocean foods. The swordfish steak and shrimp
($2.25 each on the dinner) are gourmet affairs par excellence. Although lobster is in short supply currently throughout the Southland, Welch's has a bountiful supply. Featured are lobster Newburg, $2.75; broiled lobster (1 1/2 lobsters per serving), $3.50, and rich lobster thermidor, $3.50.

For persons desiring tasty meats for Easter, Welch's offers numerous choices. Among these are the large, one-pound cut of tender prime rib au jus, half an inch thick, $3, and the small tenderloin steaks (three delicious beauties) served en casserole with a Bordelaise sauce, $2.75. Also featured is the $1.95 charcoal-broiled chopped sirloin steak, served on an oaken plank with vegetable garnishes and a border of ribbon potatoes.

Welch's will be open today from noon to 9 p.m.

EASTER

at our house

Easter songfest at the Teaneck, N. J., home of the Boone family features Pat on the piano and his four daughters as the chorus. L. to r. are Mrs. Shirley Boone, holding 2-year-old Laurie in her lap; Lindy, 4; Pat; Debby, 3 (half-hidden by her father), and Cherry, 5. The girls wear identical organdy-type nylon dresses by Joseph Love, with inset bands of aqua embroidery and big sash bows. Their white shoes are by Copezio. Mrs. Boone's red shantung dress by Leonard Arkin.

Getting ready for church, Mrs. Boone helps Cherry slip into her Easter frock over layers of petticoats, as Lindy watches.

EASTER AT OUR HOUSE starts with the children. They bounce out of bed with cries of "Wake up, Mommy and Daddy, it's Easter." They know we have four baskets hidden around the house, filled with candy and chocolate eggs, and they can hardly sit through breakfast waiting for the chance to look for the baskets. They eat a little faster than usual.

Cherry finds her basket first because she's the oldest. Then we have to hold her back so the younger girls can find theirs. We let them have a few jellybeans and a nibble of the chocolate bunny, and then make them put the baskets away while they get dressed for church.

The children know Easter means they are commemorating the rebirth of Jesus. Of course, we tell them the story in simple terms, letting them know that this is a day when church has an extra-special meaning, and that it's also a happy day for the family.

We always go to church and Bible school on Sunday, so they behave well there. At Easter dinner they all hold hands as they give thanks. Their favorite is: "God is great, God is good. We thank Him for our food in Jesus' name. Amen."

Egg Rolling for All

After dinner comes the big event—egg rolling for all the children in the neighborhood. We have eggs hidden all over the place: plastic eggs with pennies inside and the four dozen eggs we spent Saturday painting. We usually have the egg rolling in shifts, first all the neighborhood children from 5 down, and then the ones from 5 to 10. Then I take my brood into the house and we play or sing. The song they like best right now is Here comes Peter Cottontail.

I've tried to emphasize for my children the spiritual connotation of Easter as something a family should feel together—an experience that draws us together. But the lighter side of Easter is family fun, and that's important, too.

It brings us closer together and closer to God.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A NEW CAR

TO BUILD HAPPY FAMILY MEMORIES

Nothing you can buy for the money excites and unites the family like a brand-new car. All makes offer you substantial improvements this year but, of course, we hope you'll be partial to one of our fine new General Motors cars.

Nothing short of your home itself shares in family living, and adds so much to it, as a new car. It's so useful, so trustworthy, so eager and able to take you places near and far.

Owning a new car often opens up a whole new world of interest and pleasure for everyone. And it's the sort of family fun that lingers for a long, long time . . . the doing and seeing things together that's bound to build lasting, happy memories. It doesn't take long for all to agree that nothing for the money offers so much to the whole family in comfort, convenience, and safety as a new car.

You'll get these rewards from any new car, of course. But we strongly believe that you'll get more from one of the sparkling new General Motors cars for 1960. Each is distinctively styled, and there's a style to delight everyone. Sizes from Cadillac to Corvair by Chevrolet, models from eye-catching convertibles to hard-working wagons, each with General Motors solid construction and advanced engineering.

See your GM dealer. We're sure you'll find a General Motors car that seems to be built especially for you.

Here, from top scientists, are some significant replies

LIFE after DEATH

by JACK ANDERSON

WITH HYMNS that soar and prayers full of hope, Christians today rededicate their faith in the Resurrection. Their belief in a future for mankind after the grave, shared by many of the world's great religions, has survived persecution and skepticism. But in this technological age, can it also stand up to cold, scientific logic?

Have scientists discovered in their test tubes perhaps a spark of supporting evidence? What is their thinking on this most fascinating of all questions: Does man die with his body or live on in spirit?

PARADE has sought the views of leading scientists from a list of 90 provided by the National Science Foundation. They range from physicists to anthropologists. Many preferred to remain anonymous for reasons of modesty if nothing else. Others expressed scientific caution. Typical was the reply of DR. EDWARD TELLER, father of the H-bomb, who told PARADE simply: "As a scientist, I try to avoid discussing matters in which I have no competence."

But many were outspoken. "Scientific enlightenment and religious belief are NOT incompatible," declares DR. WERNHER VON BRAUN, famous missile expert. "It is one of the greatest tragedies of our time that this stupid and dangerous error is so widely believed. Science and religion belong together."

Of the two-score scientists who would express an opinion, a minority frankly do not believe life survives the grave. "I cannot conceive," says DR. A. H. WAYNICK of Pennsylvania State University, "why genus homo is so important in the nature of things as to warrant a belief that there will be life after death." Echoes DR. GEORGE P. MURDOCK of Yale:

"I know of no convincing evidence in either science or logic supporting such a belief."

DR. WILLIAM ALLIS of Massachusetts Institute of Technology concedes that people live on after death in the memories of their friends, the genes of their children and the works they leave behind. "But," he adds, "if you ask me if I believe that we continue to float about playing a harp, sitting on somebody's right or left or burning in Hell, the answer is No."

DR. HERMANN J. MULLER, Nobel prize-winning geneticist of Indiana University, is presently exploring how to duplicate a complete individual from a single male or female cell. He wants to prove his theory that an offspring can be made the identical twin of its parent. Thus the geniuses of the world could be duplicated exactly. His work is sometimes described as "physical immortality." But he is skeptical about "spiritual immortality."

"There is solid scientific evidence that all aspects of consciousness are inseparable from the brain," he told PARADE. "For a person of the present day to believe that minds or spirits can exist apart from or without brains is an indication of his ignorance of biology or of his wishful self-deception." Dr. Muller went on to suggest that "people should work for the immortality and greater advancement of humanity as a whole, not of the individual."

Yet none of the scientific skeptics claims to know all the workings of the human brain. Many believe it is capable of receiving impulses and impressions from a higher sphere. Going one step further into the unknown, they believe the Easter pledge of life after death has real substance. On the facing page is their reasoning.

Historical Evidence

The Bible, whose stories have been confirmed again and again by archaeological findings, deserves acceptance as a religious history. New Testament writers report that Jesus Christ rose from the dead and showed Himself to no less than 500 persons. His Resurrection was followed, according to St. Matthew (27:52-53), by the opening of other graves: "And many bodies of the saints which slept arose, and came out of the graves . . . and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many."

Contents a Stanford scientist: "The appearance of Jesus Christ after His death had more witnesses than many events that are accepted as historical truth." He is supported by Dr. HENRY EYRING, a University of Utah dean, who points out that Paul changed from a persecutor of Christians to a convinced disciple after encountering the Resurrected Christ. Dr. Eyring says: "The best explanation of the change in Paul on the road to Damascus is his own. If Paul was right, the Resurrection is beyond question. The incident is but one of many of the same kind."

Indestructibility of Matter

Even harder to challenge than history is a basic tenet of science: that matter is indestructible, that nothing in nature can disappear without trace. If this applies to the material world—the world of the whirling atom, only now being understood—might it not also apply to "spiritual" atoms of which we know nothing?

"Just as the physical matter that sustains life is received back into the earth and loaned again to new generations of plants and animals, life itself may consist of spiritual matter that survives after the physical body decays," suggests a researcher at the National Institutes of Health.

The same theory is advanced by Dr. von Braun: "Science has found that nothing can disappear without a trace. Nature does not know extinction. All nature knows is transformation. If God applies this fundamental rule to the most insignificant and minute parts of His universe, surely it makes sense to assume that He applies it also to the masterpiece of His creation: the human soul. Everything science has taught me and continues to teach me strengthens my belief that there is spiritual existence after physical death."

Purpose of Creation

Most frequently cited in PARADE's inquiry was the argument of purpose. The universe is an orderly place, a complex organization of galaxies, all behaving according to a pattern. Mankind and its questing mind, say many scientists, must be part of that pattern.

Dr. C. P. WOLLARD, University of Wisconsin geologist, says: "I find it hard to believe that in a universe as orderly as this, the experiences and abilities developed during this life will be thrown into the dustbin just because our bodies give out."

Dr. ARTHUR H. COMPTON, Nobel prize-winning physicist, points out that it takes a lifetime to build a character. "I cannot believe," he says, "that all this learning, all this experience, will go to waste at the end of that lifetime. I prefer to believe that a man goes on after death to continue in a larger sphere, in cooperation with his Maker, the work he has begun."

Dr. RAYMOND J. SEEGER of the National Science Foundation quotes the late, great ALBERT EINSTEIN who said: "The most incomprehensible fact about the universe is that it is so comprehensible." Upon this "reasonableness of the universe," Dr. Seeger largely bases his faith in spiritual survival.

Adds Utah's Dr. Eyring: "The human personality is so remarkable that it is unreasonable to believe in its dissolution at death. I cannot conceive that this orderly universe lacks the ultimate justice which is only possible if the individual survives after death."

Dr. Werner von Braun, shown with model of rocket, believes in life after death.

Extraphysical Research

For 35 years, Dr. J. B. RHINE of Duke University has been examining with cold, clinical tools the possibility of life after death. His research has indicated that man has an extra sense and power beyond the physical senses.

Citing Dr. Rhine's work, a Yale University professor observes: "Physical research suggests, even if it does not prove, that the mind somehow transcends the body. This makes it easier to believe that the mind, or the soul, if you prefer, can survive death."

Dr. Rhine himself is more cautious. "I won't let myself become convinced by reasoning, only by unshakable evidence," he told PARADE. "Our experiments in extrasensory perception point up an aspect of man that seems to transcend his physical make-up. If man does survive death, he would have to have these abilities. The evidence for spiritual survival is good enough to justify continued investigation."

Spiritual Senses

Dr. H. TRACY HALL, research director of Brigham Young University, believes knowledge of a hereafter can be obtained only through spiritual senses. "The physical senses are not enough to impart emphatic knowledge of the existence of God and the reality of life after death," he says. "The ability to acquire this knowledge is given to man by God upon adherence to principles set forth by God Himself. The medium of prayer is one means whereby a man can obtain this knowledge. It is difficult to describe just how this happens. Those who have experienced it say it is a 'burning within.' Many people are not willing to try prayer as an experiment, but the great majority of those who have done so can attest to the validity of the results."

Dr. GORDON R. WILLEY, Harvard anthropologist, probably underlined the real issue when he acknowledged that science has "no evidence whatsoever" of spiritual survival. But asked whether he personally believed in life after death, he replied vigorously: "Yes!"

Although men's bodies along with plants and animals have gone to fertilize the earth, few will dispute the indomitable, indestructible quality of man's faith. Now it is taking him away from this earth towards the stars. Does the supreme answer lie there? Who knows?

But at this Eastertide, with or without benefit of science, millions of believers in the Christian miracle will renew their conviction that there is a life beyond the grave.

The many faces of DE GAULLE

Visit to a mine makes him pensive

With Ike in Paris

A salute from an old soldier

The quiet life—with wife Yvonne

WHEN PROUD, aloof, 6-foot-4 Charles de Gaulle (Le Grand Charles or Big Charlie to 40 million Frenchmen) strides on to the Washington scene this week, Americans will get a close-up of their most troublesome ally.

The judgment should be favorable. By the sheer force of his majestic personality, de Gaulle has rallied his countrymen, stirred their pride and lifted them from the humiliation of World War II defeat. He has put France back on a firm economic footing, taken drastic steps to end her chaotic colonial troubles, defied the world to make her an atomic power. From a junior partner in the Western Big Three, he has now made France an equal.

De Gaulle believes devoutly in his own greatness and comforts himself accordingly. Yet behind the aura of frigid formality are many faces. Through the eyes of diplomats who have watched him for years, PARADE has examined each face separately. Here are candid word-snapshots of him, which together provide a study of one man's greatness.

THE MAN — In his memoirs, de Gaulle has confessed that his forbidding personality is partly his own creation. He writes: "I encased myself in ice... Prestige cannot exist without mystery... All cults have their tabernacles... Nothing enhances authority better than silence."

Yet through the cracks in the ice can be caught glimpses of a warm human being. He is a devoted husband, kindly father, doting grandfather. He has a sharp Gaullic wit. When an aide once exploded, "Death to all fools!" de Gaulle replied dryly: "What a vast program!" When he encountered some French poilus (GIs) who had promoted themselves, he spotted one lone private with no stripes on his sleeves. "What's the matter with you?" asked Big Charlie. "Can't you sew?"

He has even been known to deliver the famous speech by Cyrano de Bergerac, the French soldier-poet of Rostand's play, describing his enormous nose. De Gaulle made use of his own huge nose to produce gales of laughter. Yet he has never been seen to laugh himself.

At 68, he maintains a killing schedule.

His carriage is still that of the stiff-backed soldier despite an unsoldierly paunch. Failing eyesight forces him to wear thick-lensed glasses, which give him a far-away look.

THE STATESMAN — It is de Gaulle's unshakable conviction that France's ancient glory must be restored. After more than a score of French governments could find no future for the great French African Empire except more bloodshed, de Gaulle made a grand tour. Imperiously, he offered self-government and membership in a new French Community to 12 African territories. Only French Guinea turned him down.

In Algeria, de Gaulle averted all-out civil war with a stirring, personal, patriotic appeal to the French Army to preserve order.

Earlier he maneuvered the wily Nikita Khrushchev, whose Communist agents had been stirring up black Africa, into endorsing self-determination of the African territories.

He stalled a summit meeting until Khrushchev came to Paris and until France blasted her way into the nuclear club. He had all the Western leaders playing up to him. Now as an equal he is prepared to go to the summit.

De Gaulle was the first Western statesman to insist that the real Communist menace lay in the economic, political and ideological challenge in Africa and Asia.

The Vatican's Osservatore Romano declares of him: "To find such a figure, one would have to go back to Charlemagne."

THE SCHOLAR — French history has always been a de Gaulle passion. Intellectuals admire his literary work. He writes classic, antique French. Close associates say he is prouder of his prose—precise yet lyrical—than of his politics. He has set down three volumes of memoirs. They took him 10 years to write.

His memory is phenomenal; his mind analytical. He loves to brood during walks in his garden, toss off mysterious, oracular statements like: "We must not gargle with euphoria," or "the only thing you win at the end is death."

THE GENERAL — In World War I, de Gaulle was wounded three times, cited for gallantry in action and spent 32 months in prison camps. He made five futile efforts to escape before the Armistice.

While postwar generals still clung to the idea of massed infantry and glorified trench warfare, de Gaulle urged a small professional army built around armored divisions. The generals, he said scathingly, "were growing old at their posts, wedded to errors that once constituted their glory." It remained for Hitler to prove de Gaulle right.

As commander of the Free French forces, de Gaulle insisted on giving orders that sometimes ran counter to Allied strategy. During the Battle of the Bulge, he ordered withdrawal from Strasbourg. De Gaulle sent stern orders to the French commander: "In case the Allied Forces retire from their present positions north of the French First Army lines, I order you to take matters into your own hands and assure the defense of Strasbourg."

De Gaulle protested that a withdrawal would damage French morale. Ike complained, "You give political reasons for me to change military orders." Retorted de Gaulle: "Armies are created to serve the policies of states!"

THE POLITICIAN — De Gaulle has nothing but contempt for petty politics and politicians. But he knows how to play the game with an instinct that makes the "professionals" sit slack-jawed in wonder.

He has more authority over his country's affairs than any elected free world leader. Yet de Gaulle resisted the temptation of absolute power after V-E Day. He said: "Let the people pronounce."

His political comeback May 13, 1958, was precipitated by rebellious generals who threatened to take Paris by storm. "They won't find me in their baggage," de Gaulle warned. Instead he charmed and frightened his opponents into giving him control.

As President, he has visited French hamlets that have not seen France's ruler for hundreds of years. On one trip he made 82 stops and spoke 17 times in four days. The villagers see another de Gaulle, simple and undramatic. "It is an honor to be among you," he tells the village fathers. Then he talks about local problems.

De Gaulle receives his cabinet ministers with Old World courtesy, listens attentively—but always makes his own decisions. He refuses "snap" visits. His only office phone has been disconnected. Remoteness is essential to the de Gaulle magic.

THE FAMILY MAN — In the gentle rose gardens of Colombey-Les-Deux-Eglises, there appears another Charles de Gaulle. His only real companion in this world is his wife, Yvonne. De Gaulle met her by chance in a tea-room in Calais just after World War I. He swept a cup of tea into her lap. He was gallantly apologetic; she embarrassed and dripping. Five months later they were married.

They have had three children. The youngest, Anne, died at 18. Her father visits her grave every Sunday. In Anne's memory, Charles de Gaulle has founded an institution for retarded children.

His son, Philippe, a Navy officer, has given him three grandchildren. His other daughter, Elizabeth, is married to an Army colonel in Algeria. He has grand-nieces and nephews who climb all over him and call him "Uncle Charles."

Like most French women, Madame de Gaulle puts her husband first. She supervises his meals. She shares his long, often melancholy walks. She helps him to lead the simple life. She sees that, in the evening, he has time for reflection.

Neither of them cares for the Matignon, which serves as France's White House. They live quietly and alone. Promptly at 7:55 p.m. he leaves his office, watches the TV news, then joins his wife for dinner. His standing order: "Never disturb me except for a grave emergency." No aide has dared do that yet.

Wherever Charles de Gaulle goes, the destiny of France travels with him. Soldier, scholar, mystic, visionary, Big Charlie has left his mark on history.

A. Bette Davis. She's won two Oscars, been nominated nine times. Runner-up: Katharine Hepburn, nominated eight times.

Q. Dr. Josef Goebbels had a Czech actress named Lida Baarova as a girl friend when he was a Nazi bigwig. The scandal at one time rocked Berlin. Whatever happened to Lida? She was a beauty.—N.M., Chicago, Ill.

A. Lida Baarova was arrested by American Army officers in Czechoslovakia after World War II, accused of being a Gestapo spy. She was tried and acquitted. Now 45 and still beautiful, she is attempting a screen comeback in West Germany.

Q. How much older is Lucille Ball than Desi Arnaz? Is this why their marriage broke up? Does Desi plan to marry Barbara Luna, Marlon Brando's girl friend, after his divorce from Lucy becomes final?—J.T., Miami Beach, Fla.

A. Lucy is five years older than Desi, 43. The age differential had little to do with their marital breakup. Arnaz at this writing has no future marriage plans.

Q. I understand that Woodrow Wilson, Calvin Coolidge, Grover Cleveland and Ulysses S. Grant all had different first names before they became President. Can you give their full names?—Ann De Santos, Milwaukee, Wis.

Q. Is it true that the late Nevil Shute, author of On the Beach, refused to see the film as produced by Stanley Kramer?—T.T., Hollywood, Calif.

A. Yes. Before his death Shute was so enraged that Kramer had introduced sex into the picture, that he returned his tickets to the premiere.

Q. Leopold Stokowski was old enough to be Gloria Vanderbilt's father. How much older than their wives are cellist Pablo Casals and conductor Sir Thomas Beecham?—Ronald Tufts, London, Eng.

A. Pablo Casals is 83, his wife 22; Sir Thomas Beecham is 80, his wife 27.

Q. Does Danny Thomas really wear a fake nose in order to get laughs?—Bill Stein, Kansas City, Mo.

A. No, he does not wear a false nose.

Q. Was there ever a real detective named Sherlock Holmes? If not, how did the name originate?—J.R.B., Orange, Va.

A. It was originated by a British doctor turned writer, Arthur Conan Doyle, in 1886. Doyle took the name "Sherlock" from a well-known British cricket player and the name "Holmes" from Oliver Wendell Holmes.

What do you really know about people?

by DR. EMANUEL HAMMER

Consulting psychologist, New York, N.Y.

Nearly everyone considers himself something of a psychologist. Here is your chance to test your common-sense psychology against scientific psychological studies and their findings. Below are statements to be answered true or false.

- 1 Extremely bright youngsters tend to be physically weak.
- 2 Intermarriage of cousins frequently results in children of low intelligence.
- 3 You can usually tell a person of artistic leanings by his long, slender hands.
- 4 People who do not look you in the eye are dishonest.
- 5 People in general grow more conservative after age 40.
- 6 A majority of juvenile delinquents are mentally defective.
- 7 Women, though having the same innate intelligence as men, tend to grasp ideas less readily.
- 8 Students who get high grades at college are less likely to succeed in later life than the average student.
- 9 First-born children don't do as well on intelligence tests as those coming later in the family.
- 10 Girls inherit more traits from their mothers than fathers.

ANSWERS

- 1 False. Studies show that bright youngsters are prone to be healthier, taller and heavier than average youngsters. Physical and mental development tend to go hand in hand.
- 2 False. But intermarriage of cousins tends to heighten the chance of family traits being exaggerated because they do not mix with traits of different families.
- 3 False. Disproved by scientific study.
- 4 False. Experiments in which people were allowed to "steal" or "lie" without knowing they were being observed have shown that this tendency is totally unrelated to the proneness of a person to look you in the eye. Shyness, however, was found to be related.
- 5 True. Studies support this belief.
- 6 False. I.Q.s of juvenile delinquents show about the same range as those of the population at large. It is emotional and sociological factors that create juvenile delinquents.
- 7 False. There are some areas in which men grasp ideas more readily than women (for example, mathematics), but there are just as many areas in which females grasp things more quickly (for example, reading comprehension).
- 8 False. Studies show that the higher one's grades in college, the greater the likelihood of success in later life.
- 9 True. Children who follow the first-born are likely to learn from their older brother or sister.
- 10 False. Children inherit an equal number of traits from both parents. It is true, however, that children tend to pattern themselves after the parent of their own sex.

SHOP FROM HOME BY TV. It's raining hard and she's busy. So she presses a button and talks to the store over a

POWER COMPANIES BUILD FOR YOUR FUTURE ELECTRIC LIVING

All kinds of exciting new electric appliances are just around the corner, the inventors say.

One of these days you may shop by TV . . . have an appliance that takes food from the freezer to the range, then cooks and serves it, all electrically . . . and a scrubber that cleans the kitchen floor automatically and scurries back to its own wall-cupboard.

You'll probably put twice as much electricity to work as you do today—twice as much doing chores for you at home, and twice as much helping you in your job.

That's why the hundreds of independent electric light and power companies are building new plants and facilities to double their supply in ten years. They and their millions of owners are investing close to $4,000,000,000 a year, which means the companies can build without using taxpayers' money.

In spite of this, certain people are urging the government to build billions of dollars worth of federal electric power systems—on top of nearly $5,500,000,000 of taxpayers' money already spent. That would be an entirely unnecessary use of money needed for many other things.

BEAUTY in the BRUSH

IT TAKES MORE brushes to paint a girl's face than to create an oil painting these days. Modern beauties have to make like Rembrandt because almost every cosmetic aid has become a matter of brushwork. Lipstick used to be a fingertip art, now it's applied with special brushes. And so are mascara, liquid eye liner, eye shadow, lip liner, even powder.

In addition to using brushes sold with make-up, women are buying out art stores. One New York art supply dealer says he sells more brushes to face painters than to canvas painters. Favorites are small sable oil brushes (at 50 cents) and round sable water color brushes (at about $1.75).

A girl's beauty palette also is apt to include: hair brush, mascara brush, complexion brush, eye-liner brush, eyebrow brush, powder brush and nail-polish brush.

As in any art, beauty brushwork requires a steady hand, a keen eye and lots of practice to rate display in public. But it's worthwhile if it makes you pretty as a picture.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

SINCE 1945, Jack Bailey has been host to the popular daytime radio and TV program, Queen for a Day. As such, millions of women throughout the country have come to regard Bailey as an American Prince Charming.

In truth, Bailey is a Jack-of-all-trades from Iowa who started out in show business as a musician, wound up in Hollywood as a messenger for Walt Disney. At Disney's he rose to become an assistant director, was used to imitate the voice of cartoon characters in Dumbo, Pinochio and Donald Duck. He then went into radio and TV.

Bailey is married to the former Carolyn Parkinson, a legal secretary he met in 1937. They live quietly in a comfortable colonial house in Hollywood Hills where Jack does the cooking and tells such jokes as these:

by JACK BAILEY

THERE WAS this corporation executive, very important. He rang for his secretary and demanded to know where his pencil was. "Behind your ear, sir," she answered. "Come on, now," the exec stormed impatiently. "You know I'm busy. Which ear?"

THIS ONE'S ABOUT the cross-eyed judge and his three cross-eyed criminals. As the criminals stood before him, the judge asked the first: "What's your name?"

The second answered: "Jim Jones."

The judge turned to him angrily and said, "I didn't ask you." Whereupon the third replied, "I didn't say anything."

A MAN AND HIS WIFE who waited six months to get theater tickets to My Fair Lady in New York were enjoying the show tremendously. The man, however, was bothered by the fact that right next to him there was a vacant seat. He leaned over the vacant seat to a little old lady and asked if she knew why the seat next to her wasn't occupied.

"It belonged to my husband," she answered. "And he passed away."

"I'm sorry," the man apologized. "I didn't know. But tell me, why didn't you give the ticket to one of your friends?"

"I couldn't," the little old lady explained. "They all had to attend the funeral."

BAILEY'S FAVORITE MORNING PRAYER: Lord! Don't You and I get into any trouble today that You can't get me out of.

BAILEY'S FAVORITE MOTTO: May your purse always be heavy, but may your heart always be light.

A MOTHER SENT her 8-year-old daughter to Sunday school with two dimes. She told the child one dime was for candy and the other was for the Lord.

En route to church the child lost one of her dimes. She thought for a moment, then turned her eyes heavenward and said, "Lord, your dime has just went."

A WOMAN who had been bitten by a mad dog was advised in the doctor's office to draft her last will and testament. Apparently the Pasteur treatment for rabies was doing her very little good. As the doctor treated her she wrote and wrote and wrote. Finally the doctor asked whether all these pages weren't constituting a very lengthy will.

"Will, nothing," the lady roared. "I'm making out a list of people I'm gonna bite."

A PREACHER decided to take a walk in the forest after Services one Sunday. Suddenly he ran into a big black bear. The preacher dropped to his knees and began to pray furiously. As he prayed he closed one eye and kept the other open. The bear had fallen on his knees, and was holding his paws up as if he might be praying, too. When he saw the preacher looking at him out of one eye, he said, "I don't know what you're saying, man. I'm saying grace."

A SHY TIMID YOUNGSTER was sent to a psychiatrist. "What seems to be the trouble?" the psychiatrist asked.

"I'm nervous," the youth admitted.

"I understand you bite your nails a lot, is that right?"

"Yes," the youth replied.

"Why?"

"Because I'm nervous."

"Tell me," the psychiatrist ventured, "do you hate your mother?"

"No," the youth answered. "I'm just nervous."

"Do you hate your father?"

"No, I'm just nervous."

"Why do you keep biting your fingernails, then?"

"Because I'm nervous."

At this point the doctor was called out of his office, leaving on his desk a box of candy opened. When he returned the candy was gone. The psychiatrist turned to the youngster. "Did you eat this candy?"

"Yes," the boy timidly replied.

"Why?" the psychiatrist asked, irritated.

"Because I'm nervous," the boy said.

"So why didn't you bite your nails?"

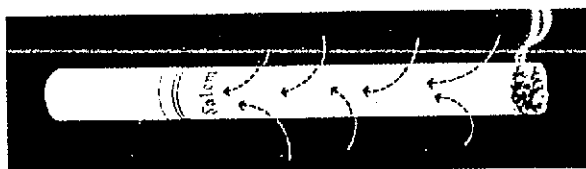

A SALESMAN decided one day that he had enough of selling. He was going to switch jobs. He became a policeman. A few months later a friend met him pounding his beat and asked how he liked his new job.

"Great!" said the ex-salesman. "What I like best about it is that the customer is always wrong."

CONFESSION? — Ask The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only: to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to Confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God; it must be forgiven by God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed this out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained" (John 20:22, 23). Thus Christ authorized the Apostles, and their successors, to pardon or to deny pardon as they judge the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving... the secret dispositions of the sinner... his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself—and what is this but Confession?

But Confession—the Sacrament of Penance—is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven—no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived—from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, which he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in, society which needs officials to promote the common good—and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing—the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

Would you like to know more about each of the seven Sacraments? How they can help you to meet the seven basic needs of your life? Then write today for Free Pamphlet No. PR-5.

PARADE HELPS SAVE A LIFE

SHE HAS A NEW

LITTLE DOROTHY PIKE, 5, (above) is parin' to go today with a new heart giving her a normal life expectancy, partly because of what appeared in PARADE.

Last October 25, PARADE published an article, The Wonders of Surgery for Children, which described striking new advances, many of them life-saving, for disorders of the very young.

Before Dorothy's parents, Warren and Esther Pike, read the story they knew Dorothy had heart trouble requiring surgery.

Their two other daughters have heart conditions, too. Warren Pike himself underwent heart surgery last summer.

Distraught from their experience, the Pikes had decided to postpone an operation for Dorothy. They feared the outcome.

"We wanted to put it off forever, until we read the PARADE article," says Mrs. Pike. "It was like seeing the sun through the clouds. I must have read it 100 times. It dispelled our fears and made us eager to have our little one operated on."

to repair a hole between the right and left chambers of her heart. At The Boston Floating Hospital (pediatric unit, New England Medical Center) where the operation was carried out, doctors made this much clear:

Without surgery, Dorothy might have lived to be 35; with the successful operation, she now has a normal full life expectancy.

Added Boston Floating doctors: At least two other sets of parents were moved by PARADE's article to seek surgery that will prolong their children's lives.

THE MYSTERIOUS

U.S.-trained Dr. Hsue-shen Tsien meets with newsmen in China. His subject: new Soviet rockets.

Will he change the world's power balance?

WASHINGTON, D.C.
ON THE FOGGY MORNING of September 17, 1955, a dapper, poker-faced Chinese, his wife and two children boarded the S.S. President Cleveland in Wilmington, Calif., onward bound for Hong Kong. After 20 years in the U.S., many of them spent in close contact with top military secrets, Dr. Hsue-shen Tsien was going home to Communist China. Beyond the Bamboo Curtain, Dr. Tsien was to begin an ominous new career.

That career was to make Dr. Tsien one of the most important, most dangerous men in the world. For the assignment awaiting him in 1955 was to lead his homeland into the nuclear-rocket age. With his scientific brilliance and U.S. know-how, he was to give Red China nuclear weapons and missiles to carry them. On his success would hinge the entire balance of power in the world.

Says a Pentagon expert: "A nuclear-rocket-armed China will not only dominate Asia, but will cause as many headaches in Moscow as in Washington."

Today, there are foreboding signs that Dr. Tsien's mission is succeeding. Intelligence reports forecast that China will explode its first atomic device in late 1961 or early 1962, six years ahead of their own earlier estimates.

Chinese rocketry is so sophisticated that Washington believes China will put its first earth satellite into orbit within 24 months.

An adviser to the Joint Chiefs of Staff declares: "Remember the jolt Sputnik gave us? This, I predict, will be an even bigger jolt. And though it will frighten Asia, it is going to leave millions of persons all over the Far East openly or secretly impressed and proud."

The man who is to make the world notice China first came to the U.S. in 1935, to study supersonic aerodynamics at California Institute of Technology under the famed rocket expert Dr. Theodore von Karmen. Hsue-shen Tsien made his mark quickly. He earned his doctorate in three years. He became one of only 50 persons in the U.S. expert in rocket technology. After receiving his degree, he was made a Caltech associate professor.

From 1939 to 1946, he devoted his time to the infant science of rocketry. During the war, he had clearance for secret work and helped on aspects of the A-bomb. He originated many of the ideas and theories of modern rocketry. Dr. Tsien was one of the first 12 men assigned to Government rocket research.

The Broken Agreement

He was recognized as one of the world's foremost authorities on rockets. His ego grew accordingly. Says a former associate, "He was completely intolerant of even the slightest error." After the war, he went to Massachusetts Institute of Technology as professor of aeronautics. Three years later he came back to Caltech as Goddard professor of jet propulsion.

Not until 1950 did security officers begin to wonder about him. When Hsue-shen Tsien first left his homeland, he promised to return some day. But now China was under Red tyranny, and the government wondered if Dr. Tsien had given up his vow. The scientist was called to Washington for a conference. He agreed not to go to China.

A few weeks later, the U.S. Immigration Service

DR. TSIENTS

by FRED BLUMENTHAL
Parade Washington correspondent

discovered that Dr. Tsien had quietly made reservations for himself and his family to sail for Hong Kong. Rapid investigation uncovered Dr. Tsien's Communist sympathies. Legal authorities decided that as a foreign scholar he had every right to return home. But they also decided he should be delayed until enough time had passed to render his secret knowledge obsolete and harmless.

Dr. Tsien was served notice not to attempt to leave the U.S. without permission. For the next five years he was kept at Caltech, working on non-secret projects. He was carefully watched. Finally it was felt that everything he knew was general knowledge, and he was allowed to sail for Hong Kong. In a last interview before he crossed the border into Red China, he told reporters: "I have come to serve my homeland."

The Whole World Watches

Though gone, Dr. Tsien is not forgotten. In the Pentagon, in the Central Intelligence Agency and in the British Secret Service, his new career is being carefully scrutinized. And Moscow, too, regards him with considerable anxiety. A top intelligence source says the Soviets are pledged to assist the Chinese, but often drag their feet.

Russia is helping Red China build atomic piles, training Chinese scientists and engineers, supplying short-range missiles. But so far she is keeping warheads under her own control, and discouraging Chinese development of long-range missiles and hydrogen bombs.

But with or without Russian help, experts here feel, Red China will become an international space power. During the Korean War, the Chinese gave dramatic proof that they can master modern technology.

Starting from scratch they assembled in two years the third largest jet air force in the world. The planes were Russian, but the maintenance, training and deployment of such a force was a major feat.

There is a sound economic reason for Red China to covet rocket weapons, as well as her desire to be the first Asian nation to match the West in this area. It is the cheapest way for her to increase her voice in the world. The cost of establishing a nuclear industry is about the same as that for equipping and supporting four modern infantry divisions. A rocket industry is in a similar bracket.

The Chinese, discoverers of gunpowder, built the world's first rockets 3,000 years ago. Washington hopes that the mysterious American-trained Dr. Tsien and his associates will not go down in history as building the last one.

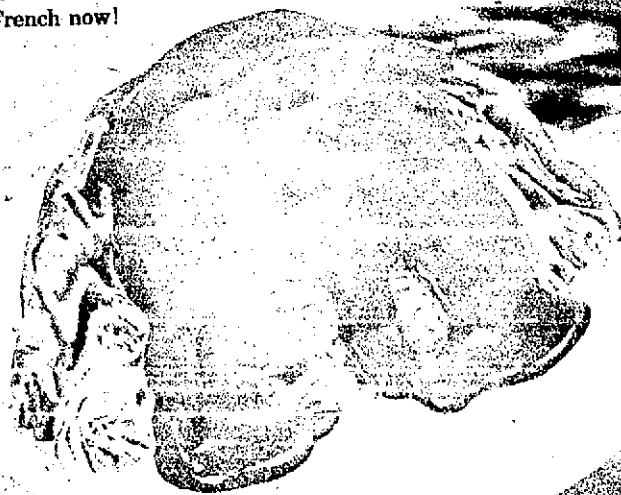

Homeward bound, Dr. Tsien and family pose on deck of liner after deportation in 1955. His children are U.S.-born.

To mothers, that cry means that there's another cut, scratch, scrape, or burn. It also means she should get iodine—but she often doesn't, because iodine burns and stings, upsets youngsters. Where other types of antiseptics may kill only 1, 2, or 3 types of germs, ISODINE kills all types—even virus and fungus. And up to 40 times faster. Get painless ISODINE ANTISEPTIC. ## Dramatic Lifesaving Development!

The seven steps of the mouth-to-mouth method

- 1 Clear Victim's Throat of water, mucus, food.
- 2 Tilt Head back to open the air passage.
- 3 Hold Jaw in jutting-out position.
- 4 Pinch Nostrils to prevent air leakage, unless victim is a child.
- 5 Blow into mouth (and nose, if victim is a small child) until you see the chest lift.
- 6 Remove your mouth; listen for air return from victim's lungs.
- 7 Repeat about 12 times a minute for an adult, about 20 times a minute for a child.

PARADE of PROGRESS

Looking for ideas for your home or yourself? Take a glance here

Cleans without washing: A new car cream cleans and polishes without prior washing or need for a hose. You apply it with a damp sponge, dipping sponge into a bucket of water from time to time. Road grime and imbedded dirt come off. After cleaning, the cream dries to a haze that is readily wiped off, leaving a bright shine. The finish will not water-spot readily, it's claimed. 15½-oz. squeeze bottle: $1.95. S. C. Johnson & Son, Dept. PP, Racine, Wis.

Spot-resistant tablecloth: It's said to be the first to resist both water and oil-based stains. Milk, gravy, coffee, salad oil, fruit juice—all can be blotted off. A special finish makes liquids "bead up" on the surface. Of rayon and acetate, the cloth needs little or no ironing, can be hand- or machine-washed without affecting the finish. In white, pink, gold, aqua, sandalwood: 52" x 52": $3. Brown & Kruger, Dept. PP, 325 5th Ave., New York 16, N.Y.

Cupola antenna: Now comes a TV antenna in the form of a cupola. The small, enclosed, tower-like structure goes on your roof, complements any style architecture and eliminates the need for pipes and struts. It's fabricated from baked enameled aluminum in different colors and sizes, is guaranteed for the life of the house and comes assembled and ready for simple installation. For free catalog showing styles and prices, write: American Cupola Co., Dept. PP, 1855 S. Main St., Akron, Ohio.

Flip nozzle: A new kind of nozzle for your garden hose works on an entirely different principle. Just a gentle touch of your thumb adjusts it for any use. In a single half-turn, it goes from a powerful spray for distant watering to a fine mist for fragile flowers. It also features a leak-proof shut-off—and has no springs to rust or lock nuts to adjust. $1.59. Franklin Metal & Rubber Co., Dept. PP, Jacksonville Rd., Hatboro, Pa.

Binocular photos: If you're interested in long-distance photography and already own binoculars, here's a helpful device: a 10"-long metal holder that attaches binoculars to a still or movie camera. It eliminates the need for—and brings objects nearer than—a telephoto lens. You can put binoculars to work for long distance shots of birds and animals, close-up sports action shots from high up in the stands and for close-ups of children playing. $11.50. Edmund Scientific Co., Dept. PP, 101 E. Gloucester Pike, Barrington, N.J.

Extra speaker for the car: Little more than half the size of a pack of cigarettes, a new speaker can be connected to your car radio and clipped to any surface in the rear of the car. It's pre-wired for immediate installation—and comes with a three-way switch that lets you operate the regular speaker alone, the extra speaker alone or both together. Also useful for home radios. $7.95. Trade Mfg. Co., Dept. PP, 2024 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago 16, Ill.

Wooden floor-tiles: Solid hardwood tiles, low in cost and easy to install, now come with a baked-on finish, eliminating the need for finishing on the floor. They're 6" square, 5/16" thick, beveled and grooved. You can lay them parquet style over special adhesives, much the same as asphalt and vinyl tiles. Available in many woods, including oak, hard maple, white ash, black walnut. For details write: Tibbals Flooring Co., Dept. PP, Oneida, Tenn.

Paper in your pen: Newest ball point pen carries its own paper supply. You can pull out as much as you need from a roll in the barrel to make notes at the telephone, in the car, at meetings—or even to clean your glasses. Pen: $3; paper refills: 25¢. J. L. Bagary, Jr., Dept. PP, 2755 Liberty St., Beaumont, Tex.

Body and frame are welded as one unit with Dura-Quiet Unibody construction.

THE SOLID PLYMOUTH FOR 1960

THE EQUIVALENT OF 20 YEARS

WANT TO HANG ONTO ANY

STATION WAGON THAT LONG.

BUT THAT'S NOT THE POINT.

The point is Plymouth with Dura-Quiet Unibody should cost less to keep up, give more satisfaction and a better deal when you trade. We believe it is the best built, best performing of all the low-price station wagons today.

Chrysler Corporation engineers concluded that their new version of unit construction was made for station wagons only after 200,000 test-track miles in a prototype Plymouth.

Close to 5900 steel-tight welds bind body and undersills into one: the strong, quiet, solid Unibody. The conventional body bolts are gone, and so are the rattles that often resulted. Doors, windows, tailgate fit tight. Rust and corrosion yield to new manufacturing processes.

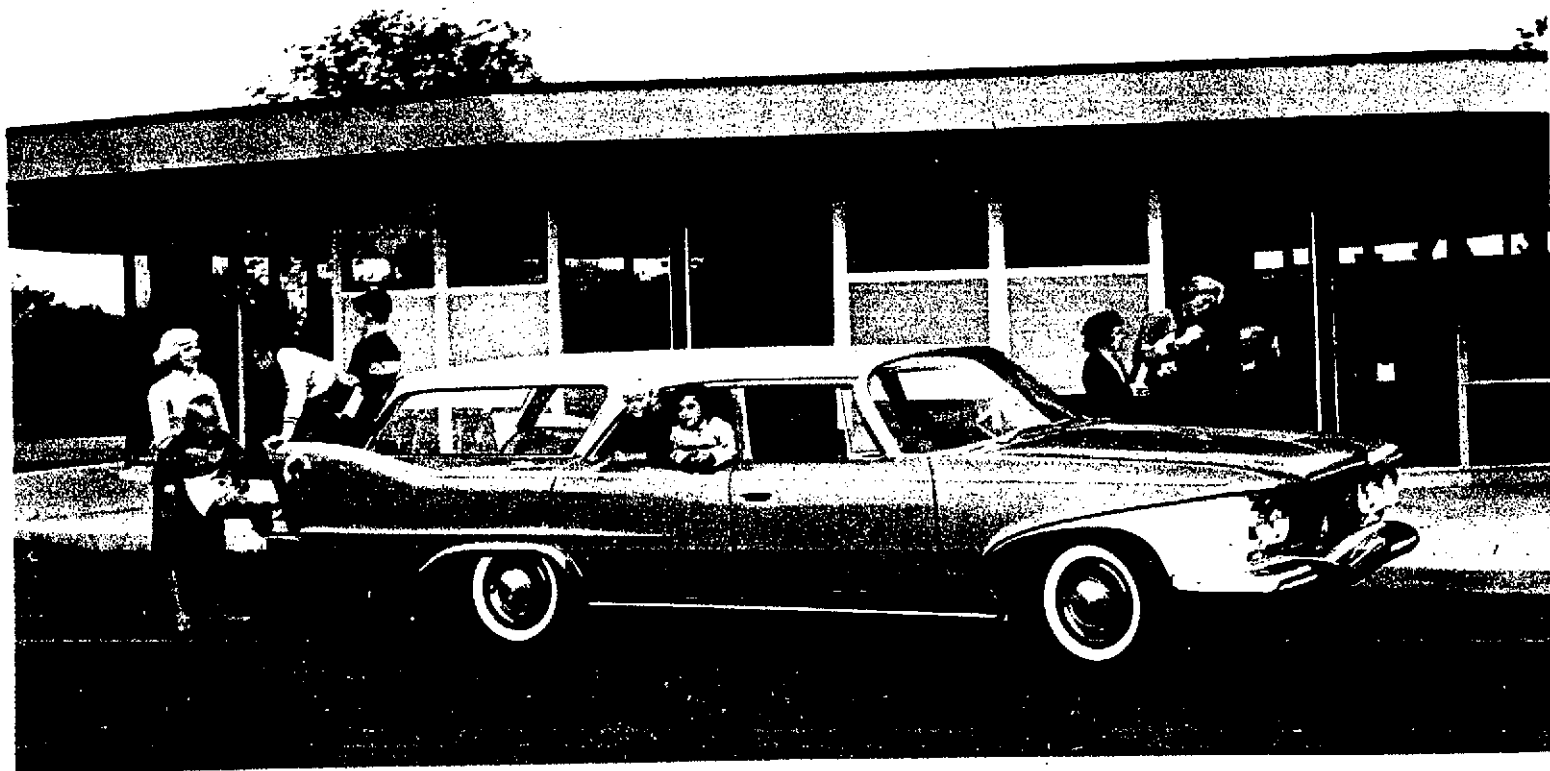

With virtually trouble-free Unibody as its heart, your Plymouth Suburban will last. You should spend considerably less for maintenance over the miles.

This is a big, beautiful wagon, too. It is comfortable, thanks to renowned Torsion-Aire Ride. What is more, it offers you many sensible wagon features—features that make your Plymouth wagon more useful, more enjoyable. Drive it today.

A Chrysler engineered product, built a new solid way to give you solid satisfaction.

New SCHICK Safety Razor

NEW MODERN SCHICK SAFETY RAZOR puts metal shields on blade corners. They can't possibly scratch or nick the boxing glove—or your face!

OLD-STYLE ROUND HEAD RAZOR with unprotected blade corners leaves nasty scratches on boxing glove. If that can happen to a boxing glove, think of your face!

Modern SCHICK Safety Razor
is so safe you can shave in the shower!

Compare safety-built Schick with old-style razor—adding dials and adjustments can't match Schick's safe, modern design for ease and speed of shaving.

SCHICK FLAT-HEAD DESIGN IS POSITIVE GUIDE TO FAST, SAFE, CLOSE SHAVES
Shaving head is designed to fit flat against face—keeps razor angle constant. With a round head razor, the angle can vary, inviting cuts.

SCHICK LOCKS BLADE IN, CAN'T LOOSEN AND CUT
Schick automatically locks blade at exact angle for safe, close-up shaves. Blade can't loosen or bend. Adding fancy dials to round head razors can't give such protection.
